

POLITICAL SENSATION

MAYOR REYBURN

The Chief Executive of Philadelphia is Under Fire

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 7.—An investigation which may produce sensations in the present local political campaign began today when a committee created by the Pennsylvania state senate, sat at city hall and heard charges against the conduct of the administration of Mayor John Reyburn. The committee is composed of state senators appointed under a resolution adopted by the senate last spring to investigate complaints made between legislative sessions against judges or persons holding civil office.

The investigation was instituted by Logan Bullitt, chairman of the Taxpayers committee of Philadelphia, who petitioned the committee to inquire into charges made by him and his associates that there has been gross dishonesty in the conduct of the administration of Mayor Reyburn, especially in the conduct of the departments of public safety and public works.

The investigation comes in the midst of one of the fiercest political campaigns ever waged in Philadelphia. The local republican organization is split for the first time in 16 years. The condition came about when William S. Vare, who shares the leadership in the city with State Senator James P. McNichol, announced himself as a candidate for mayor.

Senator McNichol announced his opposition to Vare's candidacy and he is supported in this opposition by United States Senator Penrose, the state leader.

THE COURSES OF STUDY

For Industrial School Given Out by Principal Dooley

All of the public schools including the industrial schools for boys and girls will open on Monday, Sept. 11. The lion's share of the interest in the opening of the schools centres in the industrial school for it is a new departure and great things are expected of this branch of public education. The school committees in the various towns have written to the state board of education endorsing the industrial school in this city. All pupils who are over 14 years of age are entitled to enter this school, regardless of what place in Massachusetts they may live.

Out of town pupils who desire to attend the Lowell Industrial school, both boys and girls, may write to or see Principal Wm. H. Dooley, at the office of the superintendent of schools, city hall, Lowell. The Old Bartlett school in Clark street and facing the North common will be the industrial school for boys, and the girls department will be in the Morrill school in Adams street.

A 2.20 Horse?

When you receive an order for wood it takes a pretty good horse to jog to the wholesalers, wait for cutting and loading, then jog to your customer's and do it within an hour or two.

If you are a dealer and believe in quick service and haven't a 2.20 horse, get an electric saw.

The Boys' School
The industrial school for boys will open in the old Bartlett school house, Clark street, facing North common on Sept. 11.

The city of Lowell has established a free industrial day school for boys and girls of 14 years of age or over. The school will give a preliminary training for boys, in the following trades: Carpenter, architectural draftsman, cabinet maker, machinist, mechanical draftsman, electrician, engineer, automobile repairing.

Carpenter.—The course providing training for the trade of carpenter will consist of shop practice and scientific study of building materials, architectural drawing, mathematics, English and civics.

Architectural drawing.—This course differs from the carpenter's course in having much of the shop work replaced by work in the drafting room, on building construction.

Cabinet making.—This course differs from the carpenter's in having more time devoted to office furniture, etc., than to the building trade work.

Machinist.—This course, in addition to English and civics, includes machine shop work, the mathematics underlying machine shop work, study of materials, drawing, and some work in steam and electricity. The shop work will consist of practice in the usual operations common to machine shop work.

Mechanical draftsman.—The mechanical draftsman course will be similar to the machinist's course with much less shop work and more practice in the drawing room on machine shop work.

Electrician.—This course will deal with practical and theoretical electricity, and will include electric wiring, building motors, winding armatures, testing and repairing circuits, and practical experience in the electric power station, etc. In addition there will be special mathematics applied to electrical work, and English and civics will be taught.

Engineer.—This course deals with the theory and practice of steam work. It includes in addition English and civics, some machine shop practice, and mathematics.

The subjects of English literature, history, civics and citizenship will also be officially taught. The school has an excellent equipment. No boy will be admitted unless his record shows him to be of good character. Principal Dooley says the school appeals to boys whose parents are new school teachers and who do work in the classics and literary branches after a fashion, but who can be roused and better educated along the lines of a practical education. It is for the child who does not like "to study," but who wants to see things and know their use; for the pupil who is of a practical rather than an academic mind.

Boys whose parents do not feel that they can afford to give more time to the child for purely academic work, yet can afford further education if it will aid him in getting started in some form of skilled industrial work.

that the work of each year is, so far as it goes complete in itself; that nothing is taught on the theory that it will be of value at some later period in the course, and so that at whatever time the pupil leaves the school he will have had, up to that time, the best preparation which the school can give.

Schools for Girls
The girls' department will be opened at the Morrill school—Adams street, opposite North common.

This school is for girls of fourteen or over of the city of Lowell and the surrounding towns.

This school is organized for the training of girls for life activities and duties; to give them a training in the branches of knowledge and the trades that are most useful in gaining a livelihood. To meet these requirements the industrial school offers courses in housekeeping, dressmaking and power machine work.

Housekeeping course.—This course includes a course in home management, which makes and keeps a household in good condition to live in. To get a hundred cents' worth out of every dollar you spend for food and clothes. It will include English, history, civics, home arithmetic, cooking, hygiene, dressmaking, laundry work and care of children.

Dressmaking course.—This course is planned to fit a girl for the dressmaking trade and is similar to the housekeeping course only that more time is devoted to dressmaking and it is more of a commercial character. In addition, design and color, salesmanship and textiles are taught, preparing the girl for the sales department of a dress goods store.

Power work course.—This is similar to the dressmaking course only that it is devoted to practice on a power machine.

Arithmetic in relation to dressmaking.—Military. Personal expenditure. Household. English. Correction and improvement of every day speech.

Personal and business correspondence. Cultivation of a taste for reading. Use of typewriter. Civics and history. Study of local history and government.

Study of history applied to the needs of the pupils. Textiles. Study of Fabrics. Name. Cost. Durability. Uses. Design. Art as applied to a woman's clothing. Color. Line. Fabric. Appropriateness. Home Furnishings. Selection of furniture in relation to beauty. Economy. Suitability. Cooking. Economy and management of the kitchen. Plain cooking. Food values. Simple menus. Serving.

Afternoon Trade Classes
Trade classes in dressmaking and housekeeping will be established during the afternoon for women or girls who work or who find it inconvenient to attend day or evening sessions. The school appeals to girls whose parents now send them to the high school and who do the work in the classics, but who have a practical rather than an academic mind and to girls whose parents do not feel that they can afford to give more time to their daughters for purely academic work, yet would give the child a further education if it will aid her in getting started in some form of skilled industrial work.

MORE STRIKERS

Dooffers Join Weavers at Atlantic Mills

LAWRENCE, Mass., September 7.—The strike at the Atlantic assumed larger proportions yesterday noon when 20 dooffers walked out, joining the weavers at their meeting in Franco-Belgian hall at 2 o'clock.

The striking forces agreed to support each other and not to yield unless the demands of both are granted. The dooffers' grievance is substantially the same as that of the weavers. They contend that their work has been increased with practically no increase in pay. Their grievance is of longer standing than that of the weavers but until now they have not felt strong enough to protest. They feel confident that every doffer in the mill will join them.

Arrangements are under way to hold a mass meeting in city hall either Saturday or Monday evening for the purpose of explaining the causes of the strike to the people at large. The striking weavers will be eligible to draw their first strike pay this week and payment will be made by the Lawrence Textile Workers Protective association from their headquarters in St. John's hall, Franco-American building, Monday.

The amount to be paid will be $3 a week for a single man and from $5 to $7.50 a week, according to the size of his family, for a married man. A meeting of the executive committee of the Lawrence Textile Workers Protective association and of Local 20, Industrial Workers of the World, was held last evening in St. John's hall, Franco-American building, for the purpose of devising ways and means with which to assist the strikers who need assistance.

It was decided to appeal to all outside organizations in the country for financial assistance to aid in carrying the strike to a successful conclusion.

STABLE BURNED

FIRE IN NORTH ANDOVER EARLY THIS MORNING

LAWRENCE, Sept. 7.—A fire which was discovered at 1 o'clock this morning destroyed a stable, on Stevens estate near Stevens mill in North Andover. The cause of the fire is unknown.

The North Andover firemen made a prompt response to the alarm that was sounded from Stevens mill, and saved the stable and the house adjoining. A quantity of hay in the stable was consumed. The loss was $5,500 but is covered by insurance.

The property is owned by Mrs. Arthur Lovell, who makes her home in California. She is a daughter of the late Congressman Moses T. Stevens, who lived many years on this estate. The house has not been occupied for 20 years or more.

WHEAT DROP SAVED

SALT LAKE CITY, Sept. 7.—Through a special ruling of the interstate commerce commission a large part of the wheat crop on 50,000 acres of land near Idaho Falls, Idaho, has been saved. Early last week the farmers realized that the wheat was ripening so fast that unless cut at once it would be lost.

No binding twine could be had at local supply houses and the matter was placed before the interstate commerce commission with a petition that an express company be permitted to grant a special rate whereby a carload of twine could be shipped from Chicago. The petition was granted and the twine started Saturday for the west, arriving at Idaho Falls on passenger time.

CITY CHARTER

DR. LAMOUREUX INVITED TO SPEAK ON MEASURE

On Sept. 20, the French speaking citizens of this city will be given another opportunity to hear some more important facts on the new proposed charter question, when a smoke talk will be held at the rooms of the City of America club, in Fulton street. The last speaker on this question at that club was Mr. Joseph L. Chailoux, who made quite an impression on the voters' mind when he translated the synopsis of the charter, and with his remarks which accompanied this translation.

This time Dr. J. Elzeur Lamoureux who is also a great advocate of the new charter will be asked to lecture on this important topic, and it is very probable that the doctor will accept, and according to the committee in charge, he will be the only speaker of the evening. An entertainment program will also be arranged for the evening.

The committee in charge is as follows: Albert Bergson, president of the club; Joseph Guindon, Homidas Arivals, Ferdinand Rousseau and John Durand.

AMATEUR GOLF CHAMPIONSHIP

MANCHESTER, Sept. 7.—Although G. W. Rotan, Merrimack Valley, outdrove J. G. Anderson, Woodland, on most of the holes in the first half of the final match for the Massachusetts amateur golf championship on the Essex county club links today, his approach and putting were so erratic that Anderson had a lead of 2 up at the end of the first 16 holes. Rotan was coming strong at that time, however, having won the 14, 15 and 16 holes and halved the 17th and 18th. Anderson, who is a former state champion, played a particularly steady game up to the 13th hole, going out in 35 and negotiating the 12th hole in two. The second round of 16 holes was played this afternoon.

NORMAL SCHOOL OPENS

Two Changes in Teaching Force This Season

The State Normal school opened today for the coming season with a large opening day attendance and the indications are that last year's curriculum number of 35 will be exceeded. Nothing definite relative to the number of pupils could be given out today as they will be coming in daily until the first of the week.

There will be two changes in the teaching force of the school this season. Miss Nancy Bragg, teacher of geography and manual training will be succeeded by William E. Riley, a native of Wamesit, in Tewksbury, who comes here from the western part of the state. Mr. Riley was educated in the public schools of Tewksbury and at the Bridgewater State Normal school. He has been away from Wamesit for 19 years, 16 of which he has been teaching. For the past seven years he has been superintendent of the schools of Hinsdale, Windsor, Peru and Savoy, Mass. in the Berkshire. He is a teacher of manual training of wide experience and great success, and is prepared to teach it here, though at present he will be engaged in teaching geography and penmanship, the manual training to come later. Mr. Riley has moved his family to Lowell and resides in Rolfe street.

Albert E. Brown, who has been coming to the Normal school one day a week and to the Bartlett school one day a week, will take a manual course at the Normal school, teaching three days a week. He too has moved his family to Lowell. Already Mr. Brown has made the musical course at the Normal school very popular among the pupils. He is director of the department of public school music at Chautauque, N. H. where he spends his summers. He was educated in Zeeland and has also studied under some of the best teachers in this country. He has taught in New England for eight years and is soloist at the Warren Avenue Baptist church in Boston.

THE OILING OF STREETS

Committee on Streets Discussed Question of Assessments

The matter of assessments for the oiling of streets came up at a meeting of the committee on streets last night and was referred to the city solicitor with the request that he furnish an opinion on the question.

The committee had a whole lot of business on its hands. Hearings on petitions were followed by a business meeting at which action was taken on the various petitions. The members of the streets committee are Aldermen Barrett and Connors and Councilmen Bowers, Davis, Elliott, Genest and Brady.

Mr. Elliott said that Plain street is in bad condition and should be repaired. He said the street should be paved with old blocks from Chelmsford street to Tanner street and that the work should be paid for out of the appropriation of the superintendent of streets. He made a motion to this effect and it was so voted.

The petition to widen Rogers street was laid on the table. The petition to grade and accept West Fifth avenue was recommended.

A view of Stratham and Deerfield streets was voted.

James Gookin and Cornelius E. Collins spoke in favor of oiling High street from East Merrimack street to Rogers street. It was voted to ask the city solicitor to draw up an ordinance relative to street oiling and assessments.

The petition of Mrs. Mary J. Sherman that edgestones be laid in Bertram street from Sanders avenue westerly about 76 feet, was approved.

The petition of William D. Brown for edgestones and cobble gutters in Fremont street from Third street to Sixth street, and the roadway put in proper condition, was recommended. The petition was opposed by A. Gross, representing the Simpson estate.

The petition of James Holtham for the abatement of the dust nuisance at the corner of Willard and Nineteenth streets was referred to the superintendent of streets with the recommendation that the condition be remedied.

Abraham B. Beal asked that edgestones be laid on the westerly side of Colburn street and the easterly side of Tilden street; also that a granite sidewalk be laid on said street, and on Alden street from Colburn street to Tilden street. No remonstrance. Petition recommended.

On the petition of Margaret Wheelock that Prince street be accepted from Moody street to the railroad crossing,

John H. Beaulieu appeared. No remonstrance. Action was deferred.

On the petition that Varnum avenue be laid out and the lines defined from the Pawtucket boulevard to the Chelmsford line. Harry H. Davis, Thomas May, William Regan and David J. William appeared in favor. William Barker and Mr. Littlehale were opposed, saying that they did not desire that any of their land should be taken for this purpose. It was voted to refer the petition to the city solicitor.

C. F. Weston and Dr. Gage favored the petition to old Riverside street, from Colonial avenue to Moody street. They were willing to pay the assessment. No remonstrance. Action was postponed.

The petition of Albert Charron for permission to erect a display post opposite 81 Merrimack street was recommended.

Edwin E. Mason and Dr. Gage appeared in favor of the petition to widen Mammoth road and Varnum avenue at their intersection by connecting the easterly line of Varnum avenue with the southerly line of Mammoth road by a curved line. There was no remonstrance and action was deferred.

Health and Beauty Advice

BY MRS. MAE MARTIN

Mrs. D. T.: No, you are not too old to regain your charming complexion, even though your face is wrinkled and beset with enlarged pores and blackheads. You can clear up and improve your complexion best by using the following greaseless cream-jelly. Mix together two teaspoonfuls glycerine, one ounce almond oil and a half pint cold water. Stir and let stand a few hours before using. This cream-jelly is unequalled for freshening up a dry, rough skin, and accomplishes wonders in eradicating freckles, blotches and pimples. After using this almond jelly only a short time, you should find a big improvement in your complexion.

You must be a pitiful sight to look upon with so much burdensome fat. Instead of denying yourself the food you crave and undergoing tortuous exercises, try this harmless remedy. Cut four ounces of paraffin at any drugstore and dissolve it in a pint and a half of hot water. Take a tablespoonful of this cream, and rub it on your face and neck as if by magic. I receive many letters from those who have tried this simple, inexpensive remedy telling me what a grand thing it is. It cuts down fat rapidly and leaves the skin smooth and free from wrinkles.

Mrs. E. B.: Ignorance is the only acceptable excuse for a head of poor hair. With but a little care you can have just as nice a head of thick, lustrous hair as your daughter. In the first place never wash your hair with soap as the alkali in soap destroys the hair, making it brittle, short, streaky and lifeless. Try shampooing about twice a month with a teaspoonful of cantharidin dissolved in a cup of hot water. The abundant lather cleanses perfectly, rinses easily and dries quickly. You will soon notice your hair getting thicker, longer and so much desired, and you will no longer be bothered with dandruff.

Jean: Any amount of cold creams and the like will not take the pimples and that sallow look from your face. What you need is a good blood purifier and strengthening tonic to put a healthy color into your cheeks. Get an ounce of karrone and a half pint alcohol at your drugstore; mix these with a half cup sugar, then add enough hot water to make a quart. Take a tablespoonful of this tonic before meals and you will soon regain your lost appetite, sleep soundly at night and feel energetic. In a few weeks you will have a good healthy color in your face and be feeling fine.

Society Bird: No, there is no way to change the color of your eyes, but you can easily make them clear, sparkling and beautiful, by using in each eye twice daily a few drops of a soothing tonic, made by dissolving an ounce of crystals in a pint of water. This strengthens weak, tired eyes and removes all inflammation. For granulated lids and other eye troubles, is an unfailing remedy. Many oculists use this tonic with excellent results, and wearers of glasses find it a big help.

G. A.: Powder will not correct a sallow skin. If you wish to tone up your complexion and give it that invigorated smooth, velvet-like look, use a lotion made with four ounces of spiraea dissolved in a half pint of water with two teaspoonfuls glycerine added. You will find this lotion inexpensive, and a sure remedy for freckles, tan and skin roughness. It takes away that sallow, shiny look and does not show on the face or rub off like powder. I find face powder very harmful to the complexion as it clogs up the skin pores and causes rough, wrinkled faces.

Estes: If you want long, thick, silky eyelashes, with a delightful curl and softness, apply plain pyroxin to lash roots with thumb and forefinger each night for a time. To make eyelashes arched and thick, train by brushing and apply a little pyroxin with finger-tips. Druggists supply pyroxin in one-ounce original packages. Don't get any on forehead, cheeks or between eyebrows as it encourages hairy growth.

Fay: Unless the electric needle is handled by an expert, of which there are comparatively few in the country, you cannot permanently rid the skin's surface of that downy growth. A simple, yet effective treatment consists of applying a delatone paste to the offending hairs, and after two or three minutes rub off and wash the skin. You can get powdered delatone at the drug store, an ounce of which costs a dollar, but this cost is trifling as a little of the delatone and water to make a paste does the work quickly and well.

A. L. C.: Don't worry for modern science has given us a remedy for hair and scalp troubles that is simply wonderful in its remarkable effects. Get from your druggist a half pint alcohol and one ounce quinine; mix together in a bottle, then add a half pint cold water. Although a very simple, inexpensive remedy, this tonic rubbed into the scalp, about twice a week eradicates dandruff, stops itching of the scalp, and checks falling hair quickly. It keeps the scalp in a healthy condition and promotes a vigorous, natural growth of glossy hair.

SUPT. MARTIN CONLEY MAN CUT HIS THROAT

Complains About Quality of Beef New York Theatre Crowd Saw His Attempt at Suicide

Supt. Martin Conley of the Chelmsford Street hospital at a special meeting of the board of charities held last night stated that Swift & Bailey were not delivering the quality of beef, at the hospital, that their contract called for.

Mr. Burns, of the board, visited the institution recently and said the beef was not fit to eat.

Purchasing Agent Foye visited the hospital in company with an expert and examined the beef. He said that the general run of the meat was fair but that it could not be called first class by any means.

The board asked to see Thomas F. Fahey's contract for light beef. Mr. Foye did not have the contract with him and it was voted to lay the matter over until the next meeting.

Supt. Conley was instructed to keep a close watch on all meats delivered at the institution and if not up to the standard to refuse to accept the same and report the matter to the purchasing agent.

CHAS. H. MARKHAM

Railroad Head Refused to Recognize Union

CHICAGO, Sept. 7.—Charles H. Markham, president of the Illinois Central railroad, is facing a critical situation regarding the threatened strike of hundreds of the railroad's employees. President Markham has taken entire responsibility in conducting the negotiations with the union leaders. He thus far has refused to accede to the demands of the men that they be recognized as members of the union.

If you want help at home or in your business, try The Sun "Want" column.

NEW YORK, Sept. 7.—The theatre crowds, surging out of the Astor, Caely and Columbia theatres at 11 o'clock last night were startled by the sight of a middle-aged man, who had taken a conspicuous position in the middle of Longacre Square, just opposite Forty-sixth street, attempting suicide.

The man, who later gave his name as Ernest Winzer, forty-two, single and unemployed, attracted attention by shrieking at the top of his voice. The avenue was crowded from curb to curb line at the time, and everybody turned toward the man, attracted by his strange actions.

When all eyes were upon him he drew a razor from his pocket and ran the keen edge across his throat. He dropped immediately to the street, while women screamed and men turned away.

For a few moments there was a good

A Hint to Brown-tail Sufferers

If you happen to be one of our many readers who are suffering the torments of Brown-tail poison, here is welcome news for you.

The best remedy known for Brown-tail poison is Toiletine. Get it at your druggist's today. You will find that the first application will bring relief and the terrible irritation will soon cease. Toiletine is an old reliable New England remedy that has a score of summer uses. There is nothing like it for sunburn, tired aching feet, mosquito and insect bites, etc. In fact, irritation and inflammation of every kind yield to it very quickly.

deal of excitement. Patrolman Walsh, of the West Forty-seventh street station, who has a fixed post at Forty-sixth street, picked the would-be suicide up and made a hasty examination. Then he sent for an ambulance. It was nearly ten minutes coming from Flower hospital, during which period thousands of curious people gathered around the injured man, completely blocking traffic in both directions on Broadway and Seventh avenue.

Police men were summoned from all the adjoining posts along Broadway and did their utmost to clear the street. When the ambulance arrived it had some difficulty in getting through the crowd.

Winzer was taken to the hospital, where it was found his injury may prove fatal. He talked incoherently and the physicians concluded that he was crazy. They said if he recovered he would be sent to the psychopathic ward at Bellevue for examination.

Patrolman Walsh said afterward that Winzer entered the billiard parlor of the Hotel Astor earlier in the evening and was ejected by the hotel detective. Then he stood on the sidewalk and yelled at the well-dressed people coming out.

"You have everything," he shouted, "and I have nothing. But I was wealthy once upon a time."

Then he went to the Cafe Madrid and shouted at the fashionably dressed women, saying, "I made a fool of myself for the likes of you."

Then, when ordered away by the police, he went out into the square and tried to die.

NEW OFFICIALS

AGUA PRIETA, Mexico, Sept. 7.—Officials of Agua Prieta, who have held office since the rebel forces under "Red" Lopez were driven out by a federal column under Lieut. Diaz, a nephew of Mexico's deposed president, gave up their offices yesterday when Governor Cayon of Sonora and 250 soldiers arrived to install a new set of officials. The old officials had previously been requested to resign by the government at Mexico City. Ricardo Olaz-Vasquez of Hermosillo was named the new collector of customs.

MAY HAVE BEEN LOST

Boat Upset and Two Men Have Been Reported Missing

NORTH ATTLEBORO, Sept. 7.—Levi Roy, a New Bedford contractor, arrived in North Attleboro about 9 o'clock last night on an electric car from Pawtucket, drenched to the skin, and after securing a change of clothing and some food, went to Dr. Carey's office for medical attendance. When he arrived in town he was quite ill from cold, but is now improved. Roy tells the following story:

"In company with Eugene Bouchard and a man named Tremblay, all of us from New Bedford, we went out fishing this afternoon on the Lonsdale reservoir. While out about half a mile from the shore the boat was suddenly overturned and we three were tipped into the deep water.

"I managed to reach the shore all right, but do not know what became of my comrades. When I reached the shore I was cold, wet and exhausted. I could see nothing of the other men. I paid a baker $5 to take me to the nearest electric car and thus landed in North Attleboro. I fear that Bouchard and Tremblay are at the bottom of the pond."

Dr. Roy of Central Falls, Mr. Roy's brother, was notified and he came here late last night in an automobile. He said that the men were at his place yesterday morning and last night there had been anxiety at the failure of the men to return. As far as could be learned here, Bouchard and Tremblay have families in New Bedford.

The Lonsdale reservoir is in Rhode Island, a mile from Central Falls, Roy says that the accident happened in a strange locality to him, and that his landing in North Attleboro last night was because he had lost his way. He was in a serious condition when he arrived here, due to his exposure to the cold.

The police of Pawtucket and Central Falls were told of Roy's story, and they will endeavor to learn whether or not the two men were drowned in Lonsdale, R. I.

HIS SPINE WAS BROKEN

Man Has Entered Suit Against Locomotive Works

MANCHESTER, N. H., Sept. 7.—One of the most interesting surgical cases in the state will be described in the superior court of Hillsboro county when the case of Charles E. Hall of this city vs. the American locomotive company, the preliminary papers in which were served yesterday comes to trial.

It is a case in which a man with a fractured spine has lived, and Mr. Hall's case is the more remarkable for the fact that two vertebrae or sections of vertebrae have been removed from his spinal column and he is still able to walk.

He brought suit against the American locomotive company for $15,000 for damages for injuries received on Dec. 2, 1905, while in the employ of that company. On that date he was working on the roof of a building at the company's plant on Canal street and accidentally fell to the ground, a distance of 43 feet. He claims that the company was responsible for the fall through not instructing him in the danger of his position and through not providing him with proper tools, ropes and ladders.

He claims that his back was broken in the fall and that he sustained other injuries and was compelled to have two vertebrae removed from his back. At the present time, he claims in his plea, he is partly paralyzed and crippled for life. He sets his damages at $15,000.

Mr. Hall, after his accident, was practically unconscious for a month, and nine months afterward he went to the post-graduate hospital in New York, where he was operated upon. Before submitting to the operation he was told that in more than 100 instances such an operation as he was to be subjected to had met with failure, and there was not on record a single instance of success.

Mr. Hall's skull was fractured and one of his arms broken by the accident, besides the injuries to his spine. His back shows a cavity where the vertebrae was removed. The operation was a rare one and attracted much attention among surgeons who watched the partial recovery of the patient with interest.

When Mr. Hall was able to walk about he went back to the company and was given employment as an assistant timekeeper until recently, when he was "laid off." Being left without means of support he instituted the suit for damages. He is 50 years old and lives with his family on Hanover street.

Summary of information contained in Letter of President of the Company.
This Company has acquired a large Oil Refining Plant and Works fully completed and equipped on the Bay of San Francisco with deep water facilities and upwards of 100 acres of valuable water front Real Estate.

WORKS.—The works are exceptionally well built; the construction being of brick, stone and iron with slate roofs to all important buildings, while the situation and arrangement of the plant provide for operating in a large way at minimum cost.

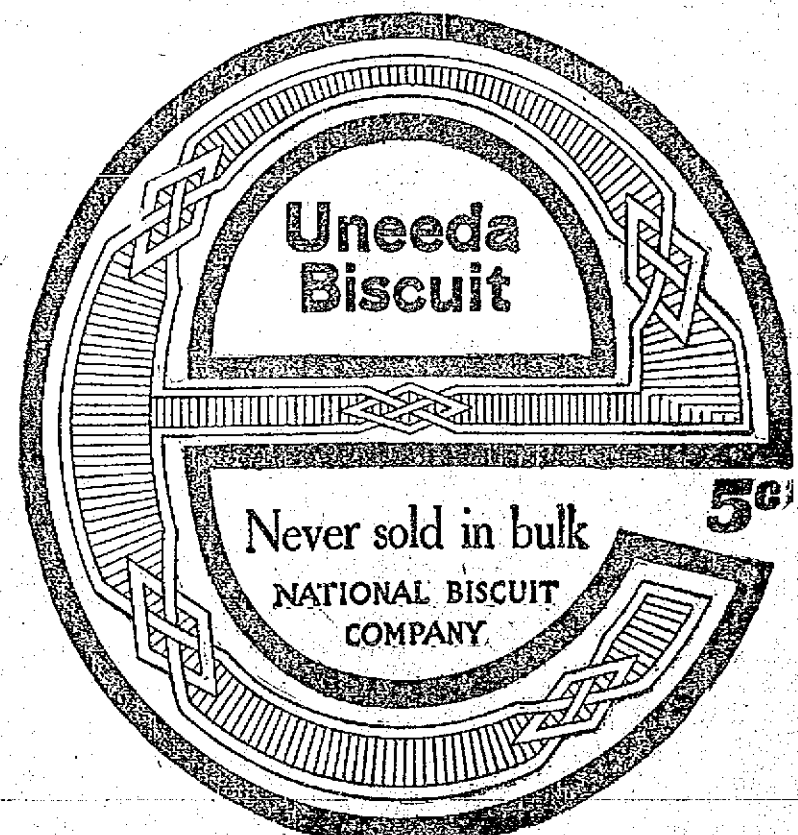

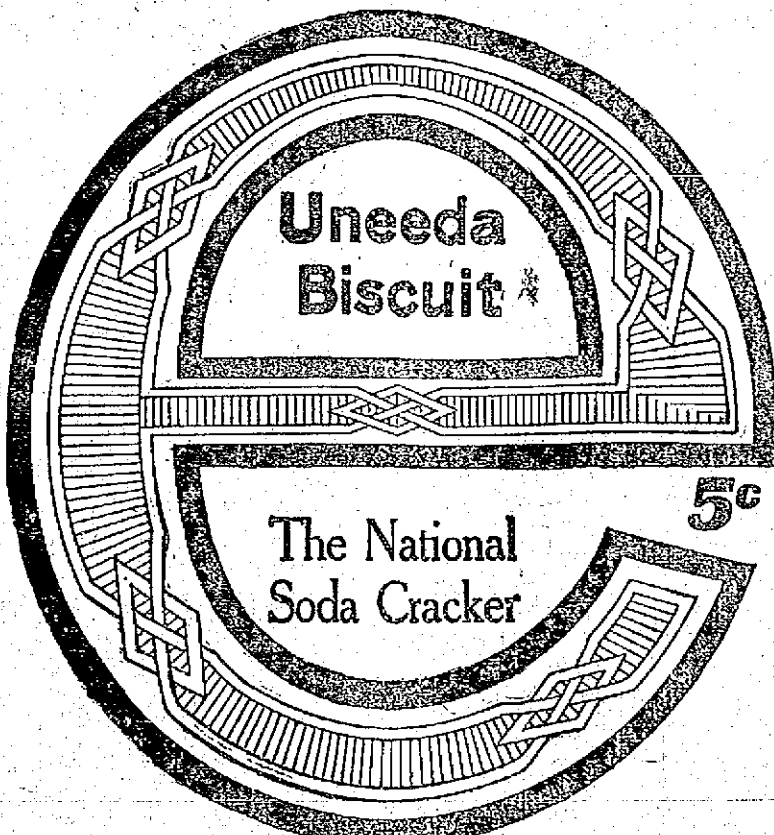

BUSINESS.—The business which has been done by the Works and is to be continued by this Company on a larger scale, is the Refining of Crude Oils for domestic and foreign trade, and this Company will direct its attention especially to the transaction of the Cargo Trade in refined oils to the Orient. The crude oil is to be purchased direct from producers and the refined products sold to the markets of Asia and of all countries advantageously reached by the Pacific Ocean, especially China, India and Australia.

CAPACITY AND EARNINGS.—The works have a capacity of about 2000 barrels crude oil per day. It is proposed to increase materially this capacity later on. At intervals during the construction period of the works, some 50,000 barrels of crude oil have been refined, and the refined products have been sold to the foreign and domestic trade of the Pacific Ocean at a satisfactory profit. This profit should amount to approximately $2.00 per barrel when the works are put into full operation. With the present capacity at 2000 barrels per day, the net profits on this output at $2.00 per barrel would amount to $4,000.00 annually, a sum sufficient to pay the full 7 per cent annual dividend on the preferred stock, and leave a balance available for dividends amounting to about 25 per cent on both preferred and common stock.

SAFE AND PROFITABLE BUSINESS.—This Company does not produce crude oil but transacts a manufacturing and export business purchasing crude oil from producers and selling the manufactured products to the foreign and domestic trade. The very profitable nature of the oil refining business is generally well known. On both the American and Asiatic sides of the Pacific Ocean the demand for refined oils is constantly increasing.

NO BONDS.—No mortgage can be put upon the property, or bonds issued by the Company in priority to the Preferred stock without the consent of every holder of the Preferred stock. This condition is endorsed on each Preferred Share Certificate.

CHARLES EDWARD ERTZ, President, American Oriental Company.

THE GRAND CIRCUIT

Forest Prince Beats Longworth B in a Great Race

HARTFORD, Conn., Sept. 7.—The racing at the Connecticut fair yesterday afternoon was considerably the most interesting that the grand circuit horses have furnished since leaving Cleveland. A heavy shower early in the morning made it doubtful as to whether the horses would get a chance to appear, which kept the crowd down to rather light figures.

The circuit regulars were on hand, taking no chances of missing the 2:11 race, in which Forest Prince, Longworth B and Larry Stanton started. The affair the trio took part in at Readville foretold that their meeting here would be something worth seeing. It surely was, and after five and a half miles went to Walter Cox and the little New Haven pacer, Forest Prince, Fanny Stanton continued her educational career without being a factor, and without her help Tommy Murphy's handsome pony could not handle the son of Cedell King.

Five heats the pair, snatched out from 2:03½ to 2:11½ and not until the very end was the outcome certain. After the fourth heat it looked as though Murphy would win, as Forest Prince came through the stretch bad-gaited, seemingly tired. He was back the next trip, game as could be, outpacing the grandson of Online in a driving finish.

Cox drove a waiting race, never pulling out until into the stretch. This gave the spectators some thrilling finishes and caused some very fast last quarters. Not one of the five was slower than 31 seconds and in the second heat, when the prince fell short of catching Longworth, the two furlongs were paced in 23½.

Murphy came very near to having one of the very few poor days he has experienced since the opening of the circuit, as Cascade, one of his crack trotters, was pretty lucky to get away with a race. The Massachusetts bred 4-year-old took two heats handily, but in the third and fourth was outtraced by Major Wellington, who had been unsteady earlier.

The fourth heat was taken by the Ringier representative so decisively that it looked a certain defeat for Cascade. The Major, however, dropped back into his misbehavior over the back-stretch in the fifth mile and made such a disastrous break that "some lively stopping did not enable him to get within the danger zone again."

The 3-year-old trot went to Peter Thompson, as expected, but the fast son of Peter the Great did not warm up quickly and lost the first heat in slow time to Mamie Guy, a daughter of Guy Anworthy, owned in Holyoke, Mass.

Greens set The Harvester, 2:01, down for the champion's first stiff work since Buffalo, and a mile in 2:03½ was the result, the last half being in 1:00½. This was a remarkable performance, as the truck was heavy underneath from the morning rain and never was the son of Walnut Hall nearer the pole than third-horse place.

President Taft will visit the fair today, and The Harvester will be stepped through the stretch at speed so that he may see what the American trotter really is. Willy, the fastest European-bred trotter, will also be shown.

EMPTY CANOE

FOUND FLOATING ON MERRIMACK RIVER YESTERDAY

While swimming in the Merrimack on the boulevard side near the Gaudette farm yesterday afternoon, a boy named Jimmie Wright found an empty canoe floating down the river. It contained two cushions, one of which had "Bridgewater Normal School" embroidered upon it, while the other had daisies embroidered in black and yellow silk. The canoe had not been overturned and probably had drifted away from one of the up-river camps.

CYLINDER HEAD

ON CANADIAN PACIFIC TRAIN BLEW OUT

A cylinder head on the Canadian Pacific flyer which was due in this city at 7:15 o'clock last night from Montreal, blew out with a loud report, in the vicinity of the cemetery in North Chelmsford. The head was carried along with the train, the result being that several side bars were bent.

The train was stopped and word was sent to Lowell and a wrecking crew went to the scene and after a delay of about three-quarters of an hour another engine was substituted and the train continued on to Boston.

NEW WORLD'S RECORD

Grahame-White Made Average
Speed of 77 Miles an Hour

BOSTON, Sept. 7.—Flashing across the finish line after a marvellous flight over the famous Boston Light course, Claude Grahame-White, the winner of last year's Gordon N. Bennett trophy race, established a new world's record for speed, with passenger, last night as a fitting climax to the Harvard-Boston race meet.

With his chief mechanic, Reginald Carr, in the passenger seat behind him in the cockpit of his biplane, the English aviator sped over the 33-mile course in 27 minutes, 35 seconds, a speed of 77.7 miles an hour, more than four miles an hour faster than the mark set by Edouard Nieuport, the inventor of the monoplane, when he flew at the rate of 57 miles an hour at Châlons, France, on June 12 last.

Thus was the greatest flying ever seen in New England brought to a glorious end and thus, too, was the tottering prestige of Grahame-White, threatened by the remarkable cross-country flying of Earle L. Ovington and Lieut. T. D. Milling, U. S. A., by the weird dipping and volplaning of Lincoln Beachey and by the exceptional all-around flying of Tom Sopwith, restored to a safe standing.

But it was Harry N. Atwood, America's cross-country champion, who was accorded the honor of making the last flight of the great race. Last night he sailed into the air in his Burgess-Wright biplane two minutes before the closing bomb was fired, carrying as a passenger Mrs. Jane Jewett Draper. By the time he had reached the field the final tabulations were being made and so far as the contest committee was concerned the meet was a matter of history.

A new record was also claimed for the accurate bomb-throwing made by Tom Sopwith of England, carrying as passenger in his Wright-Biplane, Alfred Montgomery, an old friend of his in his home country. Sopwith piloted the biplane and Montgomery dropped the bombs, their average being only 9 feet 4 inches, 3 feet 2 inches better than the mark set by Harry Atwood last Saturday, while their average of 2 feet 2 inches equaled that of Howard Gill and Clifford Webster in the former's Burgess-Wright on the opening day of the meet.

Bomb dropping records are not recognized by the Federation Internationale Aéronautique, but there is little doubt that the speed record of Grahame-White, as recorded by the Chronograph club of Boston, the meet's official timers, will be passed upon by that body and accepted.

An even score of official flights was made on the closing day of the meet, despite the sharp wind. The only accident of the day was that of Grahame-White as he landed after his speed record, when the monoplane veered sharply to the right as it landed and struck the ground and Grahame-White was thrown against the edge of the cockpit, slightly cutting his lip. The left supporting plane of the "flying shark" struck the ground heavily, and one of the stay wires insuring the wing's rigidity was snapped.

LAWYER WENDENBURG

May Ask to Have the Beattie Case Reopened

CHESTERFIELD COURTHOUSE, Va., Sept. 7.—With the evidence closed and prosecutors and defense confident of giving the case of Henry Clay Beattie, Jr., to the jury tonight all calculations as to today's developments in the sensational trial have been upset by Prosecutor Wendenburg's announcement that he may ask the court to reopen the case and admit the testimony of a man who claims to have been an eye witness to the tragedy. If this request should be made and granted, the final argument, which was expected to begin this morning, will be delayed and court probably will adjourn till Saturday. The alleged eye witness whose name is withheld is now in a city a day and a half distant by rail from here.

Mr. Wendenburg received the information which may change the whole aspect of the case in yesterday's mail. The writer, who, until a few days ago, for the murder of Mrs. Beattie, was a farm hand employed on a place near the scene of the crime, said that he actually saw young Beattie kill his wife—saw him knock her from the automobile with the butt of a shotgun and then shoot her in the head as she lay insensible on the ground. He wrote that Beattie threatened him when he found that he had witnessed the deed and the following day gave him a suit of clothes and money with which to go away. Though he kept quiet at first because he was afraid, the man says now he does not want Beattie to escape punishment and is willing to testify. The authorities of the city in which the alleged eye-witness has taken refuge have been asked to arrest and examine the man. If it is thought necessary he will be brought here immediately.

Mr. Wendenburg said he would not know what to do until he heard today the result of the man's examination. The letter writer gave a detailed account of the tragedy and he claims to have witnessed it. He said in part: "I was in the pine woods on the right-hand side of the Middlebrook turnpike as you go out from Richmond, on the night the murder was committed. As I walked closer to the road I saw an automobile standing almost in the middle of the road facing toward Richmond and there were two people in it—a man and a woman. They were both sitting in the front seats.

"They were quarrelling. I could hear them talking loud, so I did not show myself but waited behind a tree about ten feet from the edge of the wood in the thick pines to hear what they said.

"The woman was pleading with the man. She was saying she wanted her love back again and she did not want the man to be cruel to her. The man answered roughly. At one time I heard him say: 'I am tired of all this. I am going to end this.' Then I heard the woman say: 'How are you going to end it?' The man said something I could not hear and then I heard him say: 'I'll show you how I'm going to end it.' He got out of the machine and walked across the opposite side from where I was and after he had been there a minute he came back with something in his hand. I could not see what it was in the dark. The woman was standing in the machine in front of the left hand seat in the front of the machine. Just when the man came back I heard the woman scream once. Then the man who was standing in the road swung what he had in his hand and hit the woman on the right side of the face. She fell from the machine to the road and she did not make a sound.

"For a minute the man stood looking at her and then I heard him say: 'D— you, you're not dead yet. I'll fix you.' Then he up with a gun, which was what he had hit the woman with, and he shot her where she lay in the road by the front seat of the auto. I did not see where he shot her. I saw him throw the gun somewhere and he began to lift the woman's body into the front seat of the auto and I came out of the trees.

"The man turned around and saw me and he said to me: 'Did you see this?' I told him that I had seen it. D— you, what the h— are you going to do about it?' he said. I did not say anything. Then he began to threaten me. He said he was rich and had lots of friends in Richmond and if I told on him he would have me killed somehow. He said nobody would believe my story if I appeared in court against him anyway and I had better get out; he said he would give me some money and a suit of clothes if I would go away. I told the man I would go away. Then he told me to come to Beattie's store and there would be some money for me. I went there next day and got some money and suit of clothes. I stayed in South Richmond for two days then but I was so tired and grew so nervous after that two days I took the train to this place.

Last night, before Mr. Wendenburg's startling announcement, it was expected that the final argument of counsel would be begun today.

Judge Watson expected immediately on the conveying of the court and the delivery of instructions to the jury to ask for an agreement as to the time to be used by each side for argument.

L. M. Gregory was to open the case for the prosecution to be followed by Attorney Smith and Hill Carter for the defense. L. O. Wendenburg, who has voluntarily assisted Prosecutor Gregory in the case, will close for the commonwealth. Incidentally, Gregory today is up for re-nomination for commonwealth attorney in this county and Wendenburg in Henry county is a candidate for the senate. Neither has been able to devote any time to campaigning on account of the trial.

JEWELRY STOLEN

$12,000 in Gems Taken by Burglar

COHASSET, Sept. 7.—Although one of the most daring burglaries ever known in this state was pulled off in this town a month ago the facts did not leak out until yesterday. The story has astounded the summer residents along the whole south shore, and it is almost the one subject of conversation.

Approximately $12,000 worth of jewels and treasured heirlooms were stolen from a cabinet in the summer home of Edward B. Bayley on Jerusalem road, Aug. 2. The cabinet stood within two feet of Mrs. Bayley's head while she was asleep in bed.

There are 12 articles of jewelry missing, including a famous necklace of pearls valued at $6000 and four diamond rings worth $2100. Although detectives have been employed and the police of the town and neighboring towns and cities have been hard at work on the case, every effort to recover the missing has failed.

Apparently, the burglar had an intimate knowledge of the interior of the Bayley home. He is supposed to have entered the large residence through a cellar window and at once headed for Mrs. Bayley's sleeping apartment, evidently knowing where the jewels were kept and finding his way there without difficulty.

This makes the case somewhat of a mystery. The police state, however, that several windows in the house were open at the time and protected only by screens, so that the burglar's entrance may have been through one of these.

At first it was thought that the theft might have been the work of a servant. Detectives who have worked on the case, however, freed the servants of suspicion. The efforts of the detectives are now being directed towards locating a seissors grinder who had been observed in the vicinity of the house before the break and has not been seen since.

Ever since the burglary the Bayleys have persistently objected to having any report of it go to the newspapers. Tuesday, however, it was learned that the thief in his hurry, overlooked three diamond brooches which were lying in a tray upon the top of the table standing beside the jewel cabinet in which the necklaces and the rings were kept.

The lock on the cabinet was gently forced and the jewelry then removed. No notes could have been made or Mrs. Bayley, who is a light sleeper, would have been awakened. The loss of the jewels was not discovered until Mrs. Bayley happened to notice that the lock had been tampered with.

Judge Watson expected immediately on the conveying of the court and the delivery of instructions to the jury to ask for an agreement as to the time to be used by each side for argument.

He is supposed to have entered the large residence through a cellar window and at once headed for Mrs. Bayley's sleeping apartment, evidently knowing where the jewels were kept and finding his way there without difficulty.

This makes the case somewhat of a mystery. The police state, however, that several windows in the house were open at the time and protected only by screens, so that the burglar's entrance may have been through one of these.

At first it was thought that the theft might have been the work of a servant. Detectives who have worked on the case, however, freed the servants of suspicion. The efforts of the detectives are now being directed towards locating a seissors grinder who had been observed in the vicinity of the house before the break and has not been seen since.

Ever since the burglary the Bayleys have persistently objected to having any report of it go to the newspapers. Tuesday, however, it was learned that the thief in his hurry, overlooked three diamond brooches which were lying in a tray upon the top of the table standing beside the jewel cabinet in which the necklaces and the rings were kept.

The lock on the cabinet was gently forced and the jewelry then removed. No notes could have been made or Mrs. Bayley, who is a light sleeper, would have been awakened. The loss of the jewels was not discovered until Mrs. Bayley happened to notice that the lock had been tampered with.

REVERE BEACH EXCURSION

Over one hundred Lowell people went to Revere beach today on the semi-weekly excursion conducted by the local division of the Bay State Street Railway Co. One car left the square at 8.15 o'clock this morning and another left at 1.15 this afternoon.

CHICAGO, Sept. 7.—One of the most violent storms experienced in many years struck Chicago harbor early today. Between 15 and 20 launches, motorboats or sloops were caught in the storm. One tug, battling against the giant waves in an effort to reach the freighters Lagonda and Christopher, lying a mile out, was captured. Captain McCleary and his crew of five were rescued by lifesavers.

Several passenger boats due here early today have not been accounted for. Shortly before daylight distress signals were heard from some large boat out in the lake.

According to Captain Garland of the lifesaving service this was the force of storm in 20 years. It abated at daylight.

The path of the storm was narrow. Neither the Evanston nor the South Chicago lifesaving stations received calls for assistance and there was no damage in their districts.

The greatest damage was done in the harbor of the Chicago Yacht club. Launches and pleasure boats there were torn from their moorings and dashed about. Several boats in the Chicago yacht club harbor were also damaged.

RUSH AT KEITH'S

Big Crowd at Box Office
Opening Today

A youngster with a bunch of sandwiches which he calmly munches with the air of perfect contentment sat on the cold stone steps at the entrance of Keith's new theatre as the town clock struck the hour of four this morning.

The cop on the beat happened along but the kid never moved nor showed any fear of the majesty of the law.

"What are you doing here?" demanded the officer.

"Waitin' for the box office to open," replied the boy.

"Well, you better beat it for home. The box office doesn't open until 10 o'clock, five hours yet," ordered the officer.

"Not on yer tinypie. I've been hired to be the first guy at that box office when it opens and I'm here on the job see. Anyone who beats me to the box will have to go some."

The youngster remained on guard and watched the crowd grow and when the box office opened at 9.50 o'clock, he was at the head of a crowd of over 100 people, some of whom had been waiting for hours and he bought the first 25 tickets sold for Monday's performance.

The crowd began to gather as early as 8 o'clock and at 9 the entrance was packed, while many remained out on the sidewalk.

There was a disposition on the part of some of the crowd to adopt football tactics and rush upon the box office at the hour of opening, and to prevent such an occurrence, as there were many women in the crush, Manager Will Stevens telephoned to the police station for two officers to come over and preserve order. Upon the arrival of the officers the crowd was compelled to get in line.

Ten minutes before the time announced for the opening, Manager Stevens opened the window of the box office and the sale began. For the first hour only seats for Monday's performance were sold and at 11 o'clock considerably over half the house was sold for the two opening performances. Shortly before noon the rule relative to the sale of first performance tickets only was declared off and there was a rush of orders for the other performances of opening week. The taking of telephone orders began at 11 o'clock and the bell kept ringing throughout the day. It was the most satisfactory rush sale of tickets that has taken place in a long time, the management aiming to treat all alike, first come, first served. The theatre will open on Monday with a matinee at 2 and in allness will be given daily at that hour, while the evening performance will be at 8. The bill includes "Paris by Night," with a company of 15 comedians and dancers; K. Murray and Clara Lane in an operatic act; the Cycling Brunelles (Lewell boys), Flanagan and Edwards, in "On and Off," Col. Sam. Holdsworth, America's oldest professional singer; Gordon and Keys in a budget of fun and the celebrated Frey Twins, physical culturists and dancers.

BANNER GAME OF YEAR

Wolfgang Puts it All Over the Worcester Bunch

The game of the season was played yesterday at Spalding park and what happened is given below.

In the first place for three days the telephone of the business office of the Lowell team has been kept busy with out-of-town calls with requests for reserved seats to be called for while telegrams were received from Worcester, Springfield, Boston, Lynn, Brockton and even Providence for seats. Yesterday morning the reserved seats were practically all gone despite the threatening weather.

Owing to the possibility of no game the base ball dug in Merrimack Square was not hung out until after 10 o'clock and in the meantime The Sun telephone was kept busy answering questions as to the weather and if there would be a game. At all the hotel's traveling men used the telephone on their customers so as to be finished for the game while those who had dates in other cities cancelled them in order to be present. People who haven't seen a game this year and some who per-

When the game started there were fully five thousand people on the grounds. Every available seat in the grandstands and bleachers was taken up and there were hundreds who sprang about the right and left sides of the field and others who were contented to watch the game from the vicinity of the centre field fence.

There was a large attendance of out-of-town people, among those present being President Tim Murnane and Secretary Jake Morse of the New England league, Fred Lake, formerly manager of the Lowell team, but now employed as a scout for the St. Louis Americans, and Patsey Donovan of the Red Sox.

Umpires Stafford and Rorty, two of the best in the league, were the decision makers and when the game started at three o'clock.

First Inning

Each team scored a run in the first inning. Aubrey, the ex-Haverhill catcher and one of the best slab artists in the league, was the particular shining light in the first half of the inning by scoring a home run inside the grounds.

Weaver was the first man to face Wolfgang and he was retired on strikes. Bunting was the next man to bat and he hit a fly to Needham, who caught it. Then came Mr. Aubrey and after letting a couple go by him he swung the wilson on a nice one and the sphere soared through the air finally landing near the centre field fence. Both Fluharty and Barrows started for the ball but before one of them could secure it and throw to the infield Aubrey had made a circuit of the bases and scored a home run. Crum fell a victim to Wolfgang's puzzling curves.

In the latter half of the inning Moulton made a clean single and Barrows sent him to second with a sacrifice. Cooney singled to left and Moulton scored. Magee slammed the ball to Aubrey but the latter threw to second, getting Cooney and the ball was then sent to first for a double play.

Second Inning

Neither side scored in the second inning. Russell hit to Cooney and the latter made a pretty pick-up and threw the runner out at first. Haas fumbled to Huston and Needham was third out on a fly to Fluharty.

In Lowell's half Fluharty flied to Weaver and Wright hit along the first base line and was the second man out. Then up came Jake Bouites and he singled to right field and Huston drew a base on balls. It looked as though there might be something doing for the home team but Wolfgang closed the inning by fying to Crum.

Third Inning

The fans had plenty of opportunity to cheer in the third inning and many an enthusiast will have a sore throat tomorrow as a result of the cheering done in the third inning when Lowell sent three men over the plate. Worcester failed to score.

At the opening of the inning Burckett objected to the crowd in the vicinity of left field, but Umpire Stafford refused to order the spectators off the grounds inasmuch as ground rules had been made previous to the start of the game.

O'Neill was the first man up and he flied to Bouites and Wilson followed with a foul fly to Huston while Weaver was third out on a fly to Fluharty.

In the latter half of the inning Lowell "found" Wilson and jumped on him with both feet and when the smoke of the battle had cleared away Lowell was three to the good. Moulton hit to Aubrey and was out at first. Barrows then approached the plate and he was presented a silver horse shoe bearing the inscription "Good Luck" which was the gift of some of his Lowell friends. After thanking the people he responded with a single to centre field. With two strikes on Cooney Wilson tried to slip one on the batter but Cooney's bat came in contact with the ball and a single was the result. Magee flied to right and it looked as though the men on base were doomed to an early death but Fluharty urged on by the cheers of the fans singled to left field scoring Barrows. Wright followed by slamming the ball to centre field. The ball struck Crum on the shins and bounced off and before he could recover it Wright had made second base and Cooney and Fluharty had scored.

A PORTION OF THE THIRD BASE BLEACHERS IN YESTERDAY'S GAME

Fourth Inning

Lowell scored two runs in the fourth inning while the visitors failed to send a man across the plate. Lowell's runs were due to an unfortunate error on the part of Weaver.

Bunting was first to bat for Worcester and he hit a fly to Bouites and never had a look at first. Aubrey and Crum went out on flies to Barrows. Huston started off in the latter half of the inning with a fly to Russell. Wolfgang hit the first ball pitched to him to left field for a single. Moulton followed with a fly to Weaver. Barrows singled to right and Weaver furnished and belt Wolfgang and Barrows scored. Cooney was third out on a fly to Russell.

Fifth Inning

Another goose egg was registered for the visitors in the fifth inning. Russell made a clean single to centre field but it did little good for he never got very far off the base for Haas flied to Fluharty, Needham flied to Barrows and O'Neill struck out. Magee singled to centre field. Fluharty bunted to Wilson who threw Magee out at second. Wright flied to Aubrey and Bouites flied to Weaver.

Sixth Inning

Worcester scored its second run in the sixth inning. Wilson opened with a grounder to Bouites but Jake at-ham was third out on a fly to Fluharty.

In Lowell's half Fluharty flied to Weaver and Wright hit along the first base line and was the second man out. Then up came Jake Bouites and he singled to right field and Huston drew a base on balls. It looked as though there might be something doing for the home team but Wolfgang closed the inning by fying to Crum.

Seventh Inning

Four Lowell men went to bat in the latter half of the inning. Huston flied to Needham and Wolfgang hit to Aubrey and died at first. Moulton singled but he failed to advance any farther for Barrows went out on a fly to Weaver.

In the seventh inning Russell hit to Moulton and was retired at first. Haas flied to Bouites and Needham hit to Moulton and never had a peep at first.

Lowell scored another run in the seventh inning. Cooney hit to Bunting and was out at first. Magee singled to right and Fluharty followed with another single to the same place. Wright singled to centre garden and Magee scored. Bouites struck out, it being Wilson's first strikeout. Huston was third out Bunting to Haas.

Eighth Inning

O'Neill was the first out in the eighth inning, being retired on a fly to Moulton. Wilson slugged the ball out to right garden and hit the ball about three feet from the ground and made a two bagger. As a result of hitting the ball he is entitled to $50. The fact that he struck the sign is verified by Umpire Rorty and Right Fielder Fluharty. Weaver flied to Magee. Bunting hit to Cooney and was out at first.

Wolfgang hit to Wilson and died at first. Moulton hit to Bunting and never saw a glimpse of the infield. Barrows hit to Needham and went out at first.

Ninth Inning

Aubrey hit to Cooney and was out at first. Crum got a Texas leaguer to right field. Russell hit to Cooney and in his anxiety to make it fly fumbled the ball. Haas flied to Magee. Needham flied to Fluharty.

DIAMOND NOTES

Lawrence today.
We're pretty close to the pennant.
Wow! Wasn't that some game.

Everybody was there.
The biggest midweek crowd in local history.

The fans were disappointed because Burckett was not out on the coach line.

Jesse was wise and kept in the back-ground.

Wolfgang was right there with the goods and Fred Lake was mightily pleased.

There was no kick coming against Wright. He batted in three of Lowell's runs.

Christy Wilson hit the Bull for a two bagger, and hence gets the $50 offered by the Bull Durham people. Barrows and Tommy Catterson were the other two men to connect with the animal during the season.

The members of the Worcester team were very cocky before the game. They marched through Prescott street in twos with bats over their shoulders

IN HAVERHILL GAME

Pres. Dan Clohecy Claims Hogge "Laid Down" to Lowell

CINCINNATI, O., Sept. 7.—Because President Daniel Clohecy of the Haverhill club of the New England league made the charge that Pitcher C. Bradley Hogge had "deliberately laid down to the Lowell club" in the last game he pitched for Haverhill before he was transferred to the Boston National league club, the National baseball commission yesterday remanded the case to the National Association for investigation.

President Clohecy charged that Hogge had been paid off before he pitched the game against Lowell, but that he was fined $50 for indifferent pitching. Clohecy asked that he be compelled to pay the fine. The commission in remanding the case to the National Association said the accusation involved the integrity of the game and instructed a thorough investigation and report within 10 days. Pending receipt of the report no action will be taken in the case.

Gray Wants Investigation
When informed as to President Clohecy's charge Manager Gray said: "I hope he investigates fully. He will find that the game with Haverhill was won on its merits. As far as I know there was nothing wrong about the game and I am certain there were no inducements offered Hogge, or anyone else to 'lay down.' The Lowell team can win on its merits and needs no assistance from its opponents."

singing and yelling. There wasn't a word out of them after the game.

Six of the home team got two hits each.

Immediately after the presentation of the silver trophy to Capt. Barrows, Lowell got three runs.

Martie O'Toole won again yesterday.

Jesse, the foxey old guy, now rings in another game with Haverhill, making it four that Worcester has yet to play. It was thought that Worcester and Haverhill had only three to go, but at the last moment a postponed game has been discovered and transferred to Worcester. This makes it possible for Worcester to get a tie with us where before, such a thing was impossible. If Lowell wins one and Worcester four there will be a tie. If Lowell wins two—Good night!

The Training School band will be present this afternoon.

In the New Bedford-Lynn game yesterday McGovern split his finger; Spring broke a finger and Pratt was injured at the plate.

Flynn showed that his boxing with Langford had taught him many things. He sidestepped all of Smith's rushes and blocked Jim's blows with his right arm and shoulder. He used good judgment, was cool and never missed a chance to send a crushing blow to Smith's body and jaw.

Gray Wants Investigation
When informed as to President Clohecy's charge Manager Gray said: "I hope he investigates fully. He will find that the game with Haverhill was won on its merits. As far as I know there was nothing wrong about the game and I am certain there were no inducements offered Hogge, or anyone else to 'lay down.' The Lowell team can win on its merits and needs no assistance from its opponents."

The pennant is still in the air with the chances all in our favor.

Do not take any chances between the mushroom and the toadstool.

The street oiling controversy is likely to go on until it is too late in the season to do any oiling.Almost every day brings new aviation records. Boston has reason to be proud of Atwood and Ovington.The New York police will deserve well of their city and state if they succeed in putting an end to the bomb throwing and Black Hand outrages, recently so common. They have captured some bad men and found in their possession bombs ready to set off. If lynching were ever justified it would be in blowing the culprits to atoms with the bombs they had prepared for others.When Mr. O. H. Helt of New York came to the point of getting his name printed in large letters over a confectionery store, he decided that it would not look right, and that it would sound still worse. He applied to the courts for permission to change his name and the change of a single letter not only made his name "Hill" but put him in line with the other people who want "Hell" abolished.The park board holds that it keeps within its appropriation each year and uses the money placed at its disposal to the very best advantage.
Moreover when money is appropriated for a certain purpose, such as Shedd park for example, it is not spent for any other purpose. If the tree pests have worked merciless havoc and if limbs of trees are in danger of falling, the board avers that it was not provided with the wherewithal to fight the pests or remove the dangerous limbs. Thus the board shifts the responsibility to the city council.The onslaught of Senator Cummins on President Taft is the severest how yet delivered by any of the republican leaders. It is more effective than La Follette's attacks because Cummins is not nursing a presidential boom and cannot be accused of having any selfish interest in assailing the president. The progressive republicans are furnishing good ammunition for the democratic campaigners who, however, have all they need. It helps, however, to be able to cite republican senators against a republican candidate for president.

THE STATE PRIMARIES

The state primaries to be held this month will be conducted under circumstances different from any held since the joint caucus law took effect.
That law has been superseded by the new direct primary law, and all the party enrolments are wiped out so that democrats may become republicans and vice versa at the primary election on the 26th inst., but it is understood that no part of the new law can be construed as authorizing any citizen to vote both tickets at the same caucus. There is now nothing to prevent democrats helping republicans to nominate the weakest republican candidate, nor to prevent republicans slicing Foss for some obscure rival. It is not a very satisfactory state of affairs, but it will undoubtedly serve the purpose very well for the present. It has at least the merit of overcoming the objection so often urged that a man cannot vote for whom he pleases at the primaries, because of his previous enrolment. Some men believe it to be their right to jump from party to party as often as they please; but the men who vote at the state primaries this month cannot change their party affiliation again at the municipal primaries as three months at least must elapse between the changes. There may be some who will refrain from voting in the state primaries in order to be able to change their party if they see fit at the municipal primaries. If the new charter be adopted, however, party lines will not be considered in the city election, and there would be no questions asked as to party enrolment.

THE MAIL COLLECTING TURNOUTS

No doubt the readers of this article are quite familiar with the stamp of horse that is used in this city in the collection of Uncle Sam's mail. We have heard much of peddlers who drive very jagged specimens of horse flesh through the streets; but we doubt whether any of these would take the prize for lankness, leanness, for bowed legs, knuckle joints, spavin legs, hollowback and utter raggedness if placed in competition on these lines with the grotesque array of steeds employed in the mail service in this city during the past few years. Having seen the prancing chargers employed in the mail vans of His Majesty's service in England and the equally proud steeds used in the mail service in France and Germany, one would expect that Uncle Sam would not have his dignity insulted by having the mail carried by horses that any humane society would vote as suitable subjects for Red Acre farm where animals that have passed their usefulness may spend their closing days in well earned repose. It has become a common expression at local horse sales that when a horse is too feeble, too old and too decrepit for any other kind of service he may be used for collecting the United States mail either in the city or outside. The rig used, too, is so rickety as to excite ridicule. Uncle Sam should furnish a mail wagon, but then a decent wagon would call for some kind of a decent horse which would be foreign to the business; and as the postmaster general is cutting down expenses all along the line, we presume it is useless to remonstrate. If the men who contract for the collection of the mail are not paid a fair price for their work they cannot supply a first class turnout to go around the letter boxes. They are not to blame.

SEEN AND HEARD

The summer vacation of the public schools is now nearly over and the pupils are beginning to think of the "readin', ritin' and rithmetick" which they will have to tackle next Monday.
Some of the boys and girls are anxious to resume their studies while there are others who wish that the vacation was longer.It is a rare sight at the present time to see a hand organ in the streets for the burly gurdy has taken its place but during the past few days an organ grinder with a monkey on a string has been making a tour of the city and collecting many pennies.The Bay State Street Railway Co.
reaped a harvest of nickels on Labor Day and many of the employees had to work overtime in order to give the many patrons of the road efficient service. Monday every available car was pressed into service and 12 crews of the local division went to Nashua in order to assist for the throng at the fair. Tuesday six crews spent the day in Nashua and today there are ten crews in the upriver city.Dr. Emmett Wemple took his little daughter, 6 years old, down town with him the other day on a business trip.
The doctor's business was with a consulting engineer and the little girl sat so quietly by while they talked over abstruse matters that the consulting engineer took a great fancy to her.When the doctor left the engineer left with him and the three of them proceeded across the street. The engineer bought a bouquet of flowers for the little girl and, not satisfied with that, escorted her around to a candy store and purchased her a box of candy.When she got home this is what she

EDITORIAL COMMENT

Florida Times-Union: In New York 1500 applicants for 15 jobs on the interurban railways struggled despairingly for a place that a man's ribs were crushed in and he was sent to the hospital for repairs. Why not remind these people that we have room in the south for every man to labor and live without crushing the life out of his neighbor? Ten acres in Florida will grow a enough—one acre will keep the wolf from the door. One good acre can be paid for by a week's good labor.

DISCARDING SHERMAN

Worcester Post: The story of Taft's discard of Sherman for next year's ticket seems to be generally accepted as true. So there is a movement to run the vice-president for governor of New York next year—to meet the fate doubtless at the polls of Burr after Jefferson's discard of him in 1804.

INDETERMINATE SENTENCES

Boston Globe: A. H. Hall of Minneapolis backs the proposition to make all prison sentences indeterminate and to provide releases on parole, with the reason that "the deterrent of crime is not the punishment, but the fear of conviction." The reason does not seem so foolish; making the punishment less would not lessen the fear of conviction, and the possibility of reducing one's time in prison by good behavior seems merely to put a premium on good acting.

AN OLD DIRECTORY

Deals With Conditions
Here 72 Years AgoA little, old book, Floyd's Lowell Directory and City Register of 1839, has found its way into this office. The volume is the property of William B. Dwyer, the well known Fletcher street barber, and it contains information of much interest to the present day residents of this city.In its appearance and contents the book is in striking contrast with this year's city directory. It numbers in all 200 small pages as against the 927 large ones making up our present directory, contains six pages of advertisements as compared with over 200 pages now, and is in volume about one-eighth the bulk of our city almanac. When the two are placed side by side the difference between them is as striking as that between a prayer book and a family bible.When the directory was published the interests and questions at issue throughout the country were far different from those agitating us at the present day. At that time Martin Van Buren, who by the way was a democrat and a very brilliant one at that, was president of these United States and Edward Everett, one of Massachusetts' most famous sons, was our governor. About the same period Daniel Webster and Henry Clay were beginning their controversy over the slavery question of state rights while the correlative issue of negro slavery was the national problem that finally culminated with the Civil war.
Lowell, then in its third year as a city, had a population of some 20,000.
Luther Lawrence, it states, not whether he was "whig" or democrat, was our mayor, while six democrats and 24 councilmen, party affiliation also unknown, aided Mr. Lawrence in directing the affairs of the fledgling city.The city charter, about which we hear so much nowadays, and which was granted in 1836, furnishes interesting reading to those of a political bent of mind. Comprising 27 sections, it sets forth in plain language just how the affairs of the municipality should be conducted and it dwells at length on the powers of the mayor and his associates. According to the opening of the charter, the first day had to struggle along with a salary of $1500 a year, but, as the high cost of living was then undreamt of, he possibly even could put a penny or two after his year of laborious responsibility.About all the corporations which are now engaged here in the textile industry were doing business in 1839. In fact, after a perusal of the directory, it might appear that these were the only industries of any prominence then located in Lowell. Connected with these establishments was a society called the Middlesex Mechanics association, which was organized for the purpose of bettering the condition and assisting in the education of those employed in the different textile works.Two banks and an institution for savings were located here at that time, their aggregate capitalization being $1,250,000. This is no mean showing for a small city in those days and gives an indication of the thrifty habits of our progenitors.When a question arose over the ownership of any of this money there were in town, ready and willing to argue the matter, some 26 lawyers.These gentlemen, it may be supposed, discuss their cases after the adjournment of court at one or another of the ten hotels, or, as they then were called, "houses of entertainment," the Washington hotel.
In all likelihood being the scene of their disputes.Twenty-one physicians, who could, no doubt, put a tooth in a pinch, advised our grandfathers as to the best reduced prices of the goods of medicine.
That the citizens were then, as now, always ready to extend a helping hand to the poor and suffering is evidenced by the existence of a local dispensary where those unfortunate having neither money nor good health were gratefully sheltered and treated.There were in 1839 14 churches and 27 public schools. Leading the youngsters in these along the "pathway of in the three R's, were 43 teachers.

No doubt many of the latter were members of the Lowell Lyceum and attended that society's meeting each week to read and discuss the poems of Ry-ant and Poe and the sketches of Irving.
When the vacation time came around, however, the teachers generally made a trip to Boston, journeying there via the Boston and Lowell stagecoach.
This left regularly once every day, as did the Nashua coach. The regular trip on this line was that running from Lowell to Burlington, Vt., a journey, the completion of which required two days and a night.These coaches carried the mails.
Sending letters to distant friends in 1839 was rather expensive, in fact, somewhat luxurious, for, according to the rates published, a 400 mile delivery cost 25 cents. It does not state where a letter might have been sent C. O. D.The advertisements in the directory, too, are of some interest. Conspicuous among them is the notice of a theological bookstore calling the attention of the public to an extensive assortment of bibles, missionary tracts, anti-slavery literature and Sunday school books. Surprising to state, none of the then "best sellers" appeared in the "ad".At present these are all the rago white the theological book store has not existed in Lowell for many a day. Stephen Carleton, carpenter and joiner, "Middlesex street, opposite Cram's tavern, shop in the rear of his house," announces that he will attend to hanging house bells or furnish a hand to hang them in good style." J. F. Norton, job printer, proclaims to the reading public that:
"For punctuality, accuracy and elegance of execution, he refers to his past labors. Prices the same as those of his contemporaries—that is to say, very low." From this "ad" it is easy to see that J. P. was far more of a gentleman than present day printers can claim to be. The Mechanics Cloth store advises all to come and view its large assortment of ready made clothing, pantaloons, stocks, bosoms, duck clothes, etc. etc. That the favor pos-sion of humanity then were just as deceiving as now are their great granddaughters may be inferred from an announcement of William Thompson, hair dresser, to the effect that "puffs and curls are here repaired and made to order according to the latest fashion".In many of the grocery and livery advertisements a puzzling phrase was one that called the public's attention to an "ample supply of West India goods".
Whether the "goods" were dry or wet is not indicated.The Christian names of those occupying a place in the directory appear, in these days, to be rather unusual and are perhaps the most noticeable feature of the volume. Glancing through its pages one sees constantly such names as Phineas, Baruch, Abimelech, Elephail, Achsah, or Zebulon. One gentleman, or, possibly, a lady in particular, bore the peculiar name, that of Fervard Smith.The Smiths were numerically the leading family in Lowell in 1839. In that year their present rivals—the Sullivans—could show only three representatives in the city directory.
Whether the latter's present numerical strength is due to an influx of others of that name or whether it is due to a practical endorsement of the Rooseveltian idea is a mooted question, but the fact remains that they are fast encroaching into the circle so long occupied alone by the Smiths.One name, then probably of little prominence, attracts the reader's attention. It is: "Butler, Benjamin, student at law with William Smith." The little book, therefore, can boast of one name whose owner later made it justly famous from coast to coast.Referring to Centerville, then known as Centralville village, the little directory says: "This name is given to that part of Dracut lying on the Merrimack river, opposite Lowell.
It embraces a circuit of half a mile around Central bridge, and is mostly laid out into streets, squares and building lots. Twelve years ago this tract was almost without an inhabitant,
where now are from 60 to 70 families,
and the prospect of a rapid settlement.
There is an Academy incorporated,
called the Centralville Village Academy."There were but nine nurses in Lowell in 1839, according to the directory,
and their names were Mary K. Thorn-
born, Mrs. Susan Carr, Sarah Tonn-
ing, Mrs. Lovejoy, Mary Moore, Abigail Putnam, Sarah F. Gove, Rebecca
Hall and Sarah Smith.The list of churches and ministers is given as follows: First Merrimack

The Smiths were numerically the leading family in Lowell in 1839. In that year their present rivals—the Sullivans—could show only three representatives in the city directory.

Whether the latter's present numerical strength is due to an influx of others of that name or whether it is due to a practical endorsement of the Rooseveltian idea is a mooted question, but the fact remains that they are fast encroaching into the circle so long occupied alone by the Smiths.One name, then probably of little prominence, attracts the reader's attention. It is: "Butler, Benjamin, student at law with William Smith." The little book, therefore, can boast of one name whose owner later made it justly famous from coast to coast.Referring to Centerville, then known as Centralville village, the little directory says: "This name is given to that part of Dracut lying on the Merrimack river, opposite Lowell.
It embraces a circuit of half a mile around Central bridge, and is mostly
laid out into streets, squares and building lots. Twelve years ago this tract
was almost without an inhabitant,
where now are from 60 to 70 families,
and the prospect of a rapid settlement.
There is an Academy incorporated,
called the Centralville Village Academy."There were but nine nurses in Lowell in 1839, according to the directory,
and their names were Mary K. Thorn-
born, Mrs. Susan Carr, Sarah Tonn-
ing, Mrs. Lovejoy, Mary Moore, Abigail Putnam, Sarah F. Gove, Rebecca

TROUBLES IN CHINA

Are Reported to Have Become SeriousBOSTON, Sept. 7.—The disorders in Szechuan province, western China, have become very serious, in the opinion of the officials of the American Baptist Foreign Missionary society, which has its headquarters in this city. A few days ago, the society officials received a cablegram from one of their missionaries stationed at Chengtu, the capital of the province, telling of the rioting on the part of the natives. Today another cablegram was received which said "American consul advises us to leave."The receipt of today's message has convinced the society's officers here that the situation has reached an acute stage and that the lives of the missionaries and the mission property are in danger.

MANY HINDU WOMEN

Don Men's Clothes to Get EmploymentONTARIO, Cal., Sept. 7.—"Tom," a Hindu laborer employed in an orange grove here, failed to put in an appearance yesterday and the only information the foreman could obtain from co-workers was that "Tom ver-seck." The foreman investigated
"Tom's" absence and was astounded to learn that "Tom" was the mother of a three days old boy, born since the gang quit work Saturday. The foreman's discovery led to the disclosure that many Hindu women work in men's clothes when they can't do the foremen. They are nearly as large as the men and not greatly unlike them in physical appearance.If you want help at home or in your business, try The Sun "Want" column.

BOYS MURDERED

Their Bodies Located by
a Bloodhound

ABERDEEN, Wash., Sept. 7.—The bodies of the 19-year-old twin sons of Henry Beauer, a farmer, were found Tuesday by deputy sheriffs in a lonely spot 20 miles from Montesano and near the shack of the boys' uncle, John Turao. Bullet holes in the heads of both boys indicated the manner in which they met death. A posse is in search of Turao, who is missing.

The two boys went bear hunting Sunday. When they did not return at night the father started a search and later notified Sheriff Payette, who sent out a posse with a bloodhound to take up the trail. A dead bear was found and it was first thought the lads had been killed by the animal. The bloodhound, however, soon found the bodies covered with leaves.

THE WOMAN MAYOR

Says She Will Run Town
of Hunnewell

KANSAS CITY, Sept. 7.—Mrs. Ella Wilson, mayor of Hunnewell, came here last night when she held a conference with C. W. Trickett, special investigator appointed by Gov. Stubbs to untangle the somewhat involved municipal affairs of Hunnewell. Mrs. Wilson has been having a great deal of trouble with her council since she took office and she is determined to bring the city fathers to task.

"I'm going to run that little town of Hunnewell," she said, "even if I have to call on Gov. Stubbs for the militia to carry out my orders. Mr. Councilmen have not treated me fairly. They have refused to meet with me and as added affront they have refused to make a tax levy for next year's city expenses. I could reach no agreement with them, so I decided to come to Kansas City and talk the situation over with Mr. Trickett. He assures me that the state officers will co-operate with me in restoring peaceful conditions in Hunnewell."

"Resign! Well, I should say not. I'll fight this thing out and I'm going to win."

MARRIAGE INTENTIONS

The following marriage intentions were registered at the office of the city clerk since the last were published: Aime Labbe (widowed), 22, farmer, 16 Corbett street, and Olevine Boucher, 20, hostess, 167 Dunnell street.

BILLERICA

The regular meeting of the board of selectmen of the town of Billerica was held Tuesday night and considerable routine business was transacted, including the appointment of special officers to serve at the Grange fair on the 14th and 15th of this month.

Despite the fact that there is a vacancy in the constabulary department caused by the death of Constable Livingston the board failed to elect any person to fill the position. Three men took the examination recently and the ratings of the three are as follows: Ernest N. Bartlett, 53.23; Henry D. Livingston, 77.89; William J. Canning, 72.39.

MOTOR CAR LICENSES RECEIPTS

CONCORD, N. H., Sept. 7.—The receipts of the state of New Hampshire from motor car licenses for the fiscal year ending at midnight Aug. 31 were $58,950.50. With the new year a different system of registration, by horsepower, goes into effect and it is estimated that the state's revenue from this source will be doubled thereby. By act of the legislature of 1911 this automobile money will be devoted hereafter to highway maintenance.

THE BRADY GIRL FOUND

She Had Wandered for 24 Hours in Woods Before Discovered

STOUGHTON, Sept. 7.—Florence M. Brady, an attractive 17-year-old high school girl, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas J. Brady of 610 Prospect street, who disappeared Monday evening and for whom a general alarm was sounded on the fire alarm system, calling out citizens, firemen and policemen, who have searched the woods, ponds and streams, was returned to her home last night in a serious condition.

She was found lying semiconscious on the lawn of Charles H. Peck's house in High street, Randolph, late Tuesday night and was taken in and cared for until last night. Merton G. Drow, 17 years old, who has been employed as a gardener on the Ames estate in North Easton, was arrested yesterday and is held in $1000 bonds charged with assault and attempting a statutory offense.

Dr. W. O. Faxon, who was called to see Miss Brady last night, will, in attendance upon her several days before she is restored to her normal condition, he expects. She is suffering from exposure and severe shock. Monday evening the girl attended a moving picture show in the town hall with Drow and her younger sister Florence had never been out of an evening before unless in company with one or both of her parents.

Before the show was over she left the hall with Drow and her sister went home alone. When Florence did not return the police were notified of her disappearance.

The younger sister went out to look for Drow and found him waiting for the train for North Easton. When asked where Florence was Drow became excited and frightened, it is alleged, and ran up the tracks toward North Easton. He walked home.

Tuesday, State Officer John Scott came to town to aid Chief of Police Vanson in the search for the girl. Citizens searched everywhere for the girl. The officers went to North Easton and arrested Drow on a charge of abducting the girl. He admitted accompanying her to the show and said she ran away from him. He said he had thrown one of her garments and her hair ribbon on the dump. A search for these articles failed to reveal them. He told several conflicting stories, the officers say.

Three persons came from North Easton to furnish surety for Drow, but upon hearing the story they went away, declining to have anything to do with him.

A woman passing the Peck house late Tuesday found the girl and the Peck family took her in. She could not tell anything of herself until last night, when she told her experiences and Mr. Peck came here and told the police. Chief Vanson and State Officer Scott went to Randolph and brought her home in an automobile.

The girl said she walked down Pearl street after leaving the town hall with Drow, and sat on a stone wall with him. Drow suddenly attacked her without warning, she said, and threw her over the wall, although she fought him desperately.

Jedediah Bird came along on the opposite side of the road, and hearing the noise stopped and asked what was the matter. Bird thought he saw a boy and a dog at play on the ground.

Drow replied that there was nothing the matter. It is alleged, in that moment the girl got up and ran into the woods and escaped.

She was afraid to go home, so she wandered in the woods all night and finding herself in Canton in the morning she kept to the woods. She cannot remember how she came to be in Randolph Tuesday night.

She was without food 24 hours and was exhausted. When she reached the Peck house she fell on the lawn and went to sleep, she said.

She said one of her garments fell off while they were walking down Pearl street and that Drow picked it up. He gained possession of her hair ribbon during the struggle, she says. Drow was confronted by the girl and then he told a story which agrees in detail with hers, the police say. Late last night, the girl lapsed into a comatose condition again and seemed to be sleeping from mere exhaustion. Drow is large and strong for his years.

"TIP" SHEEHAN DEAD

He Formerly Played With Brockton Team

HAVERHILL, Sept. 7.—John Sheehan, better known as "Tip" Sheehan, died yesterday at St. Joseph's hospital, Syracuse, N. Y., and an investigation of the cause of the death is being demanded by his relatives. He was a native of this city and was aged 35. About 15 years ago he was one of the leading baseball players in this vicinity. He was also at one time shortstop for Bangor, Me., Newport, R. I., and the Brockton team of the New England league. He left this city about three years ago and was last heard from in St. Louis and Cincinnati, where he was engaged in shortcircuiting.

The local police received word late Tuesday evening of his death at the Syracuse hospital, but as there are others of the same name in this city, the identity of the dead man was not ascertained definitely until yesterday. Inquiries showed that Sheehan was found ill and dying in a swamp near Syracuse. He had been seen for three days by people living in that vicinity and as their suspicions were aroused they informed the authorities and he was removed to the hospital. He was found Aug. 28 and remained in a semi-conscious condition until Tuesday. The hospital officials learned that he had a mother and sister here, this being the only information that they obtained from the deceased, as he was unable to tell them where he had been or where he was bound for. The relatives were also learned that Sheehan was seen walking along near the swamp before he was found, dragging his right leg as though he had been injured. His right arm was also paralyzed. The hospital men have informed the relatives that they are puzzled over the cause of his death, and an autopsy will probably be sought. His relatives have arranged for the forwarding of the body to this city for interment.

$35,000 DAMAGE

Caused by a Fire at Peterboro, N. H.

PETERBORO, N. H., Sept. 7.—Fire ruined the big grain elevator, and adjoining buildings of this town early today, involving a loss of about $35,000. Had the wind been higher the center of the town would have been threatened. The blaze started at midnight in the elevator, which is owned by Walbridge & Taylor, the proprietors of a large grocery store. This was burned and the Peterboro Transcript newspaper plant caught and was gutted. The cause of the fire has not been determined.

VACATION ENDS

WOBURN SCHOOL

KEPT CLOSED BECAUSE OF INFANTILE PARALYSIS

WOBURN, Sept. 7.—Because of 14 cases of infantile paralysis in Woburn, the opening of the schools has been deferred a week, or until next Thursday. That action was taken by the school committee notwithstanding the opinion of the board of health that "there is no additional risk attendant on the opening of the schools on the scheduled date." No new cases of the malady have been reported since Aug. 23, and the health authorities feel confident that there will be no more.

Superintendent of Schools George I. Clapp expects the usual crowded conditions in the centre schools, but owing to the dullness of the leather business, Woburn's main industry, it is not anticipated that there will be a great increase in the number of pupils.

NO CHANGE YET

It is now the first of September, and there has been no change in the retail price of coal. A month ago the retail dealers in Boston advanced the price 25 cents per ton, but we determined in the Spring to make one price for the whole summer. Coal is costing 50 cents per ton more at wholesale now than it did in April, and we advise those who have not already placed their order to do so very soon.

The Horne Coal Company has taken particular pains this summer in laying in a stock of coal which is good old fashioned coal. If you have never burned Horne's Coal give it a try, even if it's only a quarter of a ton.

under indictment in New York on a charge of smuggling jewels into the United States are expected to surrender themselves to the federal authorities here today or proceed to New York at once.

Allen, who has been in Montana with his wife several weeks is due to arrive here today in company with his attorney, Collins registered at the Downs hotel and it is said that after a conference with his attorney today he will decide to surrender himself here or go to New York.

SCHOONER SEIZED

Violation of the Fisheries Law Charged

GLOUCESTER, Sept. 7.—A dispatch was received last night by Fred A. Pearce of the Cunningham & Thompson fish company stating that their schooner Arbutus, Capt. Kemp, was seized at Louisburg, C. B., for an alleged infraction of the Canadian fisheries law.

The specific count against the captain and schooner is the purchase of fish at a Canadian port without a permit to touch and trade. The Arbutus has been termed a dory hand-line cod-fishing voyager to the grand banks, the fish being salted as caught. Not being successful in catching a full fare, Capt. Kemp sought to recoup by purchasing the fish.

Under a fishing register this it not permissible, although at times a clause permitting the purchase of fish is attached to the license, but it is understood that the Arbutus did not have this saving clause. "The Arbutus is a new schooner of about 100 tons.

The usual penalty is a fine and it is expected that if the Canadian authorities find the vessel guilty a money penalty will be imposed. This is a peculiar case and a seizure for a similar alleged offence is not recalled here.

Cunningham & Thompson have been unfortunate this season. The schooner Arbutus, 17 of whose men were seized at Cape Race and fined $1000 in the aggregate for violation of the Bait act in addition to the confiscation of nets, dories, etc., also belonged to this firm.

POLITICAL SENSATION

A CANADIAN PASTOR Who Advocated Reciprocity Has Been Asked to Resign

ST. JOHN, N. B., Sept. 7.—Because of his taking an active part in the present election campaign advocating reciprocity, Rev. J. J. McCaskill, pastor of St. Matthew's Presbyterian church, was today asked by the trustees of the church to resign.

THE FINAL ARGUMENT Begun Against Young Beattie, Indicted for Wife Murder

CHESTERFIELD COURTHOUSE, Va., Sept. 7.—Casting aside an unnecessary eleven hour evidence of an alleged eye witness, the commonwealth of Virginia today began the final argument against Henry Clay Beattie, Jr., indicted for wife murder.

Mr. Gregory for the prosecution, and Hill Carter for the defense, measured rhetoric in the morning session in the alternate scolding and lauding of the character of the accused. Though there is a possibility that the argument would be concluded late today and a verdict rendered before midnight, L. O. Watson, who is to close for the prosecution, predicted early this afternoon he would not finish until tomorrow. Judge Watson does not expect the jury to go out until noon tomorrow.

Mr. Gregory painted a picture of immorality revolting in its details. Then he emphasized the cumulative evidence of the conspiracy and pointed to what he called the silent, incontrovertible fact in the case, namely, the purchase of a shotgun by Paul Beattie, which four days after killed the wife of his cousin, Henry Clay Beattie, Jr.

In a ringing voice, full of emotion, Hill Carter began the plea for the defense. Pointing to the unsullied character of the father of the prisoner, his religious virtue and steadfast truthfulness, Mr. Carter retold the testimony of Henry Clay Beattie, Sr., on the stand.

"That father," said Mr. Carter, "told you how the son sobbed and grieved over the death of his wife and I know you will believe the parent closest to him as he contradicts what other witnesses say of the lack of marriage between the father and the accused of his son."

He argued that there was no motive for young Beattie to kill his wife as the father had pictured the warm affection between the couple. He arraigned the detectives, who he declared "had mercilessly worked up theories and cast unsupported suspicions."

Mr. Carter assailed the veracity of Paul Beattie.

The speaker had not finished, when the court took a recess for luncheon.

ATLANTIC FLEET

SOLVING PROBLEMS OF WAR BY TARGET PRACTICE

WASHINGTON, Sept. 7.—The Atlantic fleet is accomplishing much in the solution of the problems of war by the target practice now in progress off the Chesapeake capes, according to advice from the navy department. These exercises will determine primarily the effectiveness of long range firing. Battles of the future will be fought at long ranges. Very little information will leak out to the public. It will always be enshrouded in secrecy in order that no foreign power may learn just what this country is doing with naval ordnance problems. The battleship Delaware may complete its long range experimental firing at the old battleship San Marcos next week. This tests, according to reports, were suddenly terminated temporarily several days ago by Rear Admiral Osterhaus because the Delaware by mistake fired at the repair ship Panther, standing 1500 yards away from the San Marcos.

YALE WINS AT GOLF
SHORT HILLS, N. J., Sept. 7.—Yale won the team championship in the intercollegiate golf tournament today over the links of the Baltusrol club, defeating the Harvard team in all three of the four ball matches.

AMATEUR GOLF CHAMPIONSHIP
MANCHESTER, Sept. 7.—Although G. W. Rotan, Merrimack Valley, out-drove J. G. Anderson, Woodland, on most of the holes in the first half of the final match for the Massachusetts amateur golf championship on the Essex county club links today, his approaching and putting were so erratic that Anderson had a lead of 3 up at the end of the first 16 holes. Rotan was coming strong at that time, however, having won the 14, 15 and 16th holes and halved the 17th and 18th. Anderson, who is a former state champion, played a particularly steady game up to the 12th hole, going out in 36 and negotiating the 12th hole in two. The second round of 16 holes was played this afternoon.

SPEAKER WALKER HERE TONIGHT
Hon. Joseph Walker, speaker of the house and republican candidate for the gubernatorial nomination, will meet his friends at the New American hotel at 7:30 this evening. It will be his first visit to this city since the opening of the campaign. The conference is called by Representative Kilpatrick.

CHARLES T. KILPATRICK, 609 Stevens Street.

MAYOR REYBURN
The Chief Executive of Philadelphia is Under Fire

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 7.—An investigation which may produce sensations in the present local political campaign began today when a committee created by the Pennsylvania state senate sat at city hall and heard charges against the conduct of the administration of Mayor John Reyburn. The committee is composed of state senators appointed under a resolution adopted by the senate last spring to investigate complaints made between legislative sessions against judges or persons holding civil office.

The investigation was instituted by Logan Bullitt, chairman of the Taxpayers committee of Philadelphia, who petitioned the committee to inquire into charges made by him and his associates that there has been gross dishonesty in the conduct of the administration of Mayor Reyburn, especially in the conduct of the departments of public safety and public works.

The investigation comes in the midst of one of the hottest political campaigns ever waged in Philadelphia. The local republican organization is split for the first time in 16 years. The condition came about when William S. Vare, who shares the leadership in the city with State Senator James P. McNichol, announced himself as a candidate for mayor.

Senator McNichol announced his opposition to Vare's candidacy and he is supported in this position by United States Senator Penrose, the state leader. Mayor Reyburn and his political lieutenants are supporting Vare. Senators Penrose and McNichol are backing George H. Earl, Jr., for the nomination and a third candidate for the republican nomination is Dinner Beeber, Senator McNichol is a member of the investigating committee but will not sit with it.

There is also a contest among the reform element of the city, both D. Clarence Gibbons and Rudolph Blankenburg striving for the Keystone party nomination. The reformers believe that owing to the split in the regular republican ranks the chances of success are bright.

THE COURSES OF STUDY
For Industrial School Given Out
by Principal Dooley

All of the public schools including the Industrial schools for boys and girls will open on Monday, Sept. 11. The lion's share of the interest in the opening of the schools centres in the Industrial school for it is a new departure and great things are expected of this branch of public education. The school committees in the various towns have written to the state board of education endorsing the Industrial school in this city. All pupils who are over 14 years of age are entitled to enter this school, regardless of what place in Massachusetts they may live.

Out of town pupils who desire to attend the Lowell Industrial school, both boys and girls, may write to or see Principal Wm. H. Dooley, at the office of the superintendent of schools, city hall, Lowell. The Old Bartlett school in Clark street and facing the North common will be the Industrial school for boys, and the girls department will be in the Morrill school in Adams street.

The courses of studies as prepared by Principal Dooley and given the press today, are as follows:

The Boys' School
The Industrial school for boys will open in the old Bartlett school house, Clark street, facing North common on Sept. 11.

The city of Lowell has established a free Industrial Day school for boys and girls of 14 years of age or over. The school will give a preliminary training for boys, in the following trades: Carpenter, architectural draftsman, cabinet maker, machinist, mechanical draftsman, electrician, engineer, automobile repairing.

Carpenter—This course providing training for the trade of carpenter will consist of shop practice and science, study of building materials, architectural drawing, mathematics, English and civics.

Architectural drawing—This course differs from the carpenter's course in having much of the shop work replaced by work in the drafting room, on building construction.

Cabinet making—This course differs from the carpenter's in having more time devoted to office furniture, etc., than to the building trade work.

Mechanical draftsman—The mechanical draftsman course will be similar to the machinist's course with much less shop work and more practice in the drawing room on machine shop work.

Electrician—This course will deal with practical and theoretical electricity, and will include electric wiring, building motors, including armatures, testing and repairing circuits, and practical experience in the electric power station, etc. In addition there will be special mathematics applied to electrical work, and English and civics will be taught.

The Girls' School
The girls' department will be opened at the Morrill school—Adams street, opposite North common.

This school is for girls of fourteen or over of the city of Lowell and the surrounding towns.

This school is organized for the training of girls for life activities and duties to give them a training in the branches of knowledge and the trades that are most useful in gaining a livelihood. To meet these requirements, the Industrial school offers courses in housekeeping, dressmaking and power machine work.

Housekeeping course—The housekeeping course includes everything that makes and keeps a house in good condition to live in. To get a hundred cents' worth out of every dollar you spend for food and clothes. It will include English, history, civics, home arithmetic, cooking hygiene, dressmaking, laundry work and care of furniture.

Dressmaking course—This course is planned to fit a girl for the dressmaking trade and is similar to the housekeeping course only that more time is devoted to dressmaking and it is more of a commercial character. In addition, design and color, salesmanship and textiles are taught, preparing the girl for the sales department of a dry goods store.

Power work course—This is similar to the dressmaking course only that considerable more time is devoted to practice on a power machine.

Arithmetic in relation to:
Dressmaking—Millinery.
Personal expenditure.
Household.
Business.

Correction and improvement of every day speech.
Personal and business correspondence.

Cultivation of a taste for reading.
Use of typewriter.

Study of Fabrics.

Uses.

Art as applied to a woman's clothing.
Color.
Line.
Fabric.
Appropriateness.
Home Furnishing.

Selection of furniture in relation to beauty.
Economy.
Suitability.
Cooking.
Economy and management of the kitchen.

Plain cooking.
Food values.
Simple menus.
Serving.

Afternoon Trade Classes
Trade classes in dressmaking and housekeeping will be established during the afternoon for women or girls who work or who find it inconvenient to attend day or evening sessions.

The school appeals to girls whose parents now send them to the High school and who do the work in the classes, but who have a practical rather than an academic mind and to girls whose parents do not feel that they can afford to give more time to their daughters for purely academic work, yet would give the child a further education if it will aid her in getting started in some form of skilled industrial work.

Hence the work is planned, so that the work of each year is, so far as it goes complete in itself; that nothing is taught on the theory that it will be of value at some later period in the course, and so that at whatever time the pupil leaves the school he will have had, up to that time, the best preparation which the school can give.

NORMAL SCHOOL OPENS
Two Changes in Teaching Force
This Season

The State Normal school opened today for the coming season with a large opening day attendance and the indications are that last year's enrollment number of 88 will be exceeded. Nothing definite relative to the number of pupils could be given out today as they will be coming in daily until the first of the week.

There will be two changes in the teaching force of the school this season. Miss Nancy Bragg, teacher of geography and manual training will be succeeded by William E. Riley, a native of Waverell, in Tewksbury, who comes here from the western part of the state. Mr. Riley was educated in the public schools of Tewksbury and at the Bridgewater State Normal school. He has been away from Waverell for 19 years, 16 of which he has spent as a teacher. For the past seven years he has been superintendent of the schools of Hinsdale, Windsor, Peru and Savoy, Mass. in the Berkshire Hills. He is a teacher of manual training of wide experience and great success and is prepared to teach it here though at present he will be engaged in teaching geography and penmanship, the manual training to come later. Mr. Riley has moved his family to Lowell and resides in Rolle street.

Albert E. Brown, who has been coming to the Normal school one day a week and to the Bartlett school one day a week also, will start a music course at the Normal school teaching three days a week. He, too, has moved his family to Lowell. Already Mr. Brown has made the musical course at the Normal school very popular among the pupils. He is director of the department of public school music at Christaquis, N. Y. where he spends his summers. He was educated in England and has also studied under some of the best teachers in this country. He has taught in New England for eight years and is a soloist at the Warren Avenue Baptist church in Boston.

CITY CHARTER

SPEAK ON MEASURE

On Sept. 26, the French speaking citizens of this city will be given another opportunity to hear some more important facts on the now proposed charter question, when a smoke talk will be held at the rooms of the Citizens American club in Dalton street.

The last speaker on this question at that club was Mr. Joseph L. Chandler, who made quite an impression on the voters' mind when he translated the synopsis of the charter, and with his remarks which accompanied this translation.

This time Dr. J. Elzeur Lamoreux, who is also a great advocate of the new charter will be asked to lecture on this important topic, and it is very probable that the doctor will accept, and according to the committee, in charge if the doctor does accept, he will be the only speaker of the evening. An entertainment program will also be arranged for the evening.

The committee in charge is as follows: Albert Bergeron, president of the club, Joseph Guimond, Henri Arvisais, Ferdinand Rousseau, and John Durand.

Committee on Streets Discussed Question of Assessments

The matter of assessments for the oiling of streets came up at a meeting of the committee on streets last night and was referred to the city solicitor with the request that he furnish an opinion on the question.

The committee had a whole lot of business on its hands. Hearings on petitions were followed by a business meeting at which action was taken on the various petitions. The members of the streets committee are Aldermen Barrett and Connors and Councilmen Bowers, Davis, Elliott, Genest and Brady.

Mr. Elliott said that Plain street is in bad condition and should be repaired. He said the street should be paved with old blocks from Chelmsford street to Tanner street and that the work should be paid for out of the appropriation of the superintendent of streets. He made a motion to this effect and it was so voted.

The petition to widen Rogers street was laid on the table. The petition to grade and accept West Fifth avenue was recommended.

A view of Stratham and Deerfield streets was voted.

James Gookin and Cornelius E. Collins spoke in favor of oiling High street from East Merrimack street to Rogers street. It was voted to ask the city solicitor to draw up an ordinance relative to street oiling and assessments.

The petition of Mrs. Mary J. Sherman that edgestones be laid in Bertram street from Saunders avenue westerly about 75 feet was approved.

The petition of William D. Brown for edgestones and cobble gutters in Fremont street from Third street to Sixth street, and the roadway put in proper condition, was recommended. The petition was opposed by A. Gross, representing the Simpson estate.

The petition of James Holtham for the abatement of the dust nuisance at the corner of Willard and Nineteenth streets was referred to the superintendent of streets with the recommendation that the condition be remedied.

Abraham B. Beal asked that edgestones be laid on the westerly side of Colburn street and the easterly side of Tilden street; also that a granite sidewalk be laid on said streets and on Merrimack street from Colburn to Tilden street. No remonstrance. Petition recommended.

On the petition of Margaret Wheelock that Prince street be accepted from Moody street to the railroad crossing,

John H. Beaulieu appeared. No remonstrance. Action was deferred.

On the petition that Varnum avenue be laid out and the lines defined from the Pawtucket boulevard to the Chelmsford line, Harry H. Davis, Thomas May, William Regan and David J. William appeared in favor. William Barker and Mr. Littlehale were opposed, saying that they did not desire that any of their land should be taken for this purpose. It was voted to refer the petition to the city solicitor.

C. F. Weston and Dr. Gage favored the petition to oil Riverside street from Colonial avenue to Moody street. They were willing to pay the assessment. No remonstrance. Action was postponed.

The petition of Albert Charron for permission to erect a display post opposite 81 Merrimack street was recommended.

Edwin F. Mason and Dr. Gage appeared in favor of the petition to widen Mammoth road and Varnum avenue at their intersection by connecting the easterly line of Varnum avenue with the southerly line of Mammoth road by a curved line. There were no remonstrants and action was deferred.

Health and Beauty Advice

BY MRS. MAE MARTYN

Mrs. D. T.: No, you are not too old to regain your charming complexion, even though your face is wrinkled and beset with enlarged pores and blackheads. You can clear up and improve your complexion best by using the following cream-jelly: Mix together two teaspoonfuls glycerine, one ounce almond and a half pint cold water. Stir and let stand a few hours before using this cream-jelly is intended for freshening up a dry, rough skin, and accomplishes wonders in eradicating wrinkles, blackheads and freckles. After using this almond jelly on a short time, you should find a big improvement in your complexion.

Rose: You must be a pitiful sight to look upon, with all those blotches on your face. Instead of denying yourself the food you crave and undergoing tortuous exercises, try this harmless remedy: Get four ounces of liniment at any drugstore and dissolve it in a pint and a half of hot water. Take a tablespoonful before each meal, and your face will disappear as if by magic. I received many letters from those who have tried this simple, inexpensive remedy, telling me what a grand thing it is. It cuts down fat rapidly and leaves the skin smooth and free from wrinkles.

Mrs. E. B.: Ignorance is the only acceptable excuse for a head of poor hair. With just a little care you can have just as nice a head of thick, lustrous hair as your daughter. In the first place never wash your hair with soap, as the alkali in soap destroys the hair making it brittle, short, streaky and lifeless. Try shampooing about twice a month with a teaspoonful of catnip dissolved in a cup of hot water. The abundant, healthy, clean, perfectly, shines easily and dries quickly. You will soon notice your hair getting thicker, longer and taking on that beautiful healthy look so much desired, and you will no longer be bothered with dandruff.

Jeannie: Any amount of cold cream and that will not take the pimples and that sallow look from your face. What you need is a good blood purifier and strengthening tonic to put a healthy color in your cheeks. Get an ounce of karende and a half pint alcohol at your druggist's; mix these with a half cup sugar, then add enough hot water to make a quart. Take a tablespoonful of this tonic before meals and you will soon regain your lost appetite, sleep soundly at night and feel energetic in the day. In a few weeks you will have a good healthy color in your face and be feeling fine.

Society Didi: No, there is no way to change the color of your eyes, but you can easily make them clear, sparkling and beautiful, by using in each eye twice daily a few drops of a soothing tonic, made by dissolving an ounce of crystals in a pint of water. This strengthens weak tired eyes and removes all inflammation. For granulated lids and other eye troubles, it is an infallible remedy. Many oculists use this tonic with excellent results, and wearers of glasses find it a big help.

G. A.: Powder will not correct a sallow skin. If you wish to tone up your complexion and give it the much desired smooth, velvety look, use a lotion made with four ounces of spumax dissolved in a half pint hot water with two teaspoonfuls of glycerine added. You will find this lotion inexpensive and a sure remedy for freckles, tan and skin roughness. It takes away that sallow, shiny look and does not show on the face or rub off like powder. I find face powder very harmful to the complexion, as it clogs up the skin pores and causes rough, wrinkled faces.

Estes: If you want long, thick, silky eyelashes, with a delightful curl and softness, apply plain pyroxin to lash roots with thumb and forefinger each night for a time. To make eyebrows arched and thick, trim by brushing and apply a little pyroxin with finger-tips. Pyroxin is a simple, safe, one-ounce original package. Don't get any on forehead, cheeks or between eyebrows as it encourages hairy growth.

Ray: Unless the electric needle is handled by an expert, of which there are comparatively few in the country, you cannot permanently rid the skin's surface of that annoying growth. A simple, yet effective treatment consists of applying a delicate paste to the offending hairs, and after two or three minutes rub off and wash the skin. You can get powdered delatone at the drug store, an ounce of which costs a dollar, but this cost is trifling, as a little of the delatone and water to make a paste does the work quickly and well.

A. L. C.: Don't worry, for modern science has given us a remedy for hair and scalp troubles that is simply wonderful in its remarkable effects. Get from your druggist a half pint alcohol and one ounce quinine; mix together in a bottle, then add a half pint cold water. Although a very simple, inexpensive remedy, this tonic rubbed into the scalp, about twice a week eradicates dandruff, stops itching of the scalp, and checks falling hair quickly. It keeps the scalp in a healthy condition and promotes a vigorous, natural growth of glossy hair.

SUPT. MARTIN CONLEY MAN CUT HIS THROAT

Complains About Quality of Beef New York Theatre Crowd Saw His Attempt at Suicide

Supt. Martin Conley of the Chelmsford Street hospital at a special meeting of the board of charities held last night stated that Swift & Bailey were but that it could not be called first class by any means.

The board asked to see Thomas F. Fahey's contract for light beef. Mr. Fahey did not have the contract with him and it was voted to lay the matter over until the next meeting.

Supt. Conley was instructed to keep a close watch on all meats delivered at the institution and if not up to the standard to refuse to accept the same and report the matter to the purchasing agent.

CHAS. H. MARKHAM

Railroad Head Refused to Recognize Union

CHICAGO, Sept. 7.—Charles H. Markham, president of the Illinois Central railroad, is facing a critical situation regarding the threatened strike of

NEW YORK, Sept. 7.—The theatre crowds, surging out of the Astor, Gauley and Columbia theatres at 11 o'clock last night were startled by the sight of a middle-aged man, who had taken a conspicuous position in the middle of Longacre Square, just opposite Forty-sixth street, attempting suicide.

The man, who later gave his name as Ernest Winzer, forty-two, single and unemployed, attracted attention by shrieking at the top of his voice. The avenue was crowded from curb to curb at the time, and everybody turned toward the man, attracted by his strange actions.

When all eyes were upon him he drew a razor from his pocket and ran the keen edge across his throat. He dropped immediately to the street, while women screamed and men turned away.

For a few moments there was a good deal of excitement. Patrolman Walsh, of the West Forty-seventh street station, who has a fixed post at Forty-sixth street, picked the would-be suicide up and made a hasty examination. Then he sent for an ambulance. It was nearly ten minutes coming from Flower hospital, during which period thousands of curious people gathered around the injured man, completely blocking traffic in both directions on Broadway and Seventh avenue.

Police were summoned from all adjoining posts along Broadway and did their utmost to clear the street. When the ambulance arrived it had some difficulty in getting through the crowd.

Winzer was taken to the hospital, where it was found his injury may prove fatal. He talked incoherently and the physicians concluded that he was crazy. They said if he recovered he would be sent to the psychopathic ward at Bellevue for examination.

Patrolman Walsh said afterward that Winzer entered the billiard parlor of the Hotel Astor earlier in the evening and was ejected by the hotel detective. Then he stood on the sidewalk, and rallied at the well-dressed people coming out.

"You have everything," he shouted, "and I have nothing. But I was wealthy once upon a time."

Then he went to the Cafe Madrid and shouted at the fashionably dressed women, saying, "I made a fool of myself for the likes of you."

Then, when ordered away by the police, he went out into the square and tried to die.

Boat Upset and Two Men Have Been Reported Missing

NORTH ATTLEBORO, Sept. 7.—Levi Roy, a New Bedford contractor, arrived in North Attleboro about 9 o'clock last night on an electric car from Pawtucket, drenched to the skin, and after securing a change of clothing and some food, went to Dr. Carey's office for medical attendance. When he arrived in town he was quite ill from cold, but is now improved. Roy tells the following story:

"In company with Eugene Bouchard and a man named Trembley, all of us from New Bedford, we went out fishing this afternoon on the Lonsdale reservoir. While out about half a mile from the shore the boat was suddenly overturned and we three were tipped into the deep water.

"I managed to reach the shore all right, but do not know what became of my comrades. When I reached the shore I was cold, wet and exhausted. I could see nothing of the other men. I paid a baker $5 to take me to the nearest electric car and thus landed in North Attleboro. I fear that Bouchard and Trembley are at the bottom of the pond."

Dr. Roy of Central Falls, Mr. Roy's brother, was notified and he came here late last night in an automobile. He said that the men were at his place yesterday morning and last night there had been anxiety at the failure of the men to return. As far as could be learned here, Bouchard and Trembley have families in New Bedford.

The Lonsdale reservoir is in Rhode Island, about a mile from Central Falls. Roy says that the accident happened in a strange locality to him, and that his landing in North Attleboro last night was because he had lost his way. He was in a serious condition when he arrived here, due to his exposure to the cold.

The police of Pawtucket and Central Falls were told of Roy's story, and they will endeavor to learn whether or not the two men were drowned in Lonsdale, R. I.

HIS SPINE WAS BROKEN

Man Has Entered Suit Against Locomotive Works

MANCHESTER, N. H., Sept. 7.—One of the most interesting surgical cases in the state will be described in the superior court of Hillsboro county when the case of Charles E. Hall of this city vs. the American locomotive company, the preliminary papers in which were served yesterday comes to trial.

It is a case in which a man with a fractured spine has lived, and Mr. Hall's case is the more remarkable for the fact that two vertebrae or sections of vertebrae have been removed from his spinal column and he is still able to walk.

He brought suit against the American locomotive company for $15,000 for damages for injuries received on Dec. 2, 1905, while in the employ of that company. On that date he was working on the roof of a building at the company's plant on Canal street and accidentally fell to the ground, a distance of 43 feet. He claims that the company was responsible for his fall through not instructing him in the danger of his position and through not providing him with proper tools, ropes and ladders.

He claims that his back was broken in the fall and that he sustained other injuries and was compelled to have two vertebrae removed from his backbone. At the present time, he claims in his plea, he is partly paralyzed and crippled for life. He sets his damages at $15,000.

Mr. Hall, after his accident, was practically unconscious for a month, and nine months afterward he went to the post-graduate hospital in New York, where he was operated upon. Before submitting to the operation he was told that in more than 100 instances such an operation as he was to be subjected to had met with failure, and there was not on record a single instance of success.

Mr. Hall's skull was fractured and one of his arms broken by the accident, besides the injuries to his spine. His back shows a cavity where the vertebrae was removed. The operation was a rare one and attracted much attention among surgeons who watched the partial recovery of the patient with interest.

When Mr. Hall was able to walk about he went back to the company and was given employment as an assistant timekeeper until recently, when he was "laid off." Being left without means of support he instituted the suit for damages. He is 50 years old and lives with his family on Hanover street.

Summary of information contained in Letter of President of the Company.
This Company has acquired a large Oil Refining Plant and Works fully completed and equipped on the Bay of San Francisco with deep water facilities and upwards of 100 acres of valuable water front Real Estate.

WORKS.—The works are exceptionally well built; the construction being of brick, stone and iron with slate roofs to all important buildings, while the situation and arrangement of the plant provide for operating in a large way at minimum cost.

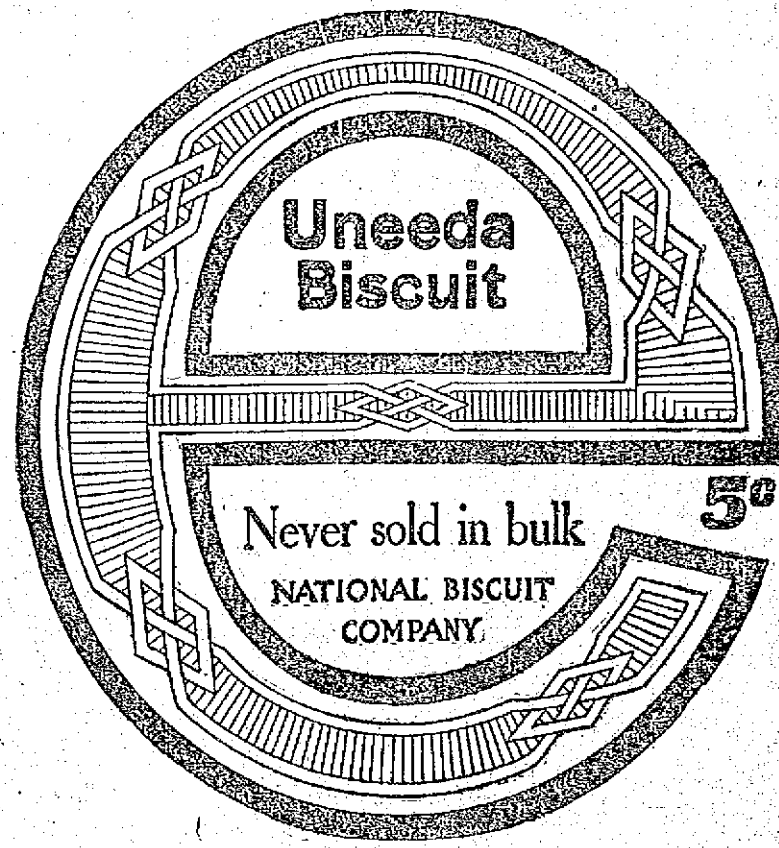

BUSINESS.—The business which has been done by the Works and is to be continued by this Company on a larger scale, is the Refining of Crude Oil for domestic and foreign trade, and the Company will direct its attention especially to the transportation of the Cargo Trade in refined oils to the Orient. The crude oil is to be purchased direct from producers and the refined products sold to the markets of Asia and of all countries advantageously reached by the Pacific Ocean, especially China, India and Australia.

CAPACITY AND EARNINGS.—The works have a capacity of about 2000 barrels crude oil per day. It is proposed to increase materially this capacity later on. At intervals during the construction period of the works, some 60,000 barrels of crude oil have been refined, and the refined products have been sold to the foreign and domestic trade of the Pacific Ocean at a satisfactory profit. This profit should amount to approximately $2.00 per barrel when the works are put into full operation. With the present capacity at 2000 barrels per day, the net profits on this output at $2.00 per barrel would amount to $4,000,000 in a sum sufficient to pay the full 7 per cent annual dividend on the preferred stock, and leave a balance available for dividends amounting to about 25 per cent on both preferred and common stock.

SAFE AND PROFITABLE BUSINESS.—The Company does not produce crude oil but transacts a manufacturing and export business purchasing crude material from producers and selling the manufactured products to the foreign and domestic trade. The very profitable nature of this refining business is generally well known. On both the American and Asiatic sides of the Pacific Ocean the demand for refined oils is constantly increasing.

NO BONDS.—No Mortgage can be put upon the property, or bonds issued by the Company in priority to the Preferred stock without the consent of every holder of the Preferred stock. This condition is endorsed on each Preferred Share Certificate.

CHARLES EDWARD ERTZ, President,
American Oriental Company.

THE GRAND CIRCUIT

Forest Prince Beats Longworth B in a Great Race

HARTFORD, Conn., Sept. 7.—The racing at the Connecticut fair yesterday afternoon was considerably the most interesting that the grand circuit horses have furnished since leaving Cleveland. A heavy shower early in the morning made it doubtful as to whether the horses would get a chance to appear, which kept the crowd down to rather light figures.

The circuit regulars were on hand, taking no chances of missing the 2-11 race, in which Forest Prince, Longworth B and Fanny Stanton started. The affair the trio took part in at Readville foretold that their meeting here would be something worth seeing.

It surely was, and after five heats the money went to Walter Cox and the little New Haven racer, Forest Prince. Fanny Stanton continued her educational career without being a factor, and without her help Tommy Murphy's handsome pony could not handle the son of Cecilian King.

Five heats the pair smashed out from 2:09 1/4 to 2:11 1/4 and not until the very end was the outcome certain. After the fourth heat it looked as though Murphy would win, as Forest Prince came through the stretch badly-gaited, seemingly tired. He was back the next trip, game as could be, outpacing the grandson of Online in a driving finish.

Cox drove a waiting race, never pulling out until into the stretch. This gave the spectators some thrilling finishes and caused some very fast quarters. Not one of the five was slower than 31 seconds and in the second heat, when the prince fell short of catching Longworth, the two furlongs were paced in 29 1/2.

Murphy came very near to having one of the very few poor days he has experienced since the opening of the circuit, as Cascade, one of his crack trotters, was pretty lucky to get away with a race. The Massachusetts-bred 4-year-old took two heats handily, but in the third and fourth was outtraced by Major Wellington, who had been unsteady earlier.

The fourth heat was taken by the Elgin representative so decisively that it looked a certain defeat for Cascade. The Major, however, dropped

FOUND FLOATING ON MERRIMACK RIVER YESTERDAY

While swimming in the Merrimack on the boulevard side near the Gaudette farm yesterday afternoon, a boy named Jimmie Wright found an empty canoe floating down the river. It contained two cushions, one of which had "Bridgewater Normal School" embroidered upon it, while the other had daisies embroidered in black and yellow silk. The canoe had not been overturned and probably had drifted away from one of the up-river camps.

BILLS HELD UP

ACTION TAKEN BY THE COMMITTEE ON ACCOUNTS

At a meeting of the committee on accounts held last night the following bills were held up for further consideration:

Three bills of Whittet & Co. for flowers for the parks department; one from C. H. Hanson Co. for the parks department; and a bill in connection with grade crossing work, sent in by Arnold A. Ryan.

A bill from Olmsted Brothers, calling for $108 for work in connection with the laying out of the grounds about city hall and Memorial building, which was held up at the last meeting of this committee, is to be reported back to the city council as "unwarranted."

ON CANADIAN PACIFIC TRAIN BLEW OUT

A cylinder head on the Canadian Pacific flyer which was due in this city at 7:15 o'clock last night from Montreal, blew out with a loud report, in the vicinity of the cemetery in North Chelmsford. The head was carried along with the train, the result being that several side bars were bent.

The train was stopped and word was sent to Lowell and a wrecking crew went to the scene and after a delay of about three-quarters of an hour another engine was substituted and the train continued on to Boston.

back into his misbehavior over the back-stretch in the fifth mile and made such a disastrous break that "comely stepping" did not enable him to get within the danger zone again. The 3-year-old trot went to Peter Thompson, as expected, but the fast son of Peter the Great did not warm up quickly and lost the first heat in slow time to Mamie Guy, a daughter of Guy Anworthy, owned in Holyoke, Mass.

Geers set The Harvester, 2:61, down for the champion's first stiff work since Buffalo, and a mile in 2:03 1/4 was the result, the last half being in 1:00 1/4. This was a remarkable performance, as the track was heavy underneath from the morning rain and never was the son of Walden. Full-wearer the pole than third-horse place.

President Taft will visit the fair today, and The Harvester will be stepped through the stretch at speed so that he may see what the American trotter really is. Wilby, the fastest European-bred trotter, will also be shown.

PALMER STREET BASEMENT

NEW WORLD'S RECORD

Grahame-White Made Average Speed of 77 Miles an Hour

BOSTON, Sept. 7.—Flashing across the finish line after a marvellous flight over the famous Boston Light course, Claude Grahame-White, the winner of last year's Gordon N. Bennett trophy race, established a new world's record for speed, with passenger, last night as a fitting climax to the Harvard-Lowell race meet.

With his chief mechanic, Reginald Carr, in the passenger seat behind him in the cockpit of his Nieuport monoplane, the English aviator sped over the 33-mile course in 27 minutes, 35.1 seconds, a speed of 77.7 miles an hour, more than four miles an hour faster than the mark set by Edoardo Vercellotti, the inventor of the monoplane, when he flew at the rate of 57 miles an hour at Chateaux, France, on June 12 last.

Thus was the greatest flying ever seen in New England brought to a glorious end and thus, too, was the tottering prestige of Grahame-White, threatened by the remarkable cross-country flying of Earle T. Ovington and Lieut. T. D. Milling, U. S. A., by the weird dipping and volplaning of Lincoln Beachey and by the exceptional all-around flying of Tom Sopwith, restored to a safe standing.

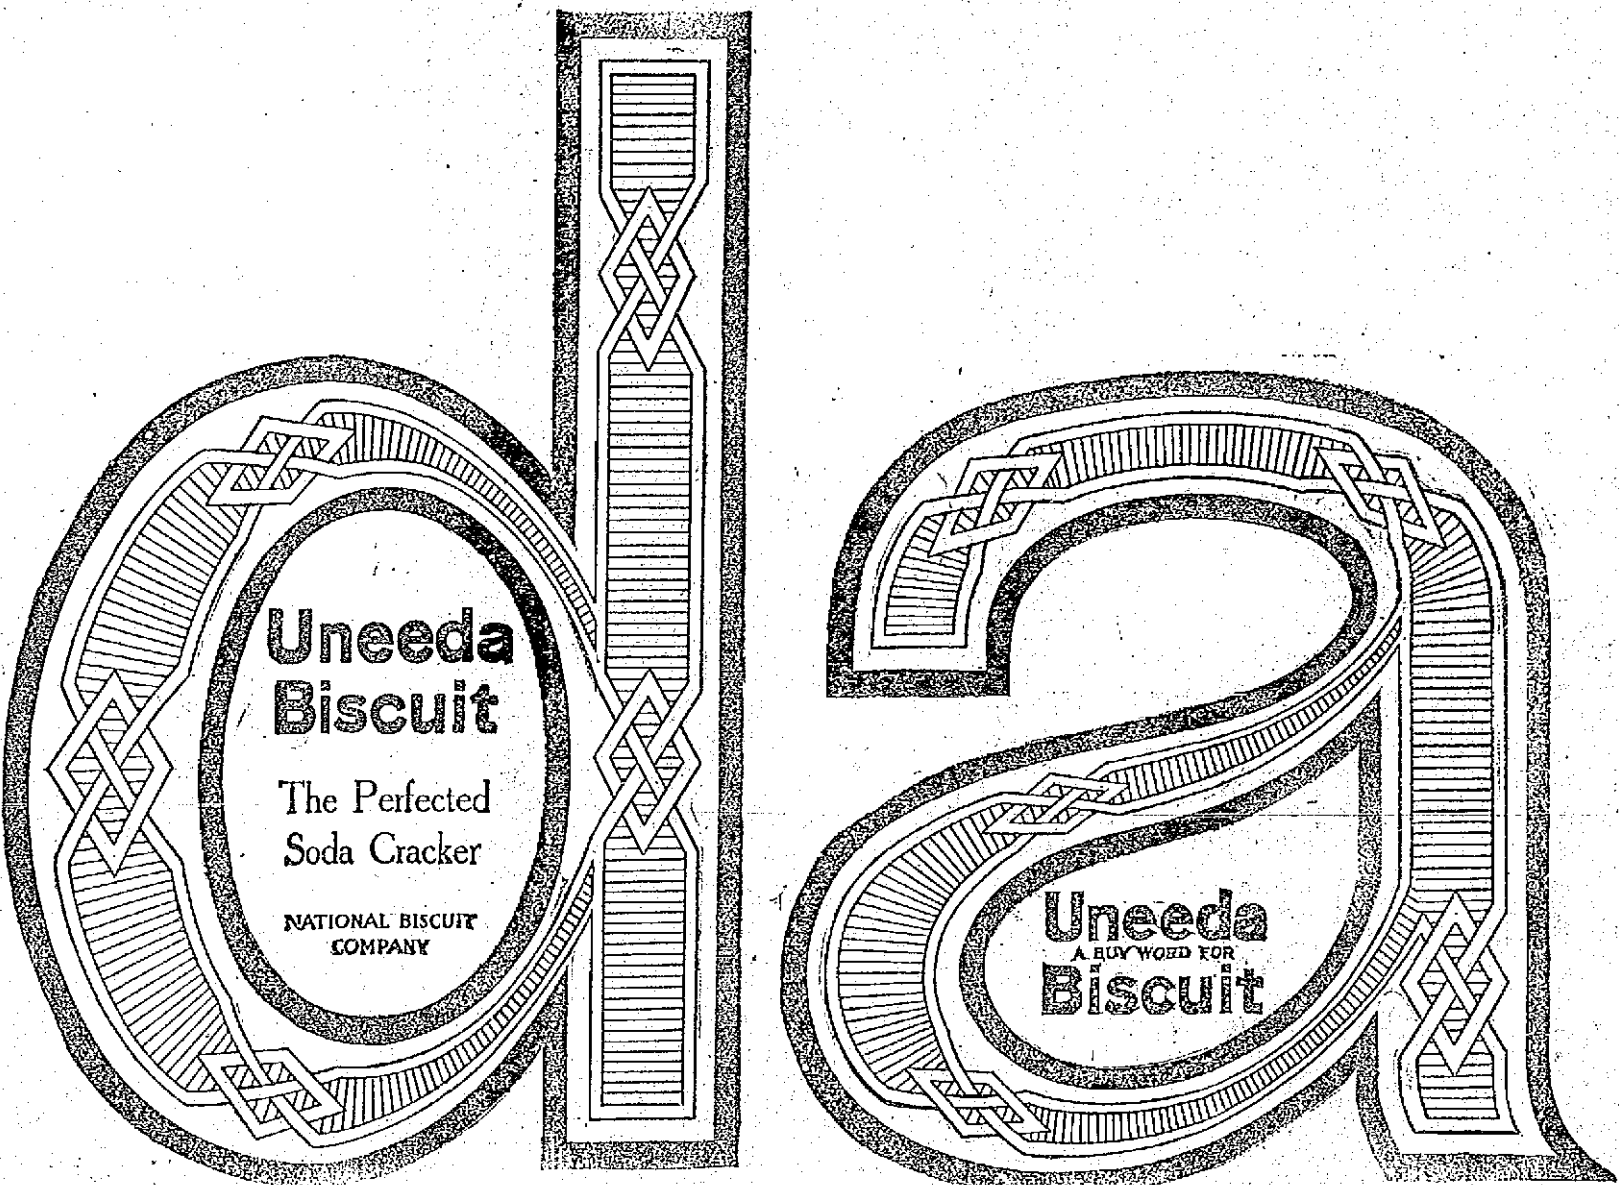

But it was Harry N. Atwood, America's cross-country champion, who was accorded the honor of making the last flight of the great meet, when he sailed into the air in his Burgess-Wright biplane two minutes before the closing bomb was fired, carrying as a passenger Mrs. Jane Jewett Draper. By the time he had reached the field the final tabulations were being made and so far as the contest committee was concerned the meet was a matter of history.

A new record was also claimed for the accurate bomb-throwing made by Tom Sopwith of England, carrying as passenger in his Wright-Biplane, Alfred Montgomery, an old friend of his in his home country. Sopwith piloted the biplane and Montgomery dropped the bombs, their average being only 3 feet 4 inches, 3 feet 2 inches better than the mark set by Harry Atwood last Saturday, while their average of 2 feet 2 inches equalled that of Howard Gill and Clifford Webster in the former's Burgess-Wright on the opening day of the meet.

Bomb dropping records are not recognized by the Federation Internationale Aeronautique, but there is little doubt that the speed record of Grahame-White, as recorded by the Chronograph club of Boston, the meet's official timers, will be passed upon by that body and accepted.

An even score of official flights was made on the closing day of the meet, despite the sharp wind. The only accident of the day was that of Grahame-White as he landed after his speed record, when the monoplane veered sharply to the right as it landed and struck the ground and Grahame-White was thrown against the edge of the cockpit, slightly cutting his lip. The left supporting plane of the "Flying Shark" struck the ground heavily, and one of the stay wires insuring the wing's rigidity was snapped.

A VIOLENT STORM

Several Passenger Boats Have Not Been Accounted for

CHICAGO, Sept. 7.—One of the most violent storms experienced in many years struck Chicago harbor early today. Between 12 and 20 launches, motorboats or sloops were caught in the storm. One tug, battling against the giant waves in an effort to reach the freighters Lagonda and Christopher, lying a mile out, was capsized. Captain McGeevay and his crew of five were rescued by lifesavers.

Several passenger boats, due here early today, have not been accounted for. Shortly before daylight distress signals were heard from some large boat out in the lake.

According to Captain Garland of the lifesaving service this was the fiercest storm in 20 years. It abated at daylight.

The path of the storm was narrow. Neither the Evanston nor the South Chicago lifesaving stations received calls for assistance and there was no damage in their districts.

The greatest damage was done in the harbor of the Chicago Yacht Club. Launches and pleasure boats there were torn from their moorings and dashed about. Several boats in the Chicago yacht club harbor were also damaged.

STOCK MARKET

BEAR OPERATORS WERE ON THE ALERT

And Took Advantage Of Signs That Looked Good—Market Developed A Definite Downward Tendency and Closed Weak

NEW YORK, Sept. 7.—There were no changes of importance along the active stocks at the opening of the market today. Fluctuations were irregular with an inclination toward heaviness and were confined to small fractions. The only exception was Iowa Central pf, which gained two points.

The market developed a definite downward tendency. Large sales of U. S. Steel, Baltimore & Ohio, Lehigh Valley and several other railroad issues speedily aroused a bearish sentiment and stocks were offered down freely. B. & O. and Lehigh Valley sold 1 1/2-2 below yesterday's closing. Interboro-Met. pf, Reading and Can. Pac. 1 and the active list generally a substantial fraction. Iowa Central moved up 1 1/2 and the pf 4 points on the announcement that a new traffic alliance was in prospect.

The upward movement of the week in the market was halted today. Owing probably to the fact that the more urgent short covering had been completed, the demand diminished and during the morning the market was heavy. The bear parties did not attempt a renewal of selling on a large scale and trading was more listless than had been the case for several weeks.

Heaviness in Baltimore & Ohio was ascribed to selling by Bull. An outbreak of weakness shortly before noon in some of the Gould stocks frustrated attempts to rally prices but the list did not recede below its previous low points.

Speculation between 12 and 1 was quiet. The list hovered around the low figures of the morning. International Harvester displayed sudden weakness and sagged 2 1/4.

Losses were extended in the latter part of the day, the decline bringing U. P. and U. S. Steel within the range of one point recessions. Baltimore & Ohio and Mo. Pac. ruled 2 points below yesterday's close.

The market closed weak. Bear operators took advantage of the unmistakable signs of fresh liquidation and put out short lines confidently.

RUSH AT KEITH'S

Big Crowd at Box Office Opening Today

A youngster with a bunch of sandwiches which he calmly munched with the air of perfect contentment sat on the gold ston steps at the entrance of Keith's new theatre as the town clock struck the hour of four this morning. The cop on the beat happened along but the kid never moved nor showed any fear of the majesty of the law.

"What are you doing here?" demanded the officer.

"Waiting for the box office to open," replied the boy.

"Well, you better beat it for home. The box office doesn't open until 10 o'clock, five hours yet," ordered the officer.

"Not on yer tintype. I've been hired to be the first guy at that box office when it opens and I'm here on the job see. Anyone who beats me to the box will have to go some."

The youngster remained on guard and watched the crowd grow and when the box office opened at 9.50 o'clock, he was at the head of a crowd of over 100 people, some of whom had been waiting for hours and he bought the first 25 tickets sold for Monday's performance. The crowd began to gather as early as 5 o'clock and at 9 the entrance was packed, while many remained out on the sidewalk.

"There was a disposition on the part of some of the crowd to adopt football tactics and rush upon the box office at the hour of opening, and to prevent such an occurrence, as there were many women in the crush, Manager Will Stevens telephoned to the police station for two officers to come over and preserve order. Upon the arrival of the officers the crowd was compelled to get in line."

Ten minutes before the time announced for the opening Manager Stevens opened the window of the box office and the sale began. For the first hour only seats for Monday's performance were sold and at 11 o'clock considerably over half the house was sold for the two opening performances. Shortly before noon the rule relative to the sale of first performance tickets only was declared off and there was a rush of orders for the other performances of opening week. The taking of telephone orders began at 11 o'clock and the bell kept ringing throughout the day. It was the most satisfactory rush sale of tickets that has taken place in a long time, the management aiming to treat all alike, first come, first served. The theatre will open on Monday with a matinee at 2 and matinee will be given daily at that hour, while the evening performance will be at 8. The bill includes "Paris by Night," with a company of 15 comedians and dancers; K. Murray and Clara Lane in an operetta act; the Cylling Brunettes (Lowell boys); Fannigan and Edwards, in "On and Off," Col. Saml. Holdamoth, America's oldest professional singer; Gordon and Keys in a budget of fun and the celebrated Frey Twins, physical culturists and dancers.

STABLE BURNED

FIRE IN NORTH ANDOVER EARLY THIS MORNING

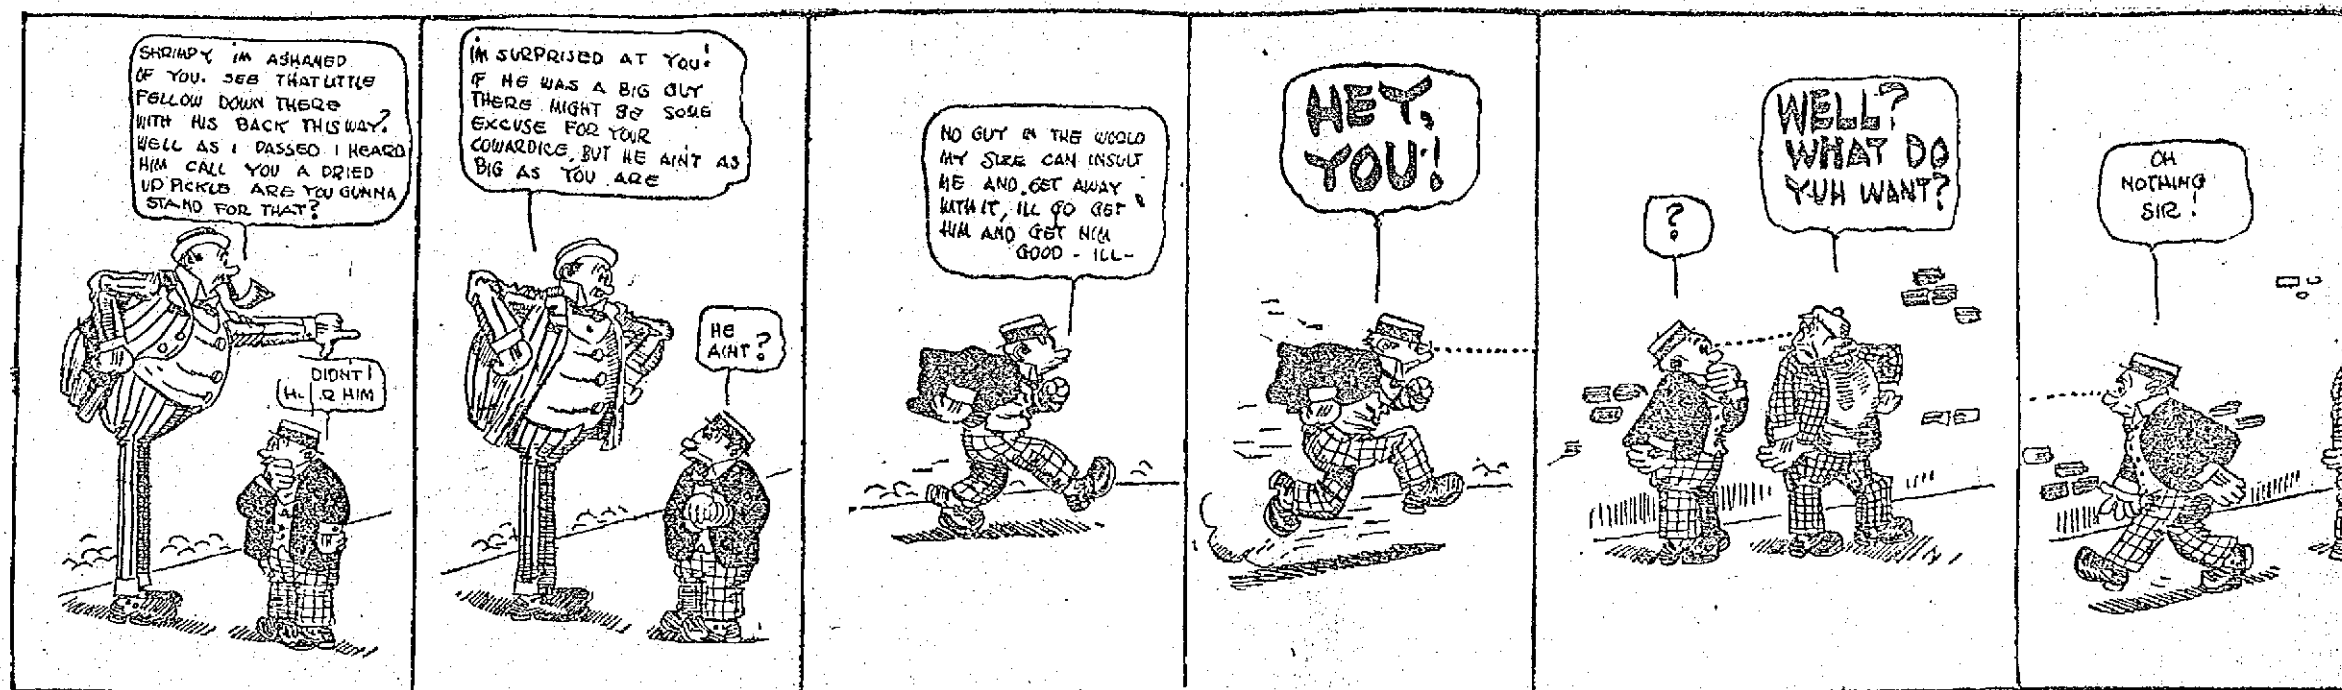

LAWRENCE, Sept. 7.—A fire which was discovered at 1 o'clock this morning destroyed a stable on the Stevens estate near Stevens mill in North Andover. The cause of the fire is unknown.

The North Andover firemen made a prompt response to the alarm that was sounded from Stevens mill, and saved stable and the house adjoining. A quantity of hay in the stable was consumed. The loss was $5,000 but is covered by insurance.

The property is owned by Mrs. Arthur Lovell, who makes her home in California. She is a daughter of the late Congressman Moses T. Stevens, who lived many years on this estate. The house has not been occupied for 20 years or more.

BANNER GAME OF YEAR

Wolfgang Puts it All Over the Worcester Bunch

The game of the season was played yesterday at Spaulding park and what happened is given below.

In the first place for three days the telephone of the business office of the Lowell team has been kept busy with out-of-town calls with requests for reserved seats to be called for while telegrams were received from Worcester, Springfield, Boston, Lynn, Brockton and even Providence for seats. Yesterday morning the reserved seats were practically all gone despite the threatening weather.

Owing to the possibility of no game the base-ball flag in Merrimack Square was not hung out until after 10 o'clock and in the meantime The Sun telephone was kept busy answering questions as to the weather and if there would be a game. At all the hotels traveling men used the telephones on their customers so as to be finished for the game while those who had dates in other cities cancelled them in order to be present. People who haven't seen a game this year and some who per-

When the game started there were only five thousand people on the grounds. Every available seat in the grandstands and bleachers was taken up and there were hundreds who spread along the right and left sides of the field and others who were contented to watch the game from the vicinity of the centre field fence.

There was a large attendance of out-of-town people, among them present being President Tim Murnane and Secretary Jake Morse of the New England league, Fred Lake, formerly manager of the Lowell team but now employed as a scout for the St. Louis Americans, and Patsey Donovan of the Red Sox.

Umpires Stafford and Rorty, two of the best in the league, were the decision makers and when the game started at three o'clock.

MELTON WOLFGANG,
Who Won His 27th Victory

Each team scored a run in the first inning. Aubrey, the ex-Haverhill captain and one of the best slab artists in the league, was the marvellous shining light in the first half of the inning by scoring a home run inside the grounds.

Weaver was the first man to face Wolfgang and he was retired on strikes. Bunting was the next man to bat and he hit to Boules and threw him out at first. Then came Mr. Aubrey and after letting a couple go by him he swung the willow on a nice one and the sphere soared through the air finally landing near the centre field fence. Both Fluharty and Barrows started for the ball but before one of them could secure it and throw to the infield Aubrey had made a circuit of the bases and scored a home run. Crum felt a victim to Wolfgang's puzzling curves.

In the latter half of the inning Moulton made a clean single and Barrows sent him to second with a sacrifice. Cooney singled to left and Moulton scored. Magee slammed the ball to Aubrey but the latter threw to second, getting Cooney and the ball was then sent to first for a double play.

Second Inning
Neither side scored in the second inning. Russell hit to Cooney and the latter made a pretty pick-up and threw the runner out at first. Haas fouled off to Huston and Needham was third out on a fly to Fluharty.

In Lowell's half Fluharty flied to Weaver and Wright hit along the first base line and was the second man out. Then up came Jake Boules and he singled to right field and Huston drew base on balls. It looked as though there might be something doing for the home team but Wolfgang closed the inning by fying to Crum.

Third Inning

The fans had plenty of opportunity to cheer in the third inning and many an enthusiast will have a sore throat tomorrow as a result of the cheering done in the third inning when Lowell sent three men over the plate. Worcester failed to score.

At the opening of the inning Burckett objected to the crowd in the vicinity of left field, but Umpire Stafford refused to order the spectators off the grounds inasmuch as ground rules had been made previous to the start of the game.

O'Neill was the first man up and he fouled off to Boules and Wilson followed with a foul fly to Huston while Weaver was third out on a fly to Fluharty.

In the latter half of the inning Lowell "fouled" Wilson and jumped on him with both feet and when the smoke of the battle had cleared away Lowell was three to the good. Moulton hit to Aubrey and was out at first. Barrows then approached the plate and he was presented a silver horse shoe bearing the inscription "Good Luck" which was the gift of some of his Lowell friends.

After thanking the people he responded with a single to centre field. With two strikes on Cooney Wilson tried to slip one on the batter but Cooney's bat came in contact with the ball and a single was the result. Magee flied to Aubrey and it looked as though the men on base were doomed to an early death but Fluharty ured on by the cheers of the fans singled to left field scoring Barrows. Wright followed by slamming the ball to centre field. The ball struck Crum on the shins and he bounded off and before he could recover it Wright had made second base and Cooney and Fluharty had scored.

A PORTION OF THE THIRD-BASE BLEACHERS IN YESTERDAY'S GAME

Boules was third out on a fly to Aubrey.

Fourth Inning

Lowell scored two runs in the fourth inning while the visitors failed to send a man across the plate. Lowell's runs were due to an unfortunate error on the part of Weaver.

Bunting was first to bat for Worcester and he hit to Boules and never had a look at first. Aubrey and Crum went out on flies to Barrows.

Huston started off in the latter half of the inning with a fly to Russell. Wolfgang hit the first ball pitched to him to left field for a single. Moulton followed with a fly to Weaver. Barrows singled to right and Weaver fumbled and both Wolfgang and Barrows scored. Cooney was third out on a fly to Russell.

Fifth Inning

Another goose egg was registered for the visitors in the fifth inning. Russell made a clean single to centre field but it did little good for he never got very far off the base for Haas flied to Fluharty. Needham flied to Barrows and O'Neill struck out. Magee singled to centre field. Fluharty bunted to Wilson who threw Magee out at second. Wright flied to Aubrey and Boules flied to Weaver.

Sixth Inning

Worcester scored its second run in the sixth inning. Wilson opened with a grounder to Boules but Jake allowed the ball to go through him and the runner reached first. Weaver drew a base on balls, the first free pass given by Wolfgang during the game. Bunting then followed with a fly to Barrows. Aubrey hit to deep left field for a clean single and Wilson scored. Wolfgang intercepted the throw to the plate and caught Aubrey between first and second and held Weaver on third. Crum was third out, Moulton to Wright.

Four Lowell men went to bat in the latter half of the inning. Huston flied to Needham and Wolfgang hit to Aubrey and died at first. Moulton singled but he failed to advance any farther for Barrows went out on a fly to Weaver.

Seventh Inning

In the seventh inning Russell hit to Moulton and was retired at first. Haas flied to Boules and Needham hit to Moulton and never had a peep at first. Lowell scored another run in the seventh inning. Cooney hit to Bunting and was out at first. Magee singled to right and Fluharty followed with another single to the same place. Wright singled to centre garden and Magee scored. Boules struck out, it being Wilson's first strikeout. Huston was third out, Bunting to Haas.

Eighth Inning

O'Neill was the first out in the eighth inning, being retired on a fly to Moulton. Wilson slammed the ball out to right garden and hit the ball about three feet from the ground and made a two bagger. As a result of hitting the ball he is entitled to $50. The fact that he struck the sign is verified by Umpire Rorty and Right Fielder Fluharty. Weaver flied to Magee. Bunting hit to Cooney and was out at first.

Wolfgang hit to Wilson and died at first and Moulton hit to Bunting and never saw a glimpse of the initial bag. Barrows hit to Needham and went out at first.

Ninth Inning

Aubrey hit to Cooney and was out at first. Crum got a Texas leaguer to right field. Russell hit to Cooney and in his anxiety to make it flu fumbled the ball. Haas flied to Magee. Needham flied to Fluharty.

Pres. Dan Clohecy Claims Hogge "Laid Down" to Lowell

CINCINNATI, O., Sept. 7.—Because President Daniel Clohecy of the Haverhill club of the New England league made the charge that Pitcher C. Bradley Hogge had "deliberately laid down" to the Lowell club" in the last game he pitched for Haverhill before he was transferred to the Boston National league club, the National baseball commission yesterday remanded the case to the National Association for investigation.

President Clohecy charged that Hogge had been paid off before he pitched the game against Lowell, but that he was fined $50 for indifferent pitching. Clohecy asked that he be compelled to pay the fine.

The commission in remanding the case to the National Association said the accusation involved the integrity of the game and instructed a thorough investigation and report within 10 days. Pending receipt of the report no action will be taken in the case.

Gray Wants Investigation

When informed as to President Clohecy's charge Manager Gray said: "I hope he investigates fully. He will find that the game with Haverhill was won on its merits. As far as I know there was nothing wrong about the game and I am certain there were no inducements offered Hogge, or anyone else to 'lay down.' The Lowell team can win on its merits and needs no assistance from its opponents."

singing and yelling. There wasn't a word out of them after the game.

PORKY FLYNN

Six of the home team got two hits each.

Immediately after the presentation of the silver horseshoe to Capt. Barrows, Lowell got three runs.

Martie O'Toole won again yesterday.

Jesse, the foxy old guy, now rings in another game with Haverhill, making it four that Worcester has yet to play. It was thought that Worcester and Haverhill had only three to go, but at the last moment a postponed game has been discovered and transferred to Worcester. This makes it possible for Worcester to get a tie with us where before, such a thing was impossible. If Lowell wins one and Worcester four there will be a tie. If Lowell wins two—Good night!

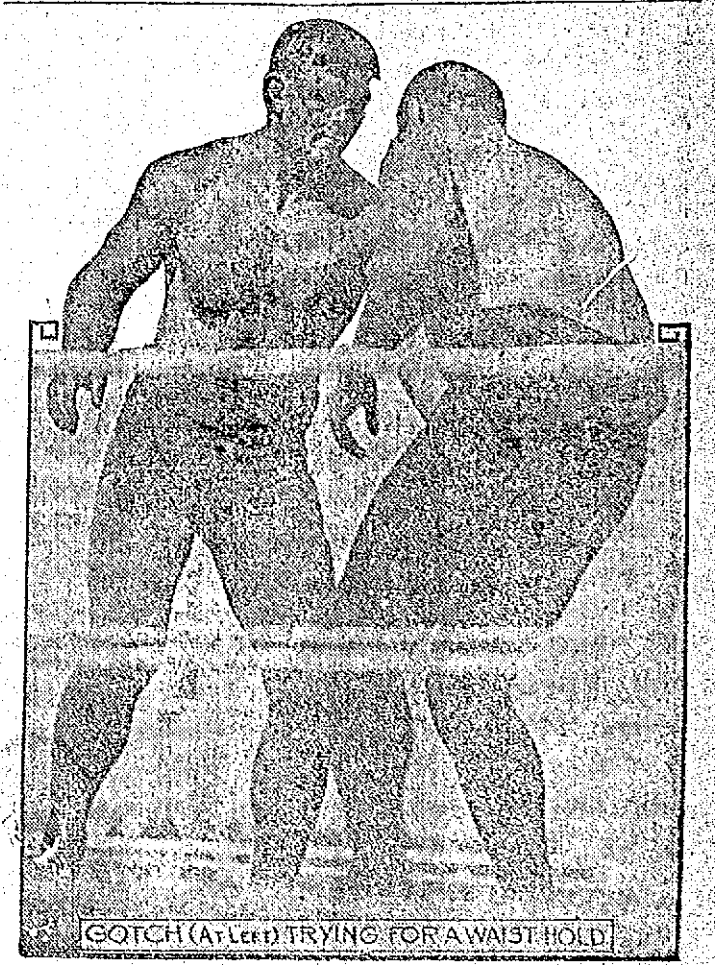

The Training School band will be present this afternoon.

In the New Bedford-Lynn game yesterday McGovern split his finger; Spring broke a finger and Pratt was injured at the plate.

NEW YORK, Sept. 7.—"Porky" Flynn of Boston gave "Fighting Jim" Smith of the Bronx a "razz" (boxing) in a 10-round bout at the Fairmount A. C. last night. In all the rounds except the first, which was even, and the seventh, which Smith had, Flynn smashed Smith all over the ring.

Flynn chopped Smith to shreds with left jabs to the face and left hooks to the stomach. But it was his "right-hand uppercut" that did the most damage. By moving away three feet from Smith and then suddenly darting in, Flynn-time and again ripped blows that had the lifting force of a bomb. Smith stood the punches with the fortitude of an Indian and was always willing to mix matters, but his blows were wild and seldom landed on Flynn. Smith landed three hard, right-hand wallops to the jaw, but Flynn took the medicine with a smile.

Flynn showed that his boxing with Langford had taught him many things. He sidestepped all of Smith's rushes and blocked Jim's blows with his right arm and shoulder. He used cool judgment, was cool and never missed a chance to send a crushing blow to Smith's body and jaw.

FIRST PHOTO OF MATCH IN WHICH GOTCH DEFEATED "HACK"

CHICAGO, Sept. 7.—The sporting bilities the man who ranked next to fraternity is concerned over the matter of providing Champion Frank Gotch with an opponent who would be able to give the Humboldt, (la.) sensation a hard battle for the world's wrestling premiership. Gotch's overwhelming defeat of George Hackenschmidt at American League park here, throwing the "Russian Lion" twice in less than twenty minutes of actual wrestling, removes from the championship possi-

There was no kick coming against Wright. He batted in three of Lowell's runs.

Christy Wilson hit the Bull for a two bagger, and hence gets the $50 offered by the Bull Durham people. Barrows and Tommy Catterson were the other two men to connect with the animal during the season.

The members of the Worcester team were very cocky before the rains. They marched through Prescott street in twos with bats over their shoulders.

The pennant is still in the air with the chances all in our favor.

Do not take any chances between the mushroom and the toadstool.

The street ciling controversy is likely to go on until it is too late in the season to do any oiling.

Almost every day brings new aviation records. Boston has reason to be proud of Atwood and Orington.

The New York police will deserve well of their city and state if they succeed in putting an end to the bomb throwing and Black Hand outrages, recently so common. They have captured some bad men and found in their possession bombs ready to set off. If lynching were ever justified it would be in blowing the culprits to atoms with the bombs they had prepared for others.

When Mr. O. H. Hell of New York came to the point of getting his name printed in large letters over a confectionery store, he decided that it would not look right, and that it would sound still worse. He applied to the courts for permission to change his name and the change of a single letter not only made his name "Hill" but put him in line with the other people who want "Hill" abolished.

The park board holds that it keeps within its appropriation each year and uses the money placed at its disposal to the very best advantage. Moreover when money is appropriated for a certain purpose, such as Shield park for example, it is not spent for any other purpose. If the tree pests have worked merciless havoc and if limbs of trees are in danger of falling, the board avers that it was not provided with the wherewithal to fight the pests or remove the dangerous limbs. Thus the board shifts the responsibility to the city council.

The onslaught of Senator Cummins on President Taft is the severest blow yet delivered by any of the republican leaders. It is more effective than La Follette's attacks because Cummins is not nursing a presidential boom and cannot be accused of having any selfish interest in assailing the president. The progressive republicans are furnishing good ammunition for the democratic campaigners who, however, have all they need. It helps, however, to be able to cite republican senators against a republican candidate for president.

THE STATE PRIMARIES

The state primaries to be held this month will be conducted under circumstances different from any held since the joint caucus law took effect. That law has been superseded by the new direct primary law, and all the party enrolments are wiped out so that democrats may become republicans and vice versa at the primary election on the 26th inst., but it is understood that no part of the new law can be construed as authorizing any citizen to vote both tickets at the same caucus. There is now nothing to prevent democrats helping republicans to nominate the weakest republican candidate, nor to prevent republicans slicing Foss for some obscure rival. It is not a very satisfactory state of affairs; but it will undoubtedly serve the purpose very well for the present. It has at least the merit of overcoming the objection so often urged that a man cannot vote for whom he pleases at the primaries, because of his previous enrolment. Some men believe it to be their right to jump from party to party as often as they please; but the men who vote at the state primaries this month cannot change their party affiliation again at the municipal primaries as three months at least must elapse between the changes. There may be some who will refrain from voting in the state primaries in order to be able to change their party if they see fit at the municipal primaries. If the new charter be adopted, however, party lines will not be considered in the city election, and there would be no questions asked as to party enrolment.

THE MAIL COLLECTING TURNOUTS

No doubt the readers of this article are quite familiar with the stamp of horse that is used in this city in the collection of Uncle Sam's mail. We have heard much of peddlers who drive very jagged specimens of horse flesh through the streets; but we doubt whether any of these would take the prize for lankness, leanness, for bowed legs, knuckle joints, spavin legs, hollowback and utter haggishness if placed in competition on these lines with the grotesque array of steeds employed in the mail service in this city during the past few years. Having seen the prancing chargers employed in the mail vans of His Majesty's service in England and the equally proud steeds used in the mail service in France and Germany, one would expect that Uncle Sam would not have his dignity insulted by having the mail carried by horses that any humane society would vote as suitable subjects for Red Acre farm where animals that have passed their usefulness may spend their closing days in well earned repose. It has become a common expression at local horse sales that when a horse is too feeble, too old and too decrepit for any other kind of service he may be used for collecting the United States mail either in the city or outside. The rig used, too, is so rickety as to excite ridicule. Uncle Sam should furnish a mail wagon, but then a decent wagon would call for some kind of a decent horse which would be foreign to the business; and as the postmaster general is cutting down expenses all along the line, we presume it is useless to remonstrate. If the men who contract for the collection of the mail are not paid a fair price for their work they cannot supply a first class turnout to go around the letter boxes. They are not to blame.

SEEN AND HEARD

The summer vacation of the public schools is now nearly over and the pupils are beginning to think of the "readin', ritin' and rithmetick" which they will have to tackle next Monday. Some of the boys and girls are anxious to resume their studies while there are others who wish that the vacation was longer.

It is a rare sight at the present time to see a hand organ in the streets for the hurdy-gurdy has taken its place but during the past few days an organ grinder with a monkey on a string has been making a tour of the city and collecting many pennies.

The Bay State Street Railway Co. reaped a harvest of nickels on Labor Day and many of the employees had to work overtime in order to give the many patrons of the road efficient service. Monday every available car was pressed into service and 12 crews of the local division went to Nashua in order to assist for the throng at the fair. Tuesday six crews spent the day in Nashua and today there are ten crews in the upriver city.

Dr. Emmett Wemple took his little daughter, 6 years old, down town with him the other day on a business trip. The doctor's business was with a consulting engineer and the little girl sat so quietly by while they talked over abstruse matters that the consulting engineer took a great fancy to her.

When the doctor left the engineer left with him and the three of them proceeded across the street. The engineer bought a bouquet of flowers for the little girl and not satisfied with that, escorted her around to a candy store and purchased her a box of candy. When she got home this is what she said to her mother:

"O, mamma, I've been down town and I met the nicest consulting engineer!"—San Francisco Chronicle.

EDITORIAL COMMENT

Florida Times-Union: In New York 1500 applicants for 15 jobs on the Interurban railways struggled so desperately for a place that a man's shoes were crushed in and he was sent to the hospital for repairs. Why not remind these people that we have room in the south for every man to labor and live without crushing the life out of his neighbor? Ten acres in the south will grow enough—one acre will keep the wolf from the door. One good acre can be paid for by a week's good labor.

DISCARDING SHERMAN
Worcester Post: The story of Taft's discard of Sherman for next year's ticket seems to be generally accepted as true. So there is a movement to run the vice-president for governor of New York next year. To meet the fact, doubtless, at the polls of Burr after Jefferson's discard of him in 1804.

INDETERMINATE SENTENCES
Boston Globe: A. H. Hall of Minneapolis backs the proposition to make all prison sentences indeterminate and to provide releases on parole, with the reason that "the deterrent of crime is not the punishment, but the fear of conviction." The reason does not seem forcible; making the punishment less would not lessen the fear of conviction, and the possibility of reducing one's time in prison by good behavior seems merely to put a premium on good acting.

AN OLD DIRECTORY

Deals With Conditions Here 72 Years Ago

A little, old book, Floyd's Lowell Directory and City Register of 1839, has found its way into this office. The volume is the property of William E. Dwyer, the well known Fletcher street barber, and it contains information of much interest to the present day residents of this city.

In its appearance and contents the book is in striking contrast with this year's city directory. It numbers in all 209 small pages as against the 927 large ones making up our present directory, contains six pages of advertisements as compared with over 200 pages now, and is in volume about one-eighth the bulk of our city almanac. When the two are placed side by side the difference between them is as striking as that between a prayer book and a family bible. When the directory was published the interests and questions at issue throughout the country were far different from those agitating us at the present day. At that time Martin Van Buren, who, by the way, was a democrat and a very brilliant one at that, was president of these United States and Edward Everett, one of Massachusetts' most famous sons, was our governor. About the same period Daniel Webster and Henry Clay were beginning their controversy over the then burning question of slave rights while the correlative issue of negro slavery was the national problem that finally culminated with the Civil War. Lowell, then in its third year as a city, had a population of some 20,000.

Luther Lawrence, it states, not whether he was mayor or alderman, was our mayor, while six aldermen and 24 councilmen, partly abolitionists also unknown, aided Mr. Lawrence in directing the affairs of the fledgling city.

The city charter, about which we hear so much nowadays, and which was granted in 1836, furnishes interesting reading to those of a political bent of mind. Comprising 27 sections, it sets forth in plain language just how the affairs of the municipality should be conducted and it dwells at length on the powers of the mayor and his associates. According to the document, his honor in those days had to struggle along with a salary of $1500 a year, but as the high cost of living was then undreamt of, he possibly even could put by a penny or two after his year of laborious toiling.

About all the corporations which are now engaged here in the textile industry were doing business in 1839. In fact, after a perusal of the directory, it would appear that these were the only industries of any prominence then located in Lowell. Connected with these establishments was a society called the Middlesex Mechanics' association, which was organized for the purpose of bettering the condition and assisting in the education of those employed in the different textile works.

Two banks and an institution for savings were located here at that time, their aggregate capitalization being $1,250,000. This is no mean showing for a small city in those days and gives an indication of the thrifty habits of our progenitors.

When a question arose over the ownership of any of this money there were in town, ready and willing to argue the matter, some 26 lawyers. These gentlemen, it may be supposed, gathered to discuss their cases after the adjournment of court at one or another of the ten hotels, or, as they then were called, "boarding houses," the Washington hotel, in all likelihood being the scene of their disputes.

Twenty-one physicians, who could, no doubt, pull a tooth in a pinch, advised our grandfathers as to the best discoveries in the science of medicine. That the citizens were then, as now, always ready to extend a helping hand to the poor and suffering is evidenced by the existence of a local dispensary where those unfortunate, having neither money nor good health were gratuitously sheltered and treated.

There were in 1839 14 churches and 27 public schools. Leading the youngsters in these along the pathway of knowledge, grounding them thoroughly in the three R's, were 43 teachers. No doubt many of the latter were members of the Lowell Lyceum and attended that society's meetings each week to read and discuss the poems of Bryant and Poe and the sketches of Irving. When the vacation time came around, however, the teachers generally made a trip to Boston, journeying there via the Boston and Lowell stagecoach. This left regularly once every day, and did the Nashua coach. The longest trip on this line was that running from Lowell to Burlington, Vt., a journey, the completion of which required two days and a half.

These coaches carried the mails. Sending letters to distant friends in 1839 was rather expensive, in fact, somewhat luxurious, for according to the rates published, a 400 mile delivery cost 25 cents. It does not state where a letter might have been sent C. O. D.

The advertisements in the directory, too, are of some interest. Conspicuous among them is the notice of a theological bookstore calling the attention of the public to an extensive assortment of bibles, missionary tracts, anti-slavery literature and Sunday school books. Surprising to state, none of the then "best sellers" appeared in the "ad." At present these are all the rage while the theological book store has not existed in Lowell for many a day.

Stephen Carleton, carpenter and joiner, "Middlesex street, opposite Cram's tavern, shop in the rear of his house," announces that "he will attend to hanging house bells or furnish a hand to hang them in good style." J. P. Norton, job printer, proclaims to the reading public that: "For punctuality, accuracy and elegance of execution, he refers to his past labors. Prices the same as those of his contemporaries—that is to say, very low." From this "ad" it is easy to see that J. P. was far more of a gentleman than present day printers can claim to be. The Mechanics' Cloth store advises all to come and view its large assortment of ready made clothing, pantaloons, stocks, bosoms, dickeys, etc., etc. That the father portion of humanity then were just as deceiving as now are their great granddaughters may be inferred from an announcement of William Thompson, hair dresser, to the effect that "puffs and curls are here repaired and made to order according to the latest fashion." In many of the grocery and tavern advertisements a puzzling phrase was one that called the public's attention to an "ample supply of West India goods." Whether the "goods" were dry or wet is not elucidated.

The Christian names of those occupying a place in the directory appear, in these days, to be rather unusual and are perhaps the most noticeable feature of the volume. Glancing through its pages one sees constantly such names as Phanael, Barach, Abigence, Elephalet, Achsah, or Zebulon. One gentleman, or possibly, a lady, in particular bore a peculiar name, that of Preserved Smith.

The Smiths were numerically the leading family in Lowell in 1839. In that year their present rivals—the Sullivans—could show only three representatives in the city directory. Whether the latter's present numerical strength is due to an influx of others of that name or whether it is due to a practical endorsement of the Rooseveltian idea is a mooted question, but the fact remains that they are fast encroaching into the circle so long occupied alone by the Smiths.

One name, then probably of little prominence, attracts the reader's attention. It is "Bullard Bonham, student at law with William Smith." The little book, therefore, can boast of one name whose owner later made it justly famous from coast to coast.

Referring to Centralville, then known as Centralville village, the little directory says: "This name is given to that part of Dracut lying on the Merrimack river, opposite Lowell. It embraces a circuit of half a mile around Central bridge, and is mostly laid out into streets, squares and building lots. Twelve years ago this tract was almost without an inhabitant, where now are from 60 to 70 families, and the prospect of a rapid settlement. There is an Academy, incorporated, called the Centralville Village Academy."

There were but nine nurses in Lowell in 1839, according to the directory, and their names were Mary K. Sanborn, Mrs. Susan Carr, Sarah Thorne, Mrs. Lovejoy, Mary Moore, Abigail Putnam, Sarah F. Gowell, Rebecca Hall and Mrs. Leach.

The list of churches and ministers is given as follows: First Merrimack Street church, St. Anne's, Rev. Theodore Edson.
First Baptist church, Church Street, Rev. Joseph Ballard.
First Congregational church, Merrimack street, Rev. Amos Blanchard.
First Methodist Episcopal church, Chapel Hill Rev. Ezekiel W. Suckney.
First Universalist church, Central street, Rev. Thomas B. Thayer.
Unitarian (South) church, Merrimack street, Rev. Henry A. Miles.
Second Congregational church, Appleton street, Rev. Uzziah C. Burap.
Roman Catholic church, Fenwick street, Rev. James McDermott.
Second Methodist Episcopal church, Lowell street, Rev. John Lovejoy.
Second Universalist church, Lowell street, Rev. Zenas Thompson.
Worship Street Baptist church, Rev. Lemuel Porter.

Third Congregational (free) church, Lowell street (minister not named).
Free Will Baptist church, Merrimack street, Rev. Nathaniel Thurston.
Christian Union Society worships at Mechanics' hall, Dutton street, Rev. Timothy Cole.

There were 27 schools in Lowell at the time when this very interesting little book was compiled; one high, five grammar and 21 primary schools. Capt. Jonathan M. Marston was chief of the fire department and his assistants were, Caleb M. Marvell, Thomas P. Goodhue, Joel Stone, Jr., Levi Thaxter, William Fisk, Aaron A. Sherman, Forrest Eaton, Artemas L.

Woman's Danger Periods Made Safe

By Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

The Change of Life is the most critical period of a woman's existence, and neglect of health at this time invites disease.

Women everywhere should remember that there is no other remedy known to medicine that will so successfully carry women through this trying period as Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, made from native roots and herbs. Here is proof:

Natick, Mass.,—"I cannot express what I went through during the Change of Life before I tried Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I was in such a nervous condition I could not keep still. My limbs were cold. I had creepy sensations and could not sleep nights. I was finally told by two physicians that I had a tumor.
"I read one day of the wonderful cures made by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and decided to try it, and it has made me a well woman. My neighbors and friends declare it has worked a miracle for me. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is worth its weight in gold for women during this period of life. If it will help others you may publish this letter."—Mrs. Nathan B. Groaton, 51 No. Main St., Natick, Mass.

ANOTHER SIMILAR CASE.

Cornwallville, N. Y.,—"I have been taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound for some time for Change of Life, nervousness, and a fibroid growth.

"Two doctors advised me to go to the hospital, but one day while I was away visiting I met a woman who told me to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I did so and I know it helped me wonderfully. I am very thankful that I was told to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound."—Mrs. Wm. Boughton, Cornwallville, N. Y., Greene Co.

The makers of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound have thousands of such letters as those above—they tell the truth, else they could not have been obtained for love or money. This medicine is no stranger—it has stood the test for years.

For 30 years Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has been the standard remedy for female ills. No sick woman does justice to herself who will not try this famous medicine. Made exclusively from roots and herbs, and has thousands of cures to its credit.

The testimonials which are constantly being published in the Pinkham advertisements are guaranteed to be absolutely genuine, honest, and given without reward in any way whatever.

TROUBLES IN CHINA

Are Reported to Have Become Serious

BOSTON, Sept. 7.—The disorders in Szechuan province, western China, have become very serious, in the opinion of the officials of the American Baptist Foreign Missionary society, which has its headquarters in this city. A few days ago, the society officials received a cablegram from one of their missionaries stationed at Chengtu, the capital of the province, telling of the rioting on the part of the natives. Today another cablegram was received which said "American consul advises us to leave."

The receipt of today's message has convinced the society's officers here that the situation has reached a acute stage and that the lives of the missionaries and the mission property are in danger.

MANY HINDU WOMEN

Don Men's Clothes to Get Employment

ONTARIO, Cal., Sept. 7.—"Tom," a Hindu laborer employed in an orange grove here, failed to put in an appearance yesterday and the only information the foreman could obtain from co-workers was that "Tom ver seck." The foreman investigated "Tom's" absence and was astounded to learn that "Tom" was the mother of a three days old boy, born since the gang quit work Saturday. The foreman's discovery led to the disclosure that many Hindu women work in men's clothes when they can deceive the foremen. They are nearly as large as the men and not greatly unlike them in physical appearance.

Some 50 delegates from the different conclaves of the state are expected to be here on that day, and the affair will be very interesting from every point of view for an elaborate program has been prepared for the occasion.

The convention will be held in Foresters' hall, Middle street, and will be opened at 9 o'clock by Commander Frank Bonan of Lowell, who will introduce Mayor John F. McMan, the latter to welcome the delegates. Supreme Commander Anthony J. Connolly of Boston will respond to the mayor's address and the business meeting which will follow is expected to close at 1 o'clock.

At 2 o'clock a special car will convey the delegates to Breary Point, Willow Dale, where an outing will be held. At 3 o'clock there will be a baseball game between two strong teams, this to be followed by sports, dancing, etc.

The Knights of Sherwood Forest of Massachusetts was incorporated on Feb. 17, 1911. It now counts 560 members and 11 conclaves in its ranks among which is Thomas Talbot conclave, 105, Inc. of this city, with eight more conclaves on the way. The supreme officers are: Anthony J. ## Anty Drudge tells how to clean the bath-tub

Mrs. Cleanaswax—"Oh, dear! Every time anybody takes a hot bath it leaves a greasy streak all the way round the tub, and it means a half hour's rubbing to get it off."

Anty Drudge—"Oh, no, it doesn't, dear. Just take a cake of Fels-Naptha soap. It will dissolve the grease in a minute, so it can be washed away with a simple rinsing. Fels-Naptha is the best possible thing to wash bath-tubs, sinks, china, glass or anything of the kind, as well as clothes."

Women who wash clothes with Fels-Naptha soap are discovering new uses for it every day. One woman has just written us that it is the best possible thing to clean porcelain bathtubs. So it is.

Also marble washstands, bowls, tiled floors, linoleum, windows, woodwork—everything in fact which has a washable surface.

Fels-Naptha soap not only loosens the dirt so it can be wiped off with a cloth, but dissolves it as well, scattering it into tiny molecules which run away with the wash-water.

Even the human grease which collects about the sides of a bathtub after a hot bath—is dissolved by Fels-Naptha so thoroughly that none will adhere to the wiping cloth.

Don't use hot water in cleaning things with Fels-Naptha. It isn't necessary.

Fels-Naptha will do the work better in cold or lukewarm water.

Follow the easy directions on the back of the red and green wrapper.

BOYS MURDERED

Their Bodies Located by
a Bloodhound

ABERDEEN, Wash., Sept. 7.—The bodies of the 12-year-old twin sons of Henry Beauer, a farmer, were found Tuesday by deputy sheriffs in a lonely spot 20 miles from Montesano and near the shack of the boys' uncle, John Turno. Bullet holes in the heads of both boys indicated the manner in which they met death. A posse is in search of Turno, who is missing.

The two boys went bear hunting Sunday. When they did not return at night the father started a search and later notified Sheriff Fayet, who sent out a posse with a bloodhound to take up the trail. A dead bear was found and it was first thought the lads had been killed by the animal. The bloodhound, however, soon found the bodies covered with leaves.

THE WOMAN MAYOR

Says She Will Run Town
of Hunnewell

KANSAS CITY, Sept. 7.—Mrs. Ella Wilson, mayor of Hunnewell, came here last night when she held a conference with C. W. Trickett, special investigator appointed by Gov. Stubbs to untangle the somewhat involved municipal affairs of Hunnewell. Mrs. Wilson has been having a great deal of trouble with her council since she took office and she is determined to bring the city fathers to task.

"I'm going to run that little town of Hunnewell," she said, "even if I have to call on Gov. Stubbs for the militia to carry out my orders. Mr. Councilmen have not treated me fairly. They have refused to meet with me and as added affront they have refused to make a law levy for next year's city expenses. I could reach no agreement with them, so I decided to come to Kansas City and talk the situation over with Mr. Trickett. He assures me that the state officers will co-operate with me in restoring peaceful conditions in Hunnewell."

MR. I. L. SHOWEM DISCUSSES SUFFRAGE WITH HIS M. I. L.

FOREST HILLS MURDERS

Police Say the Goldbergs Place the Blame on Others

BOSTON, Sept. 7.—Exhausted by their 17 days' journey from Trieste, Austria, Jacob and Joseph Goldbergs, two of the yeggs charged with looting the jewelry shop of Samuel E. Ullian at 1113 Washington street, Feb. 27, 1910, asked Deputy Watts to permit them to rest and collect their thoughts before making the statements which they told him they desire to make concerning the operations of yeggs in New England three years ago.

Deputy Watts was busy in court in the cases of the men charged with causing the death of Lieut. Whittier and acquiesced in postponing his interview. He talked with them, however, a short time yesterday morning and afterward said the prisoners told him some sensational things concerning the Forest Hills raid and other crimes.

They have already related their stories to inspectors Thomas H. Lynch, Michael Morrissey, Michael H. Cronin and Lieut. Hugh Lee. It is declared the prisoners do not implicate themselves directly in any of the murders and burglaries, but they are reported to have laid the blame on several Russians and Letts who they declare were members of an anarchist band with headquarters in Jamaica Plain. Some of the band, they seem to believe, betrayed them to the police.

The police say the men boast of the ease with which safes may be ripped up with giant "can openers" that is alleged to be the invention of Rothstein, another alleged member of the gang. What they say will be kept secret in order to permit investigation.

It was through investigation of the confession of Krasavski, who has been in Charles street jail a year, the police say that Inspector Lynch learned much concerning the other three, Rothstein and the Goldbergs, and which when told to them influenced them to make a full statement.

Their capture appears now to be of far more importance than was at first appreciated and the developments, the police say, will show why Dist. Atty. Pelletier and Deputy Watts were determined to get hold of the men, regardless of time and expense.

WARNING SIGNAL HEADED "NOTICE TO GAMBLERS" WAS REMOVED

ESSEX, Sept. 7.—There will be no need of the citizens of this town coming together as was talked of Tuesday evening for the purpose of appointing a committee to go before the officials of the Boston and Maine railroad for the purpose of asking their permission to remove a notice which was placed on the bulletin board at the postoffice, written on a Boston and Maine letterhead and bearing a headline "Notice to Gamblers," and containing the signature of "A. H. Hatch, station agent," at the local station.

The notice requested the alleged gamblers who were at the depot Sept. 3 to report at the station before Sept. 9 and hand in their names to the ticket agent. If they did not appear by the stated time they would have a summons served upon them.

Some time during Tuesday night somebody removed the notice from the board unknown to the ticket agent who was deep in his slumbers. From stories which are in circulation the notice had its effect, as seven young men of the town appeared at the office of the ticket agent yesterday and handed in their names, fearing arrest.

In the notice which was posted it stated that a camera was used in connection with spotting those who were engaged in the game and that pictures were taken every 15 minutes.

Some of the young men of the town doubted very much if there was a camera in operation in the loft of the little station, while others feared that the camera man might have been right on his job, and if they did not make a report at the office as ordered would receive a summons.

PRESIDENT KLINE

SAYS STRIKE FOR JUST CAUSE

WILL BE SUPPORTED

SACRAMENTO, Cal., Sept. 7.—President Kline of the blacksmith's union late last night denied that the international officers of the shopcrafts would refuse to sanction a strike of shopmen on the Illinois Central railroad. He said he was in close touch with Chicago and a strike for a just cause would be supported by the international unions. He declared, however, he did not believe a crisis had been reached in the Illinois Central controversy.

"I am for peace at all times, even if we have to fight for it," he said. "We have gone so far now that it is impossible to turn back and we don't propose to take the settlement of the other fellows. The various crafts have started a federation and will insist on its recognition."

SHIP'S DOCTOR

THE ROMANIC

BOSTON, Sept. 7.—Examination of the 315 Italians in the steerage of the Romanic of the White Star line for traces of cholera symptoms was made today at the detention station at Gallops Island. The 230 second cabin passengers and the Portuguese in the steerage were examined on the vessel and brought to dock in Charlestown. The ship's doctor reported that there were no suspicious cases of sickness on board.

SOCIAL AND FRATERNAL

The regular meeting of Division 2, A. O. H., was held in Hibernian hall last night. There was a large attendance and considerable routine business was transacted. Three candidates were initiated and five propositions were received. Plans were discussed for a smoke talk to be held in the near future, at which several speakers will be heard. Brother O'Hearn gave an interesting talk on the good of the order and the work of the degree team that has been recently formed. After the meeting, refreshments were served.

SCENE IN "AT THE OLD CROSS-ROADS"

THE OPERA HOUSE

One of the successful plays of past seasons will be the attraction at the Opera House commencing tonight.

"At the Old Cross Roads" needs no introduction, as it is now on its twelfth annual tour and is a recognized standard attraction from coast to coast. However, Mr. Arthur C. Alston, sole owner of this popular play, has spared neither time, pains nor expense in organizing a company of players for this season that is all that can be desired. In addition to the regular cast, a company of genuine southern negro comedians, buck and wing dancers, as well as musicians, have been especially engaged and is one of the most important added features. The scenery and effects are all new and there is every reason to believe that "At the Old Cross Roads" will be one of the treats for the patrons of the theatre.

Don't forget the street parade at noon today. Matinees will be given Friday and Saturday.—Adv.

TAYLOR STOCK COMPANY

The list of plays to be put on at the Opera House next week by the Taylor Stock company and Harry Moore will run as follows: Monday night, "In Arizona"; Tuesday matinee, "The Bishop's Carriage"; Tuesday night, "The Blind Girl"; Wednesday matinee, "Mother and Son"; Wednesday night, "Charlotte Temple"; Thursday matinee, "When Hearts Are Truings"; Friday matinee, "Charlotte Temple"; Friday night, "An Actor's Romance"; Saturday matinee, "In Arizona"; Saturday night, "Just Struck Town." With such a line of plays at popular prices the attendance should be good. Ticket prices 10, 20 and 30 cents. Matinees 10 cents to everybody. Lady tickets Monday night 15 cents. The sale of seats opens today.—Adv.

"THE GIRL IN THE TAXI"

Opportunities to indulge in hearty laughter are none too frequent in this life of strain and stress and the forthcoming visit of "The Girl in the Taxi" to the Opera House should not be missed. Laughter is the keynote of this successful entertainment which comes to this city with quantities of broken records for box-office receipts and large attendance to its credit. "The Girl in the Taxi" sped along without interruption for long runs in New York, Chicago and Boston, and promises to be the brightest spot in this season's offerings.—Adv.

"HIS HONOR THE MAYOR"

A gala night is promised, when that inimitable comedian, Harry Kelly, a well known favorite, comes in the person of the Mayor. The personal touch which this popular entertainer gives to the character adds to the general enjoyment which it provides. Miss Phelps and Mr. Byrne, Jr. are capable assistants in the correct interpretation of the piece. Next week the offering will be "The Suffragette," a comedy filled with rich humor and laughable situations.

A singing act that lines up with the very best heard hereabouts is being provided by the Original Cowboy Four, and Edward Graybe, known as The Tail Tale Teller, is causing laughs galore. Miss Eva Weston is the week's soloist, and the photo plays are the pick of the best makes in American and foreign markets.

HATHAWAY THEATRE

"Caught in the Rain" has caught the large crowds at the Hathaway theatre this week for it is replete with untold comedy served up in admirable manner by clever Donald Meek and his fine company of players. It is a play in which smiles and broad grins alternate and there isn't a dull or prosaic moment about it. In the leading role Donald Meek is given an excellent opportunity to display his merry savviness and he keeps his audience in fine humor throughout, now and then interjecting some of his own over-ready wit which enhances the gaiety of the dialogue. He is ably assisted in the fun-making by Mr. Rockcliffe Follows and Miss Elizabeth Hunt and the other members of the company. The play is admirably staged and great care has been given to detail. There is actually a rain storm of real wet water at the close of the first act which deluges the front of the stage momentarily. Next week the company will appear in Robson and Crane's great comedy, "The Henrietta," in which Mr. Meek will be found in a most congenial role, that of "Bertie the Lamb," the part created and made famous by the late Stuart Robson, one of America's most famous comedians. While with the Castle Square theatre company Mr. Meek played the part of "Bertie" with great success and was hailed by the critics as a most worthy successor of Mr. Robson in the part. "The Henrietta" is a comedy, and it is the only serious parts and Miss Marie Horton and Mr. Follows will be seen to excellent advantage. The seats for next week's performances are now on sale and may be secured in advance by telephone, $11. Those who have not witnessed a performance of "Caught in the Rain" should avail themselves of the few opportunities that remain.—Adv.

MERRIMACK SQUARE THEATRE

"A Forgotten Melody," the charming little one act play by Edward F. Payne, the noted author, which is being presented at the Merrimack Square theatre this week is chosen among the highest types of sketches in vaudeville. The story that it relates grips its audience at the outset, and holds the undivided attention to the close. As the old vaudeville musical master, Kendall Weston is seen at his best. The personal touch which this popular entertainer gives to the character adds to the general enjoyment which it provides. Miss Phelps and Mr. Byrne, Jr. are capable assistants in the correct interpretation of the piece. Next week the offering will be "The Suffragette," a comedy filled with rich humor and laughable situations.

THEATRE VOYONS

The leading dramatic feature of the bill at the Theatre Voyons today is "The Stuff Heroes are Made of," a biograph dramatic picture easily one of the most interesting and pleasing shows in a long time. The acting, staging and plot are far above the ordinary and those who admire the peculiar style of the biograph company will be pleased with it. The "Athe Weekly has a series of most interesting views of current events and that of a colored review of the latest fashions in hair dressing for ladies.—Adv.

SCENIC THEATRE

Five cents is a very small piece of money but that is all you will have to pay to see one of the best and most interesting and amusing picture shows to be seen in the city. This cozy little theatre has everything for the comfort of the patrons. Go in the first time you are on Middlesex street and see the lot of pleasure you get for a nickel.

A GREAT AUDIENCE

To Meet President Taft at State Fair

HARTFORD, Conn., Sept. 7.—The visit of President Taft to this city and the state fair at Charter Oak park today brought an immense throng of people hither from every part of the state. It is the first time that a chief magistrate of the nation has been the guest at an old-fashioned exhibition of the products of the farms of a state which is given over mostly to manufacturing. The disapproval of the position of the president on reciprocity by the executive committee of the state grange, which has a very strong hold among the Connecticut farmers and the fact that that committee would not make the day of President Taft's visit. Grange day had kindled an interest in the event, which spread widely. The morning trains gave evidence of the coming of people to see the president, whose previous visit was a flying one in November, 1909, after he attended the inauguration of President Shanks of Wesleyan university at Middletown. Today's program was for a short parade through the city streets to the new state library building, where a state church laid a formal welcome to the guests, numbering some 55, representing the state's official, business and political life. On every hand the city gave evidence of its welcome, for business houses along the streets were hidden under folds of bunting and flags.

ALLEGED THAT "MARRYING PAR-

SON OFFICIATES TOO OFTEN

WASHINGTON, Sept. 7.—An odd question was raised before the supreme court of the District of Columbia yesterday when the Rev. William I. McKenney of the Wesleyan Methodist church laid a formal complaint before the chief justice and asked that the license of G. J. S. Hunnicutt, known locally as "the marrying parson," to perform the marriage service be cancelled. Mr. Hunnicutt declared himself head of the People's Non-Sectarian church, but the Methodist minister charges that he has never been ordained, has no church and never had a congregation, and that his sole clerical function is reading the marriage service.

According to Mr. McKenney, Mr. Hunnicutt has a widespread system for advertising his services, railroad employees, cabmen and others being used to "steer" couples to his door. Between ceremonies Mr. Hunnicutt is a printer and keeps a small shop at Seventh and D streets, N. E. His home office, however, is directly opposite the city hall, where marriage licenses are obtained, and most of the ceremonies are performed in his office.

As to the non-sectarian church, Mr. McKenney in his complaint declares: "This consisted when organized of three other men, and then he secured a lawyer to get the license to perform marriage ceremonies."

The license was obtained a year ago, and since then Mr. Hunnicutt has married many couples.

THE PERFECT BATH

The greatest luxury of modern homes is the bathroom with its sanitary appliances. After bathing with plenty of warm water and dainty soap, drying with soft towels, a little Comfort Powder dusted lightly over the body and between the folds of skin, gives a most delightful sense of freshness and perfect cleanliness.

Comfort Powder is good for children and adults alike. It soothes and heals the skin, overcoming irritation, chafing and too free perspiration. The genuine bears E. S. Sykes' name.

THE BRADY GIRL FOUND

She Had Wandered for 24 Hours in Woods Before Discovered

STOUGHTON, Sept. 7.—Florence M. Brady, an attractive 17-year-old high school girl, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas J. Brady of 640 Prospect street, who disappeared Monday evening and for whom a general alarm was sounded on the fire alarm system, calling out citizens, firemen and policemen, who have searched the woods, ponds and streams, was returned to her home last night in a serious condition.

She was found lying senseless on the lawn of Charles H. Peck's house in High street, Randolph, late Tuesday night and was taken in and cared for until last night.

Alton G. Drew, 17 years old, who has been employed as a gardener on the Ames estate in North Easton, was arrested yesterday and is held in $1000 bonds charged with assault and attempting a statutory offense.

Dr. W. O. Faxon, who was called to see Miss Brady last night, will be in attendance upon her several days before she is restored to her normal condition, he expects. She is suffering from exposure and severe shock.

Before the show was over she left the hall with Drew and her sister went home alone. When Florence did not return the police were notified of her disappearance.

The younger sister went out to look for Drew and found him waiting for the train for North Easton. When asked where Florence was Drew became excited and frightened, it is alleged, and ran up the tracks toward North Easton. He walked home.

Tuesday State Officer John Scott came to town to aid Chief of Police Vanston in the search for the girl. Citizens searched everywhere for the girl. The officers went to North Easton and arrested Drew on a charge of abducting the girl. He admitted accompanying her to the show and said she ran away from him. He said he had thrown one of her garments and her hair ribbon on the dump. A search for these articles failed to reveal them. He in turn could not tell anything of herself until last night, when she told her experiences and Mr. Peck came here and told the police. Chief Vanston and State Officer Scott went to Randolph and brought her home in an automobile.

The girl said she walked down Pearl street after leaving the town hall with Drew and sat on a stone wall with him talking. Drew suddenly attacked her without warning, she said, and threw her over the wall, although she fought him desperately.

Jedediah Bird came along on the opposite side of the road, and hearing the noise stopped and asked what was the matter. Bird thought he saw a boy and a dog at play on the ground. Bird replied that there was nothing the matter, it is alleged. In that moment the girl got up and ran into the woods and escaped.

She was afraid to go home, so she wandered in the woods all night and finding herself in Canton in the morning she kept to the woods. She cannot remember how she came to be in Randolph Tuesday night.

She was without food 24 hours and was exhausted. When she reached the Peck house she fell on the lawn and went to sleep, she said.

She said one of her garments fell off while they were walking down Pearl street and that Drew picked it up. He gained possession of her hair ribbon during the struggle, she says.

Drew was confronted by the girl and then he told a story which agrees in detail with hers, the police say.

Late last night, the girl lapsed into a comatose condition again and seemed to be sleeping from mere exhaustion.

Drew is large and strong for his years.

He Formerly Played With Brockton Team

HAVERHILL, Sept. 7.—John Sheehan, better known as "Tippy" Sheehan, died yesterday at St. Joseph's hospital, Syracuse, N. Y., and an investigation of the cause of his death is being demanded by his relatives.

He was a native of this city and was aged 35. About 15 years ago he was one of the leading baseball players in this vicinity. He was also at one time shortstop for Bangor, Me., Newport, R. I., and the Brockton team of the New England league. He left this city about three years ago and was last heard from in St. Louis and Cincinnati, where he was engaged in shoemaking.

The local police received word late Tuesday evening of his death at the Syracuse hospital, but as there are others of the same name in this city, the identity of the dead man was not ascertained definitely until yesterday.

Inquiries showed that Sheehan was found ill and dying in a swamp near Syracuse. He had been seen for three days by people living in that vicinity, and as their suspicions were aroused they informed the authorities and he was removed to the hospital.

He was found Aug. 25 and remained in a semi-conscious condition until Tuesday. The hospital officials learned that he had a mother and sister here, this being the only information that they obtained from the deceased, as he was unable to tell them where he had been or where he was bound for.

The relatives have also learned that Sheehan was seen walking along near the swamp before he was found, dragging his right leg as though he had been injured. His right arm was also paralyzed. The hospital men have informed the relatives that they are puzzled over the cause of his death, and an autopsy will probably be sought. His relatives have arranged for the forwarding of the body to this city for interment.

$35,000 DAMAGE

Caused by a Fire at Peterboro, N. H.

PETERBORO, N. H., Sept. 7.—Fire ruined the big grain elevator, and adjoining buildings of this town early today, resulting in a loss of about $35,000. A wind from the north, the center of the town would have been threatened. The blaze started at midnight in the elevator, which is owned by Walbridge & Taylor, the proprietors of a large grocery store. This was burned and the Peterboro Transcript newspaper plant caught and was put out. The cause of the fire has not been determined.

WOBURN SCHOOL

WOBURN, Sept. 7.—Because of 14 cases of infantile paralysis in Woburn, the opening of the schools has been deferred a week, or until next Thursday. That action was taken by the school committee notwithstanding the opinion of the board of health that "there is no additional risk attendant on the opening of the schools on the scheduled date." No new cases of the malady have been reported since Aug. 23, and the health authorities feel confident that there will be no more.

Superintendent of Schools George I. Clapp expects the usual crowded conditions in the centre schools, but owing to the dullness of the leather business, Woburn's main industry, it is not anticipated that there will be a great increase in the number of pupils.

NO CHANGE YET

It is now the first of September, and there has been no change in the retail price of coal. A month ago the retail dealers in Boston advanced the price 25 cents per ton, but we determined in the Spring to make one price for the whole summer. Coal is costing 50 cents per ton more at wholesale now than it did in April, and we advise those who have not already placed their order to do so very soon.

The Horne Coal Company has taken particular pains this summer in laying in a stock of coal which is good old fashioned coal. If you have never burned Horne's Coal give it a try, even if it's only a quarter of a ton.

under indictment in New York on a charge of smuggling jewels into the United States are expected to surrender themselves to the federal authorities here today or proceed to New York at once.

Allen, who has been in Montana with his wife several weeks is due to arrive here today in company with his attorney. Collins is registered at the Downs hotel and it is said that after a conference with his attorney today he will decide to surrender himself here or go to New York.

SCHOONER SEIZED

Violation of the Fisheries Law Charged

GLOUCESTER, Sept. 7.—A dispatch was received last night by Fred A. Pearce of the Quantingham & Thompson fish company stating that their schooner Arbutus, Capt. Kemp, was seized at Louisburg, C. B., for an alleged infraction of the Canadian fisheries law.

The specific count against the captain and schooner is the purchase of fish at a Canadian port without a permit to touch and trade. The Arbutus has been termed a dory hand-line coast-fishing voyager to the grand banks, the fish being salted as caught. Not being successful in catching a full fare, Capt. Kemp sought to recoup by purchasing the fish.

Under a fishing register this it not permissible, although at times a clause permitting the purchase of fish is attached to the license, but it is understood that the Arbutus did not have this saving clause. The Arbutus is a new schooner of about 100 tons.

The usual penalty is a fine and it is expected that if the Canadian authorities find the vessel guilty a money penalty will be imposed. This is a peculiar case and a seizure for a similar alleged offence is not recalled here.

Quantingham & Thompson have been unfortunate this season. The schooner Arbutus, 17 of whose men were seized at Cape Race and fined $1000 in the aggregate for violation of the bait act in addition to the confiscation of nets, gillies, etc., also belonged to this firm,

Who Borrows Money?

HOUSEKEEPERS AND WORKINGMEN

WHY DID HE BORROW $25?

Because he owed that amount to three creditors. He was earning $10 a week, and agreed to pay each creditor $2 every pay day, saving him a balance of $4 to pay rent, groceries, doctor, and buy other little necessities of life and he found each week he was getting deeper in debt.

WHAT DID HE DO?

He secured a loan of $25 through us to pay off all his creditors, and now he finds it easy to pay us back in small weekly payments of $1.40 each, leaving a balance of $8.60 every week, more than twice as much as he had before for living expenses and apparently out of debt. Call and let us explain.

THIS DAY IN HISTORY

A ROYAL BIRTHDAY

SEPTEMBER 7.—Queen Elizabeth was born in the royal palace at Greenwich, England, September 7, 1832. She was the daughter of the unfortunate Anne Boleyn and her father was Henry VIII of whom the fact that he said, "better her mother was beheaded when Elizabeth was less than three years old, and she had not reached her 14th year when he went to his reward. He was succeeded by Edward VI who died in 1553 and by will gave his crown to Lady Jane Gray, thus excluding Mary and Elizabeth, to whom the succession had been promised by their father. Mary went after Lady Jane and got her. Then Elizabeth took the trail for Mary and the insurance company had to pay another policy. Elizabeth was in her twenty-fifth year of age when she ascended the throne, and was regarded as the matrimonial prize of the day. But she was over all the end of her days, and kept the suitors coming their heels in the hall for the forty-five years of her reign. She died March 24, 1903.

FOR A BRASS BAND

St. Louis' Parish Plans to Organize One

The members of Cercle St. Louis of St. Louis' parish received yesterday 14 instruments for a brass band and the latter will be organized probably next week.

This club of which Hector McDermott is president and Rev. R. A. Fortier, chaplain, has a membership of 58 young men, most of whom are able musicians. The members hold their meetings in the basement of St. Louis' convent in Bolsovert street. The rooms are well equipped and the place is a fine resort for the young element of the parish.

Sometime ago it was decided to organize a brass band and at that time it was also learned that Rev. Fr. Giroux of St. Anne's parish, Woonsocket, R. I., had a lot of fine instruments on hand, and the latter were purchased at a bargain. These instruments were made in Paris and were replated in silver by a New York firm, and they are now as good as new. There are 44 pieces as follows: 1 alto clarinet, 1 bass clarinet, 8 clarinets, 4 cornets, 4 trombones, 4 basses, 2 saxophones, 2 oboes, 2 French horns, 2 bassoons, 4 alto, 1 flugel horn, 1 helicon, 1 bass drum, 2 snare drums and five others.

To defray the expenses of these musical instruments, the young men of the club have decided to organize a whist party to be given in the school hall on Oct. 14. The committee in charge of the affair is as follows: Philippe Chaput, chairman; Hector McDermott, Antonio Trudeau and Adela Lequin.

The musical apparatus will be on exhibition at Sparks and Drouin's drug stores in Lakewood avenue and West Sixth street.

BISHOP FOLEY

TO SAIL FOR THE PHILIPPINES IN OCTOBER

The Boston Pilot of this week will say that Bishop Maurice P. Foley, D. D., who has been assigned to the diocese of Tuguegarao, P. I., will sail for his post of duty from San Francisco on October 14.

For several months the bishop has been making a tour of the various churches in the diocese where he has received substantial assistance from the faithful which will enable him to start on his work in his new field immediately upon his arrival.

The Rev. John E. Killon, who was a Malden boy, assistant to the Rev. Michael T. McManus of the Church of the Assumption, Brookline, will accompany the bishop.

In a public letter the bishop expresses his sense of grateful appreciation of the generosity of the clergy and laity, and especially to His Grace Archbishop O'Connell, Bishop Anderson, to the Rev. James A. Walsh, the Rev. Dr. Joseph McGlinchey and the Rev. James J. Keenan for their very kind treatment of him and their most generous assistance.

In closing the bishop says: "In the name of the priests of the diocese of Tuguegarao, in the name of the thousands of Catholics who are in sore spiritual need in that far off portion of the Lord's vineyard, and in my own name I thank most sincerely all our benefactors of the diocese of Boston for their generous charity and wish to assure them that they shall be always remembered in our prayers and at the altar of God."

Bishop Foley was born in South Boston. In his boyhood days he attended the schools of St. Augustine's parish. He graduated from Boston college in the class of 1887. He was consecrated bishop Dec. 15 last, at the Cathedral at St. Augustine, Fla.

STOP THAT DANDRUFF

before it kills your hair. You know dandruff is a germ disease and it leads slowly and surely to baldness and there is only one way to cure dandruff, and that is to kill the germ that causes the trouble.

Greasy salves will never do this. ZEMO and ZEMO SOAP kills the germ and are guaranteed to cure dandruff, itching scalp and all other germ diseases of the skin and scalp.

ZEMO and ZEMO SOAP are the true scientific remedies for these afflictions. To show our faith in ZEMO and ZEMO SOAP we have instructed the druggist selling them to refund your money if you are not satisfied with the results from the very first bottle and the first cake of soap.

We can afford to make this offer because one bottle of ZEMO and one cake of soap are sufficient to show their healing qualities and if used according to directions, they will effect a permanent cure.

At Nos. 110 and 112 Fayette street is a two and a half story, two-tenement house of seven rooms each, separate water closets, renting for $2.50 per week each. Adjoining, at 120 and 122, another two-tenement house of five rooms each, toilet, etc., renting for $2.50 and $2.25 respectively, per week. At 126 and 128, a two-tenement house of five rooms each, renting for $2.50 and $2.25 per week, respectively. Also stable with two stalls and carriage room, rented at $5 per month.

Now, for the investor or speculator, this sale presents a most unusual opportunity. First, it is to be sold for the highest bona fide bid; secondly its condition is exceptionally good, only recently a considerable amount of money was expended upon it. Again, its location, within five minutes' walk of Merrimack square, also in the very center of the very largest of Lowell's manufacturing industries, assures one of a steady income, as the tenements will always be in demand. The property is situated all in one lot, thereby making it a pleasant and profitable investment, as one is wasting no time in looking after his interests. The entire property rents for $175 per month making a total of $2136 per year. There are 12,732 square feet of land, with a frontage of 69 feet on East Merrimack street and 162 feet on Fayette street.

Attend this sale, as down-town property with the income yielding quality that will pay the revenue on the money invested that this property shows, is very seldom offered at public auction.

Terms: $500 must be paid in the auctioneer as soon as the property is struck off. Other terms made known at sale.

Committee on Streets Discussed Question of Assessments

The matter of assessments for the oiling of streets came up at a meeting of the committee on streets last night and was referred to the city solicitor with the request that he furnish an opinion on the question.

The committee had a whole lot of business on its hands. Hearings on petitions were followed by a business meeting at which action was taken on the various petitions. The members of the streets committee are: Aldermen Barrett and Connors and Councilmen Bowers, Davis, Elliott, Genest and Brady.

Mr. Elliott said that Plain street is in bad condition and should be repaired. He said the street should be paved with old blocks from Chelmsford street to Tanner street and that the work should be paid for out of the appropriation of the superintendent of streets. He made a motion to this effect and it was so voted.

The petition to widen Rogers street was laid on the table. The petition to grade and accept West Fifth avenue was recommended.

A view of Stratham and Deerfield streets was voted. James Gookin and Cornelius E. Collins spoke in favor of oiling High street from East Merrimack street to Rogers street. It was voted to ask the city solicitor to draw up an ordinance relative to street oiling and assessments.

The petition of Mrs. Mary J. Sherman that edgelines be laid in Bertram street from Sanders avenue westerly about 16 feet, was approved.

The petition of William D. Brown for edgelines and cobble gutters in Fremont street from Third street to Sixth street and the roadway put in proper condition, was recommended. The petition was opposed by A. Gross, representing the Simpson estate.

The petition of James Holtham for the abatement of the dust nuisance at the corner of Willard and Nineteenth streets was referred to the superintendent of streets with the recommendation that the condition be remedied.

Abraham B. Best asked that edgelines be laid on the westerly side of Colburn street and the easterly side of Tilden street; also that a granolithic sidewalk be laid on said streets and on Merrimack street from Colburn to Tilden street. No remonstrance. Petition recommended.

On the petition of Margaret Wheelock that Prince street be accepted from Moody street to the railroad crossing,

John H. Beaulieu appeared. No remonstrance. Action was deferred.

On the petition that Varnum avenue be laid out and the lines defined from the Pawtucket boulevard to the Chelmsford line, Harry H. Davis, Thomas May, William Regan and David J. William appeared in favor. William Barker and Mr. Littlejohn were opposed, saying that they did not desire that any of their land should be taken for this purpose. It was voted to refer the petition to the city solicitor.

C. F. Weston and Dr. Gage favored the petition to oil Riverside street, from Colonial avenue to Moody street. They were willing to pay the assessment. No remonstrance. Action was postponed.

The petition of Albert Charron for permission to erect a display post opposite 81 Merrimack street was recommended.

Edwin P. Mason and Dr. Gage appeared in favor of the petition to widen Mammoth road and Varnum avenue at their intersection by connecting the easterly line of Varnum avenue with the southerly line of Mammoth road by a curved line. There were no remonstrants and action was deferred.

Health and Beauty Advice

BY MRS. MAE MARTIN

Mrs. D. T.: No, you are not too old to regain your charming complexion, even though your face is wrinkled and beet with enlarged pores and blackheads. You can clear up and improve your complexion best by using the following: Graciously cream-jelly. Mix together two teaspoonfuls of glycerine, one ounce alcohol and a half pint cold water. Stir and let stand a few hours before using. This cream-jelly is unexcelled for freshening up a dry, rough skin, and accomplishes wonders in eradicating wrinkles, blackheads and freckles. After using this almost-instant remedy, you should find a big improvement in your complexion.

Rose: You must be a pitiful sight to look upon with so much burdensome fat. Instead of denying yourself the food you crave and undergoing tortuous exercises, try this harmless remedy. Get four ounces of borax and any druggist's glycerine. Put in a pint and a half of hot water. Make a tablespoonful before each meal, and your fat will disappear as if by magic. I resolve many ladies from those who have tried this simple, inexpensive remedy telling me what a grand thing it is. It cuts down fat rapidly and leaves the skin smooth and free from wrinkles.

Mrs. B. B.: Ignorance is the only acceptable excuse for a head of poor hair. With but a little care you can have just as nice a head of thick, lustrous hair as your daughter. In the first place never wash your hair with soap, as the alkali in soap destroys the hair, making it brittle, short, streaky and lifeless. Try shampooing about twice a month with a teaspoonful of cantharox dissolved in a cup of hot water. The abundant lather cleans perfectly, rinses easily, and dries quickly. You will soon notice your hair getting thicker, longer and taking on that beautiful healthy look so much desired, and you will no longer be bothered with dandruff.

Jean: Any amount of cold creams and the like will not take the pimples and that sallow look from your face. What you need is a good blood purifier and strengthening tonic to put a healthy color into your cheeks. Get an ounce of kava-kava and a half pint alcohol at your druggist's; mix together with a half cup sugar, then add enough hot water to make a quart. Take a tablespoonful of this tonic before meals and you will soon regain your lost appetite, sleep soundly at night and feel energetic. In a few weeks you will have a healthy color in your face and be feeling fine.

Society Bud: No, there is no way to change the color of your eyes, but you can easily make them clear, sparkling and beautiful, by using in each eye twice daily a few drops of a soothing tonic, made by dissolving an ounce of crystals in a pint of water. This strengthens weak, red eyes and relieves all inflammation. For granulated lids and other eye troubles, it is an unfailing remedy. Many oculists use this tonic with excellent results, and cures of glasses and it a big help.

G. A.: Powder will not cure a sallow skin. If you wish to tone up your complexion and give it that much-desired smooth, velvety look, use a lotion made with four ounces of spiraea dissolved in a half pint hot water with two teaspoonfuls glycerine added. You will find this lotion inexpensive and a sure remedy for freckles, tan and skin roughness. It takes away that sallow, shiny look and does not show on the face or rub off like powder.

Esther: If you want long, thick, silky eyelashes, with a delightful curl and softness, apply plain pyroxin to lash roots with thumb and forefinger each night for a time. To make eyelashes arched and thick, train by brushing and apply a little pyroxin with finger-tips. Druggists supply pyroxin in one-ounce original packages. Don't get any on forehead, cheeks or between eyebrows as it encourages hairy growths.

Fay: Unless the electric needle is handled by an expert, of which there are comparatively few in the country, you cannot permanently rid the skin's surface of that downy growth. A simple, yet effective treatment consists of applying a delicate wax to the offending hairs, and after two or three minutes rub off and wash the skin. You can get powdered delatone at the drug store, in ounces of which costs a dollar, but this cost is trifling, as a little of the delatone and water to make a paste does the work quickly and well.

A. L. C.: Don't worry, for modern science has given us a remedy for hair and scalp troubles that is simply wonderful in its remarkable effects. Get from your druggist a half pint alcohol and one ounce quinine; mix together in a bottle, then add a half pint cold water. Although a very simple, inexpensive remedy, this tonic rubbed into the scalp, about twice a week eradicates dandruff, stops itching of the scalp, and checks falling hair quickly. It keeps the scalp in a healthy condition and promotes a vigorous, natural growth of glossy hair.

CHAS. H. MARKHAM

Railroad Head Refused to Recognize Union

CHICAGO, Sept. 7.—Charles H. Markham, president of the Illinois Central railroad, is facing a critical situation regarding the threatened strike of

NEW YORK, Sept. 7.—The theatre crowds, surging out of the Astor, Gaiety and Columbia theatres at 11 o'clock last night were startled by the sight of a middle-aged man, who had taken a conspicuous position in the middle of Longacre Square, just opposite Forty-sixth street, attempting suicide.

The man, who later gave his name as Ernest Winzer, forty-two, single and unemployed, attracted attention by shrieking at the top of his voice. The avenue was crowded from curb to house line at the time, and everybody turned toward the man, attracted by his strange actions.

When all eyes were upon him he drew a razor from his pocket and ran the keen edge across his throat. He dropped immediately to the street, while women screamed and men turned away.

For a few moments there was a good deal of excitement. Patrolman Walsh, of the West Forty-seventh street station, who has a fixed post at Forty-sixth street, picked the would-be suicide up and made a hasty examination. Then he sent for an ambulance. It was nearly ten minutes coming from Flower hospital, during which period thousands of curious people gathered around the injured man, completely blocking traffic in both directions on Broadway and Seventh avenues.

Police were summoned from all the adjoining posts, along Broadway and did their utmost to clear the street. When the ambulance arrived it had some difficulty in getting through the crowd.

Winzer was taken to the hospital, where it was found his injury may prove fatal. He talked incoherently and the physicians concluded that he was crazy. They said if he recovered he would be sent to the psychopathic ward at Bellevue for examination.

Patrolman Walsh said afterward that Winzer entered the billiard parlor of the Hotel Astor earlier in the evening and was ejected by the hotel detective. Then he stood on the sidewalk and railed at the well-dressed people coming out.

"You have everything," he shouted, "and I have nothing. But I was wealthy once upon a time."

Then he went to the Cafe Madrid and shouted at the fashionably dressed women, saying, "I made a fool of myself for the likes of you."

Then, when ordered away by the police, he went out into the square and tried to die.

Boat Upset and Two Men Have Been Reported Missing

NORTH ATTLEBORO, Sept. 7.—Levi Roy, a New Bedford contractor, arrived in North Attleboro about 9 o'clock last night on an electric car from Pawtucket, drenched to the skin, and after securing a change of clothing and some food, went to Dr. Carey's office for medical attendance. When he arrived in town he was quite ill from cold, but is now improved. Roy tells the following story:

"A company of Eugene Bouchard and a man named Tremblay, all of us from New Bedford, went out fishing this afternoon on the Lonsdale reservoir. While out about half a mile from the shore the boat was suddenly overturned and we three were tipped into the deep water.

"I managed to reach the shore all right, but do not know what became of my comrades. When I reached the shore I was cold, wet and exhausted. I could see nothing of the other men. I paid a baker $5 to take me to the nearest electric car and thus landed in North Attleboro. I fear that Bouchard and Tremblay are at the bottom of the pond."

Dr. Roy of Central Falls, Mr. Roy's brother, was notified and he came here late last night in an automobile. He said that the men were at his place yesterday morning and last night there had been anxiety at the failure of the men to return. As far as could be learned here, Bouchard and Tremblay have families in New Bedford.

The Lonsdale reservoir is in Rhode Island, about a mile from Central Falls. Roy says that the accident happened in a strange locality to him, and that his landing in North Attleboro last night was because he had lost his way. He was in a serious condition when he arrived here, due to his exposure to the cold.

The police of Pawtucket and Central Falls were told of Roy's story, and they will endeavor to learn whether or not the two men were drowned in Lonsdale, R. I.

HIS SPINE WAS BROKEN

Man Has Entered Suit Against Locomotive Works

MANCHESTER, N. H., Sept. 7.—One of the most interesting surgical cases in the state will be described in the superior court of Hillsboro county when the case of Charles E. Hall of this city vs. the American locomotive company, the preliminary papers in which were served yesterday comes to trial.

It is a case in which a man with a fractured spine has lived, and Mr. Hall's case is the more remarkable for the fact that two vertebrae or sections of vertebrae were removed from his spinal column and he is still able to walk.

He brought suit against the American locomotive company for $15,000 for damages for injuries received on Dec. 2, 1905, while in the employ of that company. On that date he was working on the roof of a building at the company's plant on Canal street and accidentally fell to the ground, a distance of 43 feet. He claims that the company was responsible for his fall through not instructing him in the danger of his position and through not providing him with proper tools, ropes and ladders.

He claims that his back was broken in the fall and that he sustained other injuries and was compelled to have two vertebrae removed from his backbone. At the present time, he claims in his plea, he is partly paralyzed and crippled for life. He sets his damages at $15,000.

Mr. Hall, after his accident, was practically unconscious for a month, and nine months afterward he went to the post-graduate hospital in New York, where he was operated upon. Before submitting to the operation he was told that in more than 100 instances such an operation as he was to be subjected to had met with failure, and there was not on record a single instance of success.

Mr. Hall's skull was fractured and one of his arms broken by the accident, besides the injuries to his spine. His back shows a cavity where the vertebrae was removed. The operation was a rare one and attracted much attention among surgeons who watched the partial recovery of the patient with interest.

When Mr. Hall was able to walk about he went back to the company and was given employment as an assistant timekeeper until recently, when he was "laid off." Being left without means of support he instituted the suit for damages. He is 50 years old and lives with his family on Hanover street.

MESSRS. CHAS. D. BARNEY & CO.

25 Broad St., New York.
122 South 4th St., Philadelphia.

This Company has acquired a large Oil Refining Plant and Works fully completed and equipped on the Bay of San Francisco, with deep water facilities and upwards of 100 acres of valuable water front Real Estate.

WORKS.—The works are exceptionally well built; the construction being of brick, stone and iron with slate roofs to all important buildings, while the situation and arrangement of the plant provide for operating in a large way at minimum cost.

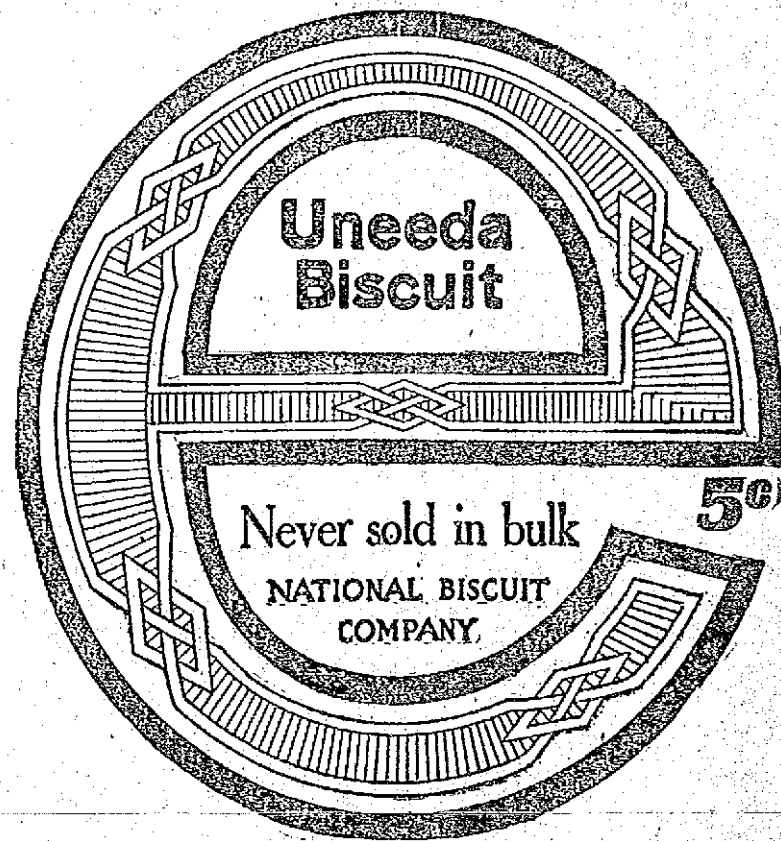

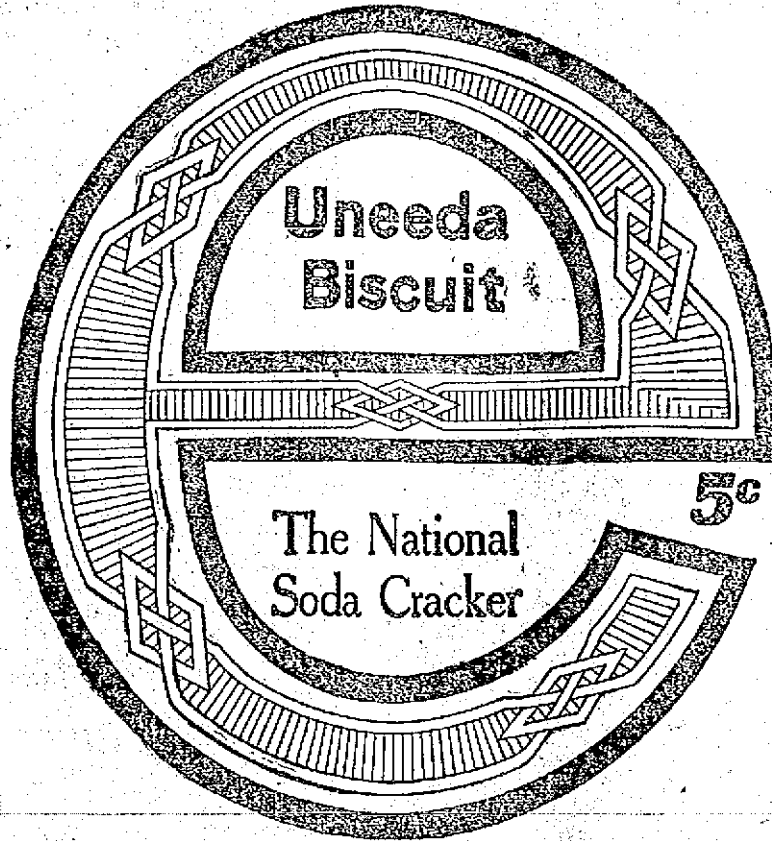

BUSINESS.—The business which has been done by the Works and is to be continued by this Company on a larger scale, is the Refining of Crude Oils for domestic and foreign trade, and this Company will direct its attention especially to the transaction of the Crude Trade in refined oils to the Orient. The crude oil is to be purchased direct from producers and the refined products sent to the markets of Asia and of all countries advantageously reached by the Pacific Ocean, especially China, India and Australia.

CAPACITY AND EARNINGS.—The works have a capacity of about 2000 barrels crude oil per day. It is proposed to increase materially this capacity later on. At intervals during the construction period of the works, some 60,000 barrels of crude oil have been refined, and the refined products have been sold to the foreign and domestic trade of the Pacific Ocean at a satisfactory profit. This profit should amount to approximately $2.00 per barrel when the works are put into full operation. With the present capacity of 2000 barrels per day, the net profits on this output at $2.00 per barrel would amount to $1,200,000 per annum, a sum sufficient to pay the full 7 per cent annual dividend on the preferred stock, and leave a balance available for dividends amounting to about 25 per cent on both preferred and common stock.

SAFE AND PROFITABLE BUSINESS.—This Company does not produce crude oil but transacts a manufacturing and export business purchasing crude oil from producers and selling the manufactured products to the foreign and domestic trade. The very profitable nature of the oil refining business is generally well known. On both the American and Asiatic sides of the Pacific Ocean the demand for refined oils is constantly increasing.

NO BONDS.—No mortgage can be put upon the property, or bonds issued by the Company in priority to the Preferred stock without the consent of every holder of the Preferred stock. This condition is endorsed on each Preferred Share Certificate.

CHARLES EDWARD ERTZ, President,
American Oriental Company.

Forest Prince Beats Longworth B in a Great Race

HARTFORD, Conn., Sept. 7.—The racing at the Connecticut fair yesterday afternoon was considerably the most interesting that the grand circuit horses have furnished since leaving Cleveland. A heavy shower early in the morning made it doubtful as to whether the horses would get a chance to appear, which kept the crowd down to rather light figures.

The circuit regulars were on hand, taking no chances of missing the 211 pace, in which Forest Prince, Longworth B and Fanny Stanton started. The affair the trio took part in at Readville foretold that their meeting here would be something worth seeing. It surely was, and after five heats the money went to Walter Cox and the little New Haven pacer, Forest Prince. Fanny Stanton continued her educational career without being a factor, and without her help Tommy Murphy's handsome pony could not handle the son of Cecilian King.

Five heats the pair smashed out from 2:09 1/2 to 2:11 1/2 and not until the very end was the outcome certain. After the fourth heat it looked as though Murphy would win, as Forest Prince came through the stretch badly-galled, seemingly tired. He was back the next trip, game as could be, outpacing the grandson of Online in a driving finish.

Cox drove a waiting race, never pulling out until into the stretch. This gave the spectators some thrilling finishes and caused some very fast last quarters. Not one of the five was slower than 31 seconds and in the second heat, when the prince fell short of catching Longworth, the two furlongs were paced in 23 1/2.

Murphy came very near to having one of the very few poor days he has experienced since the opening of the circuit, as Cascade, one of his crack trotters, was pretty lucky to get away with a race. The Massachusetts-bred 4-year-old took two heats handily, but in the third and fourth was outraced by Major Wellington, who had been unsteady earlier.

The fourth heat was taken by the Bingen representative so decisively that it looked a certain defeat for Cascade. The Major, however, dropped back into his misbehavior over the back-stretch in the fifth mile and made such a disastrous break that some lively stopping did not enable him to get within the danger zone again.

The 3-year-old trot went to Peter Thompson, as expected, but the fast son of Peter the Great did not warm up quickly and lost the first heat in slow time to Mamie Guy, a daughter of Guy Axworthy, owned in Holyoke, Mass.

Geers set The Harvester, 2:01, down for the champion's first stiff work since shown.

Buffalo, and a mile in 2:03 1/2 was the result, the last half being in 1:00 1/2. This was a remarkable performance, as the track was heavy underneath from the morning rain and never was the son of Wharfedale nearer the pole than third-horse place.

President Taft will visit the fair today, and The Harvester will be stepped through the stretch at speed so that he may see what the American trotter really is. Willy, the fastest European-bred trotter, will also be shown.

While swimming in the Merrimack on the boulevard side near the Gaudette farm yesterday afternoon, a boy named Jimmie Wright found an empty canoe floating down the river. The canoe had not been overturned and probably had drifted away from one of the up-river camps.

DIAMOND NOTES

We're pretty close to the pennant.

Wow! Wasn't that some game.

Everybody was there.

The biggest midweek crowd in local history.

The fans were disappointed because Burkett was not out on the coach line.

Jesse was wise and kept in the background.

Wolfgang was right there with the goods and Fred Lake was mightily pleased.

There was no kick coming against Wright. He batted in three of Lowell's runs.

Christy Wilson hit the Bull for a two bagger, and hence gets the $50 offered by the Bull Durham people.

Barrows and Tommy Catterson were the other two men to connect with the animal during the season.

The members of the Worcester team were very cocky before the game. They marched through Prescott street in twos with bats over their shoulders singing and yelling. There wasn't a word out of them after the game.

Six of the home team got two hits each.

JEWELRY STOLEN

$12,000 in Gems Taken by Burglar

COHASSET, Sept. 7.—Although one of the most daring burglaries ever known in this state was pulled off in this town a month ago the facts did not leak out until yesterday. The story has astounded the summer residents along the whole south shore, and it is almost the one subject of conversation.

Approximately $12,000 worth of jewels and treasured heirlooms were stolen from a cabinet in the summer home of Edward D. Bayley on Jerusalem road, Aug. 3. The cabinet stood within two feet of Mrs. Bayley's head while she was asleep in bed.

There are 17 articles of jewelry missing, including a famous necklace of pearls valued at $5000 and four diamond rings worth $2100. Although detectives have been employed and the police of the town and neighboring towns and cities have been kept at work on the case, every effort to recover the articles has failed.

Apparently, the burglar had an intimate knowledge of the interior of the Bayley home. He is supposed to have entered the large residence through a cellar window and at once headed for Mrs. Bayley's sleeping apartment, evidently knowing where the jewels were kept and finding his way there without difficulty.

This makes the case somewhat of a mystery. The police state, however, that several windows in the house were open at the time and protected only by screens, so that the burglar's entrance may have been through one of these.

At first it was thought that the theft might have been the work of a servant. Detectives who have worked on the case, however, freed the servants of suspicion. The efforts of the detectives are now being directed towards locating a scoundrel in a lady who had been observed in the vicinity of the house before the break and has not been seen since.

Ever since the burglary the Hayses have persistently objected to having any report of it go to the newspapers. Tuesday, however, it was learned that the thief, in his hurry, overlooked three diamond brooches which were lying in a tray upon the top of the table standing beside the jewel cabinet in which the necklaces and the rings were kept.

The lock on the cabinet was gently forced and the jewelry then removed. No notes could have been made or Mrs. Bayley, who is a light sleeper, would have been awakened. The loss of the jewels was not discovered until Mrs. Bayley happened to notice that the lock had been tampered with.

THE COURSES OF STUDY

All of the public schools including the industrial schools for boys and girls will open on Monday, Sept. 11. The lion's share of the interest in the opening of the schools centres in the industrial school for it is a new departure and great things are expected of this branch of public education. The school committees in the various towns have written to the state board of education endorsing the industrial school in this city. All pupils who are over 14 years of age are entitled to enter this school, regardless of what place in Massachusetts they may live.

Out of town pupils who desire to attend the Lowell industrial school, both boys and girls, may write to or see Principal Wm. H. Dooley, at the office of the superintendent of schools, city hall, Lowell. The Old Bartlett school in Clark street and facing the North common will be the industrial school for boys, and the girls department will be in the Morrill school in Adams street.

The courses of studies as prepared by Principal Dooley and given the press today, are as follows:

The Boys' School

The industrial school for boys will open in the old Bartlett school house, Clark street, facing North common on Sept. 11.

The city of Lowell has established a free industrial day school for boys and girls of 14 years of age or over. The school will give a preliminary training for boys in the following trades: Carpenter, architectural draftsman, cabinet maker, machinist, mechanical draftsman, electrician, engineer, automobile repairing.

Carpenter.—The course providing training for the trade of carpenter will consist of shop practice and science, study of building materials, architectural drawing, mathematics, English and civics.

Architectural drawing.—This course differs from the carpenter's course in having much of the shop work replaced by work in the drafting room, on building construction.

Cabinet making.—This course differs from the carpenter's in having more time devoted to office furniture, etc., than to the building trade work.

Machinist.—This course, in addition to English and civics, includes machine shop work, the mathematics underlying machine shop work, study of materials, drawing, and some work in steam and electricity. The shop work will consist of practice in the usual operations common to machine shop work.

Mechanical draftsman.—The mechanical draftsman course will be similar to the machinist's course with much less shop work and more practice in the drawing room on machine shop work.

Electrician.—This course will deal with practical and theoretical electricity, and will include electric wiring, building motors, winding armatures, testing and repairing circuits, and practical experience in the electric power station, etc. In addition there will be special mathematics applied to electrical work, and English and civics will be taught.

Engineer.—This course deals with the theory and practice of steam work. It includes in addition English and civics, some machine shop practice, and mathematics.

The subjects of English Industrial History, civics and citizenship will also be officially taught. The school has an excellent equipment. No boy will be admitted unless his record shows him to be of good character. Principal Dooley says the school appeals to boys whose parents now send them to High school or grammar schools and who do work in the classics and literary branches after a fashion, but who can be raised and better educated along the lines of a practical education. It is for the child who does not like "to study," but who wants to see things and know their use; for the pupil who is of a practical rather than an academic mind.

Boys whose parents do not feel that they can afford to give more time to the child for purely academic work, yet can afford further education if it will aid him in getting started in some form of skilled industrial work.

The courses of study are planned with the following conditions in mind: That while the school will offer a three years' course in the useful arts, it recognizes the fact that many children cannot afford to give so much time to education beyond fourteen years of age. Hence the work is planned so that the work of each year is, so far as it goes, complete in itself; that nothing is taught on the theory that it will be of value at some later period in the course, and so that whatever time the pupil leaves the school he will have had, up to that time, the best preparation when the school can give.

School for Girls

The girls' department will be opened at the Morrill school—Adams street, opposite North common.

This school is for girls of fourteen or over of the city of Lowell and the surrounding towns.

This school is organized for the training of girls for life activities and duties; to give them a training in the branches of knowledge and the trades that are most useful in gaining a livelihood. To meet these requirements, the industrial school offers courses in housekeeping, dressmaking and power machine work.

Housekeeping course.—The housekeeping course includes everything that makes and keeps a house in good condition to live in. To get a hundred cents' worth out of every dollar you spend for food and clothes. It will include English, history, civics, home arithmetic, cooking, hygiene, dressmaking, laundry work and care of furniture.

Dressmaking course.—This course is planned to fit a girl for the dressmaking trade and is similar to the housekeeping course only that more time is devoted to dressmaking and it is more of a commercial character. In addition, design and color, salesmanship and textiles are taught, preparing the girl for the sales department of a dry goods store.

Power work course.—This is similar to the dressmaking course only that considerable more time is devoted to practice on a power machine.

Afternoon Trade Classes

Trade classes in dressmaking and housekeeping will be established during the afternoon for women or girls who work or who find it inconvenient to attend day or evening sessions.

The school appeals to girls whose parents now send them to the High school and who do the work in the classics, but who have a practical rather than an academic mind and to girls whose parents do not feel that they can afford to give more time to their daughters for purely academic work, yet would give the child a further education if it will aid her in getting started in some form of skilled industrial work.

IN HAVERHILL GAME

Pres. Dan Clohecy Claims Hogge "Laid Down" to Lowell

CINCINNATI, O., Sept. 7.—Because President Daniel Clohecy of the Haverhill club of the New England league made the charge that Pitcher C. Bradley Hogge had "deliberately laid down" to the Lowell club in the last game he pitched for Haverhill before he was transferred to the Boston National league club, the National baseball commission yesterday remanded the investigation. President Clohecy charged that Hogge had been paid off before he pitched the game against Lowell, but that he was fined $50 for indifferent pitching. Clohecy asked that he be compelled to pay the fine. The commission in remanding the case to the National Association said the investigation involved the integrity of the game and instructed a thorough investigation and report within 10 days. Pending receipt of the report no action will be taken in the case.

Gray Wants Investigation

When informed as to President Clohecy's charge, Manager Gray said: "I hope he investigates fully. He will find that the game with Haverhill was won on its merits. As far as I know there was nothing wrong about the game and I am certain there were no inducements offered Hogge, or anyone else to 'lay down.' The Lowell team can win on its merits and needs no assistance from its opponents."

AMATEUR GOLF CHAMPIONSHIP

MANCHESTER, Sept. 7.—Although G. W. Rotan, Merrimack Valley, out-drove J. G. Anderson, Woodland, on most of the holes in the first half of the final match for the Massachusetts amateur golf championship, on the Essex county club links today, his approaching and putting were so erratic that Anderson had a lead of 3 up at the end of the first 16 holes. Rotan was coming strong at that time, however, having won the 14, 15 and 16 holes and halved the 17th and 18th. Anderson, who is a former state champion, played a particularly steady game up to the 18th hole, going out in 36 and negotiating the 12th hole in two. The second round of 16 holes was played this afternoon.

PORKY FLYNN

NEW YORK, Sept. 7.—"Porky" Flynn of Boston gave "Fighting Jim" Smith of the Bronx a fine thrashing in a 10-round bout at the Fairmount A. C. last night. In all the rounds except the first, which was even, and the seventh, which Smith had, Flynn smashed Smith all over the ring. Flynn chopped Smith to shreds with left jabs to the face and left hooks to the stomach. But it was his right hand uppercut that did the most damage. By moving away three feet from Smith and then suddenly ripping blows that had the lifting force of a bomb, Flynn time and again ripped blows that had the lifting force of a bomb. Smith stood the punches with the fortitude of an Indian and was always willing to mix matters, but his blows were wild and seldom landed on Flynn. Flynn landed three hard right-hand wallops to the jaw, but Flynn took the medicine with a smile.

Flynn showed that his boxing with Langford had taught him many things. He sidestepped all of Smith's rushes and blocked Jim's blows with his right arm and shoulder. He used good judgment, was cool and never missed a chance to send a crushing blow to Smith's body and jaw.

The pennant is still in the air with the chances all in our favor.

Do not take any chances between the mushroom and the loudstool.

The street oiling controversy is likely to go on until it is too late in the season to do any oiling.

Almost every day brings new aviation records. Boston has reason to be proud of Alwood and Ovington.

The New York police will deserve well of their city and state if they succeed in putting an end to the bomb throwing and Black Hand outrages, recently so common. They have captured some bad men and found in their possession bombs ready to set off. If lynching were ever justified it would be in blowing the culprits to atoms with the bombs they had prepared for others.

When Mr. O. H. Hell of New York came to the point of getting his name printed in large letters over a confectionery store, he decided that it would not look right, and that it would sound still worse. He applied to the courts for permission to change his name and the change of a single letter not only made his name "Hill" but put him in line with the other people who want "Hell" abolished.

The park board holds that it keeps within its appropriation each year and uses the money placed at its disposal to the very best advantage. Moreover when money is appropriated for a certain purpose, such as Shedd park for example, it is not spent for any other purpose. If the tree pests have worked merciless havoc and if limbs of trees are in danger of falling, the board avers that it was not provided with the wherewithal to fight the pests or remove the dangerous limbs. Thus the board shifts the responsibility to the city council.

The onslaught of Senator Cummins on President Taft is the severest blow yet delivered by any of the republican leaders. It is more effective than La Follette's attacks because Cummins is not nursing a presidential boom and cannot be accused of having any selfish interest in assailing the president. The progressive republicans are furnishing good ammunition for the democratic campaigners who, however, have all they need. It helps, however, to be able to cite republican senators against a republican candidate for president.

THE STATE PRIMARIES

The state primaries to be held this month will be conducted under circumstances different from any held since the joint caucus law took effect. That law has been superseded by the new direct primary law, and all the party enrolments are wiped out so that democrats may become republicans and vice versa at the primary election on the 26th inst., but it is understood that no part of the new law can be construed as authorizing any citizen to vote both tickets at the same caucus. There is now nothing to prevent democrats helping republicans to nominate the weakest republican candidate, nor to prevent republicans siding with some obscure rival. It is not a very satisfactory state of affairs; but it will undoubtedly serve the purpose very well for the present. It has at least the merit of overcoming the objection so often urged that a man cannot vote for whom he pleases at the primaries, because of his previous enrolment. Some men believe it to be their right to jump from party to party as often as they please; but the men who vote at the state primaries this month cannot change their party affiliation again at the municipal primaries as three months at least must elapse between the changes. There may be some who will refrain from voting in the state primaries in order to be able to change their party if they see fit at the municipal primaries. If the new charter be adopted, however, party lines will not be considered in the city election, and there would be no questions asked as to party enrolment.

THE MAIL COLLECTING TURNOUTS

No doubt the readers of this article are quite familiar with the stamp of horse that is used in this city in the collection of Uncle Sam's mail. We have heard much of peddlers who drive very jagged specimens of horse flesh through the streets; but we doubt whether any of these would take the prize for lankness, leanness, for bowed legs, knuckle joints, spavin legs, hollowback and utter piggishness if placed in competition on these lines with the grotesque array of steeds employed in the mail service in this city during the past few years. Having seen the prancing chargers employed in the mail vans of His Majesty's service in England and the equally proud steeds used in the mail service in France and Germany, one would expect that Uncle Sam would not have his dignity insulted by having the mail carried by horses that any humane society would vote as suitable subjects for Red Acre farm where animals that have passed their usefulness may spend their closing days in well earned repose. It has become a common expression at local horse sales that when a horse is too feeble, too old and too decrepit for any other kind of service he may be used for collecting the United States mail either in the city or outside. The rig used, too, is so rickety as to excite ridicule. Uncle Sam should furnish a mail wagon, but then a decent wagon would call for some kind of a decent horse which would be foreign to the business; and as the postmaster general is cutting down expenses all along the line, we presume it is useless to remonstrate. If the men who contract for the collection of the mail are not paid a fair price for their work they cannot supply a first class turnout to go around the letter boxes. They are not to blame.

SEEN AND HEARD

The summer vacation of the public schools is now nearly over and the pupils are beginning to think of the "readin', ritin', and rithmetick" which they will have to tackle next Monday. Some of the boys and girls are anxious to resume their studies while there are others who wish that the vacation was longer.

It is a rare sight at the present time to see a hand organ in the streets for the hurdy-gurdy has taken its place but during the past few days an organ grinder with a monkey on a string has been making a tour of the city and collecting many pennies.

The Bay State Street Railway Co. reaped a harvest of nickels on Labor Day and many of the employees had to work overtime in order to give the many patrons of the road efficient service. Monday every available car was pressed into service and 12 crews of the local division went to Nashua in order to assist for the throng at the fair. Tuesday six crews spent the day in Nashua and today there are ten crews in the apricot city.

Dr. Emmett Wemple took his little daughter, 8 years old, down town with him the other day on a business trip. The doctor's business was with a consulting engineer and the little girl sat so quietly by while they talked over abstruse matters that the consulting engineer took a great fancy to her.

When the doctor left the engineer left with him and the three of them proceeded across the street. The engineer bought a bouquet of flowers for the little girl and, not satisfied with that, escorted her around to a candy store and purchased her a box of candy.

When she got home this is what she said to her mother:

"O mamma, I've been down town and I met the nicest consulting engineer!"—San Francisco Chronicle.

EDITORIAL COMMENT

Florida Times-Union. In New York 1500 applicants for 15 jobs on the suburban railways struggled so desperately for a place that a man's ribs were crushed in and he was sent to the hospital for repairs. Why not remind these people that we have room in the south for every man to labor and live without crushing the life out of his neighbor? Ten acres of Florida will prove enough—one acre will keep the wolf from the door. One good acre can be paid for by a week's good labor.

DISCARDING SHERMAN

Worcester Post. The story of Taft's discard of Sherman for next year's ticket seems to be generally accepted as true. So there is a movement to run the vice-president for governor of New York next year—to meet the fate doubtless, at the polls of Burr after Jefferson's discard of him in 1804.

INDETERMINATE SENTENCES

Boston Globe. A. H. Hall of Minneapolis backs the proposition to make all prison sentences indeterminate and to provide releases on parole, with the reason that "the deterrent of crime is not the punishment, but the fear of conviction." The reason does not seem forceful; making the punishment less would not lessen the fear of conviction, and the possibility of release in a short time by good behavior seems merely to put a premium on good acting.

AN OLD DIRECTORY

Deals With Conditions Here 72 Years Ago

A little, old book, Floyd's Lowell Directory and City Register of 1839, has found its way into this office. The volume is the property of William E. Dwyer, the well known Fletcher street barber, and it contains information of much interest to the present day residents of this city.

In its appearance and contents the book is in striking contrast with this year's city directory. It numbers in all 269 small pages against the 927 large ones making up our present directory, contains six pages of advertisements as compared with over 200 pages now, and is in volume about one-eighth the bulk of our city almanac. When the two are placed side by side the difference between them is as striking as that between a present book and a family bible.

When the directory was published the interests and questions at issue throughout the country were far different from those agitating us at the present day. At that time Martin Van Buren, who by the way was a democrat and a very brilliant one at that, was president of these United States and Edward Everett, one of Massachusetts' most distinguished sons, was our governor. About the same period Daniel Webster and Henry Clay were beginning their controversy over the then burning question of state rights while the correlative issue of negro slavery was the national problem that finally culminated with the Civil war. Lowell, then in its third year as a city, had a population of some 20,000. Luther Lawrence, it states, was whether he was whig or democrat was our mayor, while six aldermen and 24 councilmen, party affiliation also unknown, aided Mr. Lawrence in directing the affairs of the fledgling city.

The city charter, about which we hear so much nowadays, and which was granted in 1836, furnishes interesting reading most of the time. It is a document of 100 pages, 77 sections, it sets forth in plain language just how the affairs of the municipality should be conducted and it dwells at length on the powers of the mayor and his associates. According to the document, his honor in those days had to struggle along with a salary of $1500 a year, but, as the best sort of living was then understood, he possibly even could put by a penny or two after his year of laborious responsibility.

About all the corporations which are now engaged here in the textile industry were doing business in 1839. In fact, after a perusal of the directory, it would appear that these were the only industries of any consequence in the city. Connected with these establishments was a society called the Middlesex Mechanics Association, which was organized for the purpose of bettering the condition and assisting in the education of those employed in the different textile works.

Two banks and an institution for savings were located here at that time. Their aggregate capitalization, being $1,250,000. This is no mean showing for a small city in those days and gives an indication of the thrifty habits of our progenitors.

When a question arose over the ownership of any of this money there were in town, ready and willing to argue the matter, some 28 lawyers. These gentlemen, it may be supposed, gathered to discuss their cases after the adjournment of court at one or another of the ten hotels, or, as they then were called, "houses of entertainment," the Washington hotel. In all likelihood being the scene of their disputes.

Twenty-one physicians, who could, no doubt, grant a tooth in a pinch, advised our progenitors as to the best discoveries in the science of medicine.

That the citizens were then, as now, always ready to extend a helping hand to the poor and suffering is evidenced by the existence of a local dispensary where those unfortunate having neither money nor good health were gratuitously sheltered and treated.

There were in 1839 14 churches and 27 public schools. Leading the youngsters in these along the pathway of knowledge, grounding them thoroughly in the three R's, were 43 teachers.

No doubt many of the latter were members of the Lowell Lyceum and attended that society's meeting each week to read and discuss the poems of Bryant and Poe and the sketches of Irving. These coaches carried the mails, however, the teachers generally made a trip to Boston, journeying there via the Boston and Lowell stagecoach. This left regularly once every day, as did the Nashua coach. The longest trip on this line was that running from Lowell to Burlington, Vt., a journey, the completion of which required two days and a mail.

These coaches carried the mails. Sending letters to distant friends in 1839 was rather expensive, in fact, somewhat luxurious, for according to the rates published, a 400 mile delivery cost 25 cents. It does not state where a letter might have been sent C. O. D.

The advertisements in the directory, too, are of some interest. Conspicuous among them is the notice of a theological bookstore calling the attention of the public to an extensive assortment of bibles, missionary tracts, anti-slavery literature and Sunday school books. Surprising to state, none of the then "best sellers" appeared in the "ad." At present these are all the rage while the theological book store has not existed in Lowell for many a day. Stephen Carleton, carpenter and joiner, "Middlesex street, opposite Cram's tavern, shop, in the rear of his house," announced that "he will attend to hanging house bells or furnish a hand to hang them in good style." J. P. Norton, job printer, proclaimed to the reading public that: "For punctuality, accuracy and elegance of execution, he refers to his past labors. Prices the same as these of his contemporaries—that is to say, very low." From this "ad" it is easy to make the inference that a gentleman, than present day printers, can claim to be. The Mechanics Cloth store advises all to come and view its large assortment of ready made clothing, pantaloons, stocks, bosoms, dickeys, etc., etc. That the fairer portion of humanity then were just as deceiving as now are their great granddaughters may be inferred from an announcement of William Thompson, hair dresser, to the effect that "curis and curls are here repaired and made to order according to the latest fashion." In many of the grocery and tavern advertisements a puzzling phrase was one that called the public's attention to an "ample supply of West India goods." Whether the "goods" were dry or wet is not elucidated.

The Christian names of those occupying a place in the directory appear in these days to be rather unusual and are perhaps the most noticeable feature of the volume. Glancing through its pages one sees constantly such names as Phaniel, Barnah, Albigence, Elephat, Achsah, or Zebulon. One gentleman, or possibly a lady in particular bore a peculiar name, that of Frederick.

leading family in Lowell in 1839. In that year their present rivals—the Sullivans—could show only three representatives in the city directory. Whether the latter's present numerical strength is due to an influx of others of that name or whether it is due to a practical endorsement of the Rooseveltian idea is a mooted question, but the fact remains that they are fast encroaching into the circle so long occupied alone by the Smiths.

One name, then probably of little prominence, attracts the reader's attention. It is: "Butler Benjamin, student at law with William Smith." The little book, therefore, can boast of one name whose owner later made it justly famous from coast to coast.

Referring to Centralville, then known as Centralville village, the little directory says: "This name is given to that part of Dracut lying on the Merrimack river, opposite Lowell. It embraces a circuit of half a mile around Central bridge, and is mostly laid out into streets, squares and building lots. Twelve years ago this tract was almost without an inhabitant, where now are from 60 to 75 families, and the prospect of a rapid settlement. There is an Academy incorporated, called the Centralville Village Academy."

There were but nine nurses in Lowell in 1839, according to the directory, and their names were Mary K. Sanborn, Mrs. Susan Carr, Sarah Thompson, Mrs. Loveloy, Mary Moore, Abigail Putnam, Sarah R. Gowell, Rebecca Hall and Mrs. Leach.

The list of churches and ministers is given as follows: First Merrimack Street church, St. Anne's, Rev. Theodore Edson.

First Baptist church, Church street.

Rev. Joseph Ballou.

First Methodist Episcopal church, Chapel hill, Rev. Ezekiel W. Stickney.

First Universalist church, Central street, Rev. Thomas H. Thayer.

Unitarian (South) church, Merrimack street, Rev. Henry A. Miles.

Roman Catholic church, Fenwick street, Rev. James McDermott.

Worship Street Baptist church, Rev. Lemuel Porter.

Third Congregational (free) church, Lowell street (minister not named).

Freeville Baptist church, Merrimack street, Rev. Nathaniel Thurston.

Christian Union Society worshipping at Mechanics hall, Dutton street, Rev. Timothy Cole.

There were 27 schools in Lowell at the time when this very interesting little book was compiled; one high, five grammar and 21 primary schools.

Capt. Jonathan M. Marston was chief of the fire department and his assistant engineers were, Caleb M. Marvell, Thomas P. Goodhue, Joel Stone, Jr., Levi Thaxter, William Fisk, Aaron J.

The Smiths were numerically the Sherman, Forrest Eaton, Artemas L.

Woman's Danger Period Made Safe

By Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

The Change of Life is the most critical period of a woman's existence, and neglect of health at this time invites disease.

Women everywhere should remember that there is no other remedy known to medicine that will so successfully carry women through this trying period as Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, made from native roots and herbs. Here is proof:

Natick, Mass.—"I cannot express what I went through during the Change of Life before I tried Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I was in such a nervous condition I could not keep still. My limbs were cold. I had creepy sensations and could not sleep nights. I was finally told by two physicians that I had a tumor.

"I read one day of the wonderful cures made by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and decided to try it, and it has made me a well woman. My neighbors and friends declare it has worked a miracle for me. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is worth its weight in gold for women during this period of life. If it will help others you may publish this letter."—Mrs. Nathan B. Gration, 51 No. Main St., Natick, Mass.

ANOTHER SIMILAR CASE.

Cornwallville, N. Y.—"I have been taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound for some time for Change of Life, nervousness, and a fibroid growth.

"Two doctors advised me to go to the hospital, but one day while I was away visiting, I met a woman who told me to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I did so and I know it helped me wonderfully. I am very thankful that I was told to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound."—Mrs. Wm. Boughton, Cornwallville, N. Y., Greene Co.

The makers of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound have thousands of such letters as those above—they tell the truth, else they could not have been obtained for love or money. This medicine is no stranger—it has stood the test for years.

For 30 years Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has been the standard remedy for female ills. No sick woman does justice to herself who will not try this famous medicine. Made exclusively from roots and herbs, and has thousands of cures to its credit.

The testimonials which are constantly being published in the Pinkham advertisements are guaranteed to be absolutely genuine, honest, and given without reward in any way whatever.

TROUBLES IN CHINA

Are Reported to Have Become Serious

BOSTON, Sept. 7.—The disorders in Szechuan province, western China, have become very serious, in the opinion of the officials of the American Baptist Foreign Missionary society, which has its headquarters in this city. A few days ago, the society officials received a cablegram from one of their missionaries stationed at Chengtu, the capital of the province, telling of the rioting on the part of the natives. Today another cablegram was received which said "American consul advises us to leave."

The receipt of today's message has convinced the society's officers here that the situation has reached an acute stage and that the lives of the missionaries and the mission property are in danger.

MANY HINDU WOMEN

Don Men's Clothes to Get Employment

ONTARIO, Cal. Sept. 7.—"Tom," a Hindu laborer employed in an orange grove here, failed to put in an appearance yesterday and the only information the foreman could obtain from co-workers was that "Tom" was sick. The foreman investigated "Tom's" absence and was astounded to learn that "Tom" was the mother of a three days old boy, born since the gang quit work Saturday. The foreman's discovery led to the disclosure that many Hindu women work in men's clothes when they can deceive the foreman. They are nearly as large as the men and not greatly unlike them in physical appearance.

Anty Drudge tells how to clean the bath-tub

Mrs. Cleanasias—“Oh, dear! Every time anybody takes a hot bath it leaves a greasy streak all the way round the tub, and it means a half hour's rubbing to get it off.”

Anty Drudge—“Oh, no, it doesn't, dear. Just take a cake of Fels-Naptha soap. It will dissolve the grease in a minute, so it can be washed away with a simple rinsing. Fels-Naptha is the best possible thing to wash bath-tubs, sinks, china, glass or anything of the kind, as well as clothes.”

Women who wash clothes with Fels-Naptha soap are discovering new uses for it every day. One woman has just written us that it is the best possible thing to clean porcelain bathtubs. So it is.

Also marble washstands, bowls, tiled floors, linoleum, windows, woodwork—everything in fact which has a washable surface.

Fels-Naptha soap not only loosens the dirt so it can be wiped off with a cloth, but dissolves it as well, scattering it into tiny molecules which run away with the wash-water.

Even the human grease which collects about the sides of a bathtub after a hot bath—is dissolved by Fels-Naptha so thoroughly that none will adhere to the wiping cloth.

Don't use hot water in cleaning things with Fels-Naptha. It isn't necessary.

Fels-Naptha will do the work better in cold or lukewarm water.

Follow the easy directions on the back of the red and green wrapper.

BOYS MURDERED

Their Bodies Located by
a Bloodhound

ABERDEEN, Wash., Sept. 7.—The bodies of the 19-year-old twin sons of Henry Beaur, a farmer, were found Tuesday by deputy sheriffs in a lonely spot 30 miles from Montesano and near the shack of the boys' uncle, John Turno. Bullet holes in the heads of both boys indicated the manner in which they met death. A posse is in search of Turno, who is missing.

The two boys went bear hunting Sunday. When they did not return at night the father started a search and later notified Sheriff Payotte, who sent out a posse with a bloodhound to take up the trail. A dead bear was found and it was first thought the lads had been killed by the animal. The bloodhound, however, soon found the bodies covered with leaves.

THE WOMAN MAYOR

Says She Will Run Town
of Hunnewell

KANSAS CITY, Sept. 7.—Mrs. Ella Wilson, mayor of Hunnewell, came here last night when she held a conference with C. W. Trickett, special investigator appointed by Gov. Stubbs to untangle the somewhat involved municipal affairs of Hunnewell. Mrs. Wilson has been having a great deal of trouble with her council since she took office and she is determined to bring the city fathers to time.

“I'm going to run that little town of Hunnewell,” she said, “even if I have to call on Gov. Stubbs for the militia to carry out my orders. Mr. Councilmen have not treated me fairly. They have refused to meet with me and added affront they have refused to make a tax levy for next year's city expenses. I could reach no agreement with them, so I decided to come to Kansas City and talk the situation over with Mr. Trickett. He assures me that the state officers will co-operate with me in restoring peaceful conditions in Hunnewell.”

BILLEICA

The regular meeting of the board of selectmen of the town of Billeica was held Tuesday night and considerable routine business was transacted, including the appointment of special officers to serve at the Grange fair on the 14th and 15th of this month.

Despite the fact that there is a vacancy in the constabulary department caused by the death of Constable Livingston the board failed to elect any person to fill the position. Three men took the examination recently and the ratings of the three are as follows: Ernest N. Bartlett, $3.25; Henry D. Livingston, $7.89; William J. Canning, $2.39.

THE BRADY GIRL FOUND

She Had Wandered for 24 Hours in Woods Before Discovered

STOUGHTON, Sept. 7.—Florence M. Brady, an attractive 17-year-old high school girl, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas J. Brady of 649 Prospect street, who disappeared Monday evening and for whom a general alarm was sounded on the fire alarm system, calling out citizens, firemen and policemen, who have searched the woods, ponds and streams, was returned to her home last night in a serious condition.

She was found lying senseless on the lawn of Charles H. Peck's house in High street, Randolph, late Tuesday night and was taken in and cared for until last night.

Merton G. Drew, 17 years old, who has been employed as a gardener on the Ames estate in North Easton, was arrested yesterday and is held in $1000 bonds charged with assault and attempting a statutory offense.

Dr. W. O. Paxson, who was called to see Miss Brady last night, will be in attendance upon her several days before she is restored to her normal condition, he expects. She is suffering from exposure and severe shock.

Monday evening the girl attended a moving picture show in the town hall with Drew and her younger sister Florence, had never been out of an evening before unless in company with one or both of her parents.

Before the show was over she left the hall with Drew and her sister went home alone. When Florence did not return the police were notified of her disappearance.

The younger sister went out to look for Drew and found him waiting for the train for North Easton. When asked where Florence was Drew became excited and frightened, it is alleged, and ran up the tracks toward North Easton. He walked home.

Tuesday State Officer John Scott came to town to aid Chief of Police Vanston in the search for the girl. Citizens searched everywhere for this girl. The officers went to North Easton and arrested Drew on a charge of abducting the girl. He admitted accompanying her to the show and said she ran away from him. He said he had thrown one of her garments and her hair ribbon on the dump. A search for these things failed to find them. He told several conflicting stories, the officers say.

Three persons came from North Easton to furnish surety for Drew, but upon hearing the story they went away, declining to have anything to do with him.

A woman passing the Peck house late Tuesday found the girl and the Peck family took her in. She could not tell anything of herself until last night, when she told her experiences and Mr. Peck came here and told the police. Chief Vanston and State Officer Scott went to Randolph and brought her home in an automobile.

The girl said she walked down Pearl street after leaving the town hall with Drew and sat on a stone wall with him talking. Drew suddenly attacked her without warning, she said, and threw her over the wall, although she fought him desperately.

Jedediah Bird came along on the opposite side of the road, and hearing the noise stopped and asked what was the matter. Bird thought he saw a boy and a dog at play on the ground.

Drew replied that there was nothing the matter. It is alleged. In that moment the girl got up and ran into the woods and escaped.

She was afraid to go home, so she wandered in the woods all night and finding herself in Canton in the morning she kept to the woods. She cannot remember how she came to be in Randolph Tuesday night.

She was without food 24 hours and was exhausted. When she reached the Peck house she fell on the lawn and went to sleep, she said.

She said one of her garments fell off while they were walking down Pearl street and that Drew picked it up. He gained possession of her hair ribbon during the struggle, she says. Drew was confronted by the girl and then he told a story which agrees in detail with hers, the police say. Late last night, the girl lapsed into a comatose condition again and seemed to be sleeping from mere exhaustion. Drew is large and strong for his years.

"TIP" SHEEHAN DEAD

He Formerly Played With Brockton Team

HAVERHILL, Sept. 7.—John Sheehan, better known as "Tippy" Sheehan, died yesterday at St. Joseph's hospital, Syracuse, N. Y., and an investigation of the cause of his death is being demanded by his relatives.

He was a native of this city and was aged 35. About 15 years ago he was one of the leading baseball players in this vicinity. He was also at one time shortstop for Bangor, Me., Newport, R. I., and the Brockton team of the New England league. He left this city about three years ago and was last heard from in St. Louis and Cincinnati, where he was engaged in shoemaking.

The local police received word late Tuesday evening of his death at the Syracuse hospital, but as there are others of the same name in this city, the identity of the dead man was not ascertained definitely until yesterday.

Inquiries showed that Sheehan was found ill and dying in a swamp near Syracuse. He had been seen for three days by people living in that vicinity, and as their suspicions were aroused they informed the authorities and he was removed to the hospital.

He was found Aug. 25 and remained in a semi-conscious condition until Tuesday. The hospital officials learned that he had a mother and sister here, this being the only information that they obtained from the deceased, as he was unable to tell them where he had been or where he was bound for.

The relatives have also learned that Sheehan was seen walking along near the swamp before he was found, dragging his right leg as though he had been injured. His right arm was also paralyzed. The hospital men have informed the relatives that they are puzzled over the cause of his death, and an autopsy will probably be sought. His relatives have arranged for the forwarding of the body to this city for interment.

$35,000 DAMAGE

Caused by a Fire at Peterboro, N. H.

PETERBORO, N. H., Sept. 7.—Fire ruined the big grain elevator and adjoining buildings of this town early today, involving a loss of about $35,000. Had the wind been higher the center of the town would have been threatened.

The blaze started at midnight in the elevator, which is owned by Walbridge & Taylor, the proprietors of a large grocery store. This was burned and the Peterboro Transcript newspaper plant caught and was gutted.

The cause of the fire has not been determined.

night in many departments. The plant of George C. Moore is also obliged to work its help nights to attend to the work on hand. The Chelmsford Foundry Co. and the Lowell Textile Co. are also keeping their employees busy and if any one is idle in North Chelmsford it is not because work is not to be obtained. The schools have all the children settled down to study and all rooms are filled to overflowing. An important meeting of the Young Ladies' Sodality of St. John's church will be held Friday evening at 7.30.

VACATION ENDS

It is hoped that all the members will be in attendance as this is the first meeting of the society since the summer season. It is expected that many new members will enroll themselves at this meeting.

WOBBURN SCHOOL

KEPT CLOSED BECAUSE OF INFANTILE PARALYSIS

WOBBURN, Sept. 7.—Because of 14 cases of infantile paralysis in Woburn, the opening of the schools has been deferred a week, or until next Thursday. That action was taken by the school committee notwithstanding the opinion of the board of health that "there is no additional risk attendant on the opening of the schools on the scheduled date." No new cases of the malady have been reported since Aug. 23, and the health authorities feel confident that there will be no more.

Superintendent of Schools George I. Clapp expects the usual crowded conditions in the centre schools, but owing to the dullness of the leather business, Woburn's main industry, it is not anticipated that there will be a great increase in the number of pupils.

TWO MILLIONAIRES

EXPECTED TO SURRENDER TO THE FEDERAL AUTHORITIES

CHICAGO, Sept. 7.—Nathan Allen, the millionaire manufacturer of Keshish, Wis., and John B. Collins, coal operator of Memphis, Tenn., who are

NO CHANGE YET

It is now the first of September, and there has been no change in the retail price of coal. A month ago the retail dealers in Boston advanced the price 25 cents per ton, but we determined in the Spring to make one price for the whole summer. Coal is costing 50 cents per ton more at wholesale now than it did in April, and we advise those who have not already placed their order to do so very soon.

The Home Coal Company has taken particular pains this summer in laying in a stock of coal which is good old fashioned coal. If you have never burned Home's Coal give it a try, even if it's only a quarter of a ton.

under indictment in New York on a charge of smuggling jewels into the United States are expected to surrender themselves to the federal authorities here today or proceed to New York at once.

Allen, who has been in Montana with his wife several weeks is due to arrive here today in company with his attorney. Collins is registered at the Downs hotel and it is said that after a conference with his attorney today he will decide to surrender himself here or go to New York.

SCHOONER SEIZED

GLOUCESTER, Sept. 7.—A dispatch was received last night by Fred A. Pearce of the Cunningham & Thompson fish company stating that their schooner Arbutus, Capt. Komp, was seized at Louisburg, C. B., for an alleged infraction of the Canadian fisheries law.

The specific count against the captain and schooner is the purchase of fish at a Canadian port without a permit to touch and trade. The Arbutus has been termed a dairy land-line fishing voyage to the grand banks, the fish being salted as caught. Not being successful in catching a full cargo, Capt. Komp sought to recoup by purchasing the fish.

Under a fishing register this it not permissible, although at times a clause permitting the purchase of fish is attached to the license, but it is understood that the Arbutus did not have this saving clause. The Arbutus is a new schooner of about 100 tons.

The usual penalty is a fine and it is expected that if the Canadian authorities find the vessel guilty a money penalty will be imposed. This is a peculiar case and a seizure for a similar alleged offence is not recalled here. Cunningham & Thompson have been unfortunate this season. The schooner Arbutus, 17 of whose men were seized at Cape Race and fined $1000 in the aggregate for violation of the bait act in addition to the confiscation of nets, dories, etc., also belonged to this firm.
